New Tech New Ties How Mobile Communication Is Reshaping Social Cohesion:

New Tech, New Ties Richard Ling, 2010-09-24 How cell phones and mobile communication may in many cases strengthen social cohesion The message of this book is simple the mobile phone strengthens social bonds among family and friends With a traditional land line telephone we place calls to a location and ask hopefully if someone is there with a mobile phone we have instant and perpetual access to friends and family regardless of where they are But when we are engaged in these intimate conversations with absent friends what happens to our relationship with the people who are actually in the same room with us In New Tech New Ties Rich Ling examines how the mobile telephone affects both kinds of interactions those mediated by mobile communication and those that are face to face Ling finds that through the use of various social rituals the mobile telephone strengthens social ties within the circle of friends and family sometimes at the expense of interaction with those who are physically present and creates what he calls bounded solidarity Ling argues that mobile communication helps to engender and develop social cohesion within the family and the peer group Drawing on the work of Emile Durkheim Erving Goffman and Randall Collins Ling shows that ritual interaction is a catalyst for the development of social bonding From this perspective he examines how mobile communication affects face to face ritual situations and how ritual is used in interaction mediated by mobile communication He looks at the evidence including interviews and observations from around the world that documents the effect of mobile communication on social bonding and also examines some of the other possibly problematic issues raised by tighter social cohesion in small groups

Mobile Communication Scott Campbell, Rich Ling, 2017-09-05 Mobile Communication covers a wide range of topics These include the replacement of co present interaction with mediated contact and analysis of mobile based cohesion and gender The authors also explore the role of media choice and its effect on the quality as well as quantity of social cohesion Other topics include mobile communication and communities of interest and mobile communication cohesion and youth This volume brings together scholars from around the world to consider how mobile communication both builds and destroys our sense of social cohesion There is no question that uses of technology can lead to increased cohesion within personal communities For example this volume includes research on caravan couples in Australia factory workers in China young couples in Germany citizens in Slovenia and sports clubs in Ireland It also includes research on drunken calls between university students in the US calls of international students in Switzerland and communications between immigrant women in Melbourne Australia However the contributors also argue that as social networks become inundated with mobile communication users these users may become increasingly isolated and social division can ensue

Communications/Media/Geographies Paul C. Adams, Julie Cupples, Kevin Glynn, André Jansson, Shaun Moores, 2016-09-19 Although there are human geographers who have previously written on matters of media and communication and those in media and communication studies who have previously written on geographical issues this is the first book length dialogue in which experienced theorists and researchers from these different fields address each other directly and engage in conversation across traditional academic boundaries The result is a compelling discussion with the authors setting out statements of their positions before responding to the arguments made by others One significant aspect of this discussion is a spirited debate about the sort of interdisciplinary area that might emerge as a focus for future work Does the already established idea of communication geography offer the best way forward If so what would applied or critical forms of communication geography be concerned to do Could communication geography benefit from the sorts of conjunctural analysis that have been developed in contemporary cultural studies Might a further way forward be to imagine an interdisciplinary field of everyday life studies which would draw critically on non representational theories of practice and movement Readers of Communications Media Geographies are invited to join the debate thinking through such questions for themselves and the themes that are explored in this book for example of space place meaning power and ethics will be of interest not only to academics in human geography and in media and communication studies but also to a wider range of scholars from across the humanities and social sciences Promoting Democracy Abroad Peter Burnell, 2017-09-08

Promoting democracy has grown from a small little known activity to a high profile endeavor It now involves academia think tanks and the popular media The number of countries and organizations inter governmental non governmental as well as governmental involved in supporting the spread of democracy is now legion Countries touched by these efforts include a majority of all the world's states and some independent territories that are not yet fully sovereign The definitional boundaries between promoting democracy and international advocacy and defense of human rights and good governance are not precise Similarly the concept of promoting democracy itself is not uniformly accepted It has become a slogan that attracts both fervent support and grave condemnation For Burnell promoting democracy refers to a wide range of non coercive attempts to spread democracy abroad for whatever reason At its heart it is political intervention in the domestic affairs of other countries that seeks to affect the distribution of power whether by patient and non violent involvement or more urgent action democracy assistance projects form a core activity Burnell holds that participation in the democracy assistance industry will continue to grow However the industry s progress up until now has in part been contingent on the progress of democratization itself The slowdown that is currently happening in the advance of freedom and democracy around the world and the strength shown by leading authoritarian or semi authoritarian regimes must raise questions about the outlook for democracy promotion If democracy promotion and assistance are to be fit for the future then the need for a broadly based appropriately contextualized examination of the policy and the performance is greater now than at any time in the past
