Abstract
 This paper presents a new approach to the problem of finding the optimal path in a graph. The approach is based on the use of a heuristic function to estimate the cost of the path from the start node to the goal node. The heuristic function is defined as the minimum cost of any path from the start node to the goal node. The algorithm uses a priority queue to store the nodes that are currently in the search space. The node with the lowest estimated cost is removed from the queue and its neighbors are added to the queue. This process is repeated until the goal node is reached. The algorithm is guaranteed to find the optimal path if the heuristic function is admissible and consistent.
