Between the Bridge and the Barricade Iris Idelson-Shein, 2024-03-12 Between the Bridge and the Barricade explores how translations of non Jewish texts into Jewish languages impacted Jewish culture literature and history from the sixteenth century into modern times Offering a comprehensive view of early modern Jewish translation Iris Idelson Shein charts major paths of textual migration from non Jewish to Jewish literatures analyzes translators motives and identifies the translational norms distinctive to Jewish translation Through an analysis of translations hosted in the Jewish Translation and Cultural Transfer JEWTRACT database Idelson Shein reveals for the first time the liberal translational norms that allowed for early modern Jewish translators to make intensely creative and radical departures from the source texts from Judaizing names places motifs and language to mistranslating and omitting material both deliberately and accidentally Through this process of translation Jewish translators created a new library of works that closely corresponded with the surrounding majority cultures yet was uniquely Jewish in character As a site of intense negotiation between different cultures communities religions readers genres and languages these translations become an ideal entry point into the complex relationships between early modern Christians and Jews At the same time they also pose a significant challenge for modern day scholars But for the careful reader who can navigate the labyrinth of unacknowledged translations of non Jewish sources into Jewish languages there awaits a terrain of surprising intercultural encounters between Jews and Christians Between the Bridge and the Barricade uncovers the hitherto hidden non Jewish corpus that Idelson Shein contends played a decisive role in shaping early modern Jewish culture The Poet and the World Joachim Yeshaya, Elisabeth Hollender, Naoya Katsumata, 2019-07-08

Connecting Histories David B. Ruderman, Francesca Bregoli, 2019-05-10 Whether forced by governmental decree driven by persecution and economic distress or seeking financial opportunity the Jews of early modern Europe were extraordinarily mobile experiencing both displacement and integration into new cultural legal and political settings This in turn led to unprecedented modes of social mixing for Jews especially for those living in urban areas who frequently encountered Jews from different ethnic backgrounds and cultural orientations Additionally Jews formed social economic and intellectual bonds with mixed populations of Christians While not necessarily effacing Jewish loyalties to local places authorities and customs these connections and exposures to novel cultural settings created new allegiances as well as new challenges resulting in constructive relations in some cases and provoking strife and controversy in others The essays collected by Francesca Bregoli and David B Ruderman in Connecting Histories show that while it is not possible to speak of a single cohesive transregional Jewish culture in the early modern period Jews experienced pockets of supra local connections between West and East for example between Italy and Poland Poland and the Holy Land and western and eastern Ashkenaz as well as increased exchanges between high and low culture Special attention is devoted to the impact of the printing press and the strategies of representation and self representation through which Jews forged connections in a world where their status as a tolerated minority was ambiguous and in constant need of renegotiation Exploring the ways in which early modern Jews related to Jews from different backgrounds and to the non Jews around them Connecting Histories emphasizes not only the challenging nature and impact of these encounters but also the ambivalence experienced by Jews as they met their others Contributors Michela Andreatta Francesca Bregoli Joseph Davis Jes s de Prado Plumed Andrea Gondos Rachel L
