New Education Philanthropy Educational Innovations:

The New Education Philanthropy Frederick M. Hess, Jeffrey R. Henig, 2015 Philanthropic foundations play an increasingly influential role in education research policy and practice yet this sector has been subject to little research informed analysis The New Education Philanthropy examines the shifting role of education philanthropy over the last decade offering an unprecedented look behind the scenes at the major foundations Gates Broad Walton and Lumina among others that are increasingly aggressive and strategic in their use of funds This remarkable volume provides penetrating analyses of every corner of the changing education landscape from a range of philosophical perspectives rarely juxtaposed in today's polarized discourse The findings are both encouraging and disturbing The New Education Philanthropy is essential reading for all parties in the debate over education Dale Russakoff author of The Prize Who's in Charge of America's Schools Hess Henig and the contributing authors have made a valuable contribution to the dialogue about the appropriate role of wealthy donors in K-12 education Collectively The New Education Philanthropy gets it right A couple of billion dollars invested in reform will never leverage overnight transformation but it can have a profound impact worth studying Jim Blew president StudentsFirst and former advisor The Walton Family Foundation Ten years ago big foundations confronted the fact that philanthropic dollars were mere buckets into a sea of public spending on education and many shifted their strategies This exemplary volume gathers together a diverse group of exceptional authors to explore the recent and more muscular philanthropic approach Rob Reich professor of political science Stanford University and faculty codirector the Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society The New Education Philanthropy provides a broad based and penetrating look at the role of philanthropy in education reform Adam Gamoran president William T Grant Foundation Frederick M Hess is a resident scholar and director of education policy studies at the American Enterprise Institute Jeffrey R Henig is a professor of political science and education at Teachers College at Columbia University where he also serves as chair of the Department of Education Policy and Social Analysis The New Education Philanthropy is a volume in the Educational Innovations series

Researching Global Education Policy D. Brent Edwards Jr.,Antoni Verger,Marcia McKenzie,Keita Takayama,2024-07-30 The movement of policy is a core feature of contemporary education reform Many different concepts including policy transfer borrowing and lending travelling diffusion and mobility have been deployed to study how and why policy moves across jurisdictions scales of governance policy sectors or organisations However the underlying theoretical perspectives and the foundational assumptions of different approaches to policy movement remain insufficiently discussed To address this gap this book places front and center questions of theory ontology epistemology and method related to policy movement It explores a wide diversity of approaches to help understand the policy movement phenomena providing a useful guide on global studies in education as well as insights into the future of this dynamic area of work     The Development of Early Childhood Education in Europe and North America Harry Willekens,Kirsten Scheiwe,Kristen Nawrotzki,2015-07-06 The public provision of early childhood education has developed at different rates across individual countries over the past two centuries This book provides the historical background to explain how these national differences occurred with particular reference to welfare and educational systems to highlight how particular influences grew     Michel Foucault and Education Policy Analysis Stephen Ball,2017-10-02 The work of Michel Foucault has become a major resource for educational researchers seeking to understand how education makes us what we are In this book a group of contributors explore how Foucault s work is used in a variety of ways to explore the hows and whos of education policy its technologies and its subjectivities its oppressions and its freedoms The book takes full advantage of the opportunities for creativity that Foucault s ideas and methods offer to researchers in deploying genealogy discourse and subjectivation as analytic devices The collection as a whole works to makes us aware that we are freer than we think This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Education Policy     The State and Education Policy: The Academies Programme Helen M. Gunter,2010-12-16 This collection draws together contributions from leading researchers and participants to explore a major reform process of the state and education system in particular The shift from welfare based provision of public services to the quasi market with private delivery and philanthropic investment is an issue that needs a thorough examination through evidence and rigorous argument This book seeks to do this by not only charting events and providing detailed examination about what is happening but also by locating these developments within a contemporary political and social analytical framework Topics covered include the legal and political process of establishing Academies the working and impact of Academies using a range of data and perspectives the debates and issues regarding this major reform with comparative perspectives The State and Education Policy shows how the Academies Programme in England is an important site for examining the growth of neoliberal ideas and practices in the framing and delivery of public services such as education
