were meant to ameliorate technology s alienating impulse In The Experience Machine Gloria Sutton views VanDerBeek known mostly for his experimental animated films as a visual artist committed to the radical aesthetic sensibilities he developed during his studies at Black Mountain College She argues that VanDerBeek s collaborative multimedia projects of the 1960s and 1970s sometimes characterized as Expanded Cinema with their emphases on transparency of process and audience engagement anticipate contemporary art s new media installation and participatory practices VanDerBeek saw Movie Drome not as pure cinema but as a communication tool an experience machine In her close reading of the work Sutton argues that Movie Drome can be understood as a programmable interface She describes the immersive experience of Movie Drome which emphasized multi sensory experience over the visual display strategies deployed in the work the Poemfield computer generated short films and VanDerBeek s interest unique for the time in telecommunications and computer processing as a future model for art production Sutton argues that visual art as a direct form of communication is a feedback mechanism which turns on a set of relations not a technology   Meaning in the Media Alan Durant,2010-03-04 Meaning in the Media addresses the issue of how we should respond to competing claims about meaning put forward in confrontations between people or organisations in highly charged circumstances such as bitter public controversies and expensive legal disputes Alan Durant draws attention to the pervasiveness and significance of such meaning related disputes in the media investigating how their meaning dimension is best described and explained Through his analysis of deception distortion bias false advertising offensiveness and other kinds of communicative behaviour that trigger interpretive disputes Durant shows that we can understand both meaning and media better if we focus in new ways on moments in discourse when the apparently continuous flow of understanding and agreement breaks down This lively and contemporary volume will be invaluable to students and teachers of linguistics media studies journalism and law   Routledge Handbook of Internet Politics Andrew Chadwick,Philip N. Howard,2010 The politics of the internet has entered the social science mainstream This volume is concerned with theoretical conceptual debates political institutions practices how the internet creates new policy problems for liberal democratic non liberal democratic states not to mention their roles in the global system   Society and Technological Change Rudi Volti,Jennifer Croissant,2024-03-19 Society and Technological Change continues to be the essential text for exploring the relationship between human societies and the ever evolving landscape of technology The ninth edition follows the historical trajectory of technological development and its profound impact on various aspects of human life from communication and healthcare to economic systems and governance At the same time it shows how these technologies have themselves been shaped by social economic cultural and political forces and that the study of technology is important not just for its own sake but also for what it tells us about the kinds of societies we make for ourselves With its engaging writing style and thought provoking content this new edition continues to be an indispensable resource for students scholars and anyone seeking a deep understanding of the intricate bond between society and technology in our ever evolving world   Media and Society into the 21st Century Lyn Gorman,David McLean,2009-02-17 Media and Society into the 21st Century captures the breathtaking revolutionary sweep of mass media from the late 19th century to the present day Updated and expanded new edition including coverage of recent media developments and the continued impact of technological change Newly reworked chapters on media war international relations and new media A new Web 2 0 section explores the role of blogging social networking user generated content and search media in media landscape   Handbook of New Media Leah A Lievrouw,Sonia M. Livingstone,2006-01-17 Thoroughly revised and updated this Student Edition of the successful Handbook of New Media has been abridged to showcase the best of the hardback edition This Handbook sets out boundaries of new media research and scholarship and provides a definitive statement of the current state of the art of the field Covering major problem areas of research the Handbook of New Media includes an introductory essay by the editors and a concluding essay by Ron Rice Each chapter written by an internationally renowned scholar provides a review of the most significant social research findings and insights   I Hope I Don't Intrude David Vincent,2015-05-14 I Hope I Don t Intrude takes its title from the catch phrase of the eponymous hero of the 1825 play Paul Pry which was an immense success on the London stage and then rapidly in New York and around the English speaking world It tackles the complex multi faceted subject of privacy in nineteenth century Britain by examining the way in which the tropes language and imagery of the play entered public discourse about privacy in the rest of the century The volume is not just an account of a play or of late Georgian and Victorian theatre Rather it is a history of privacy showing how the play resonated through Victorian society and revealed its concerns over personal and state secrecy celebrity gossip and scandal postal espionage virtual privacy the idea of intimacy and the evolution of public and private spheres After 1825 the overly inquisitive figure of Paul Pry appeared everywhere in songs stories and newspapers and on everything from buttons and Staffordshire pottery to pubs ships and stagecoaches and Paul Prying rapidly entered the language I Hope I Don t Intrude is an innovative kind of social history using rich archival research to trace this cultural artefact through every aspect of its consumer context and using its meanings to interrogate the largely hidden history of privacy in a period of major transformations in the role of the home mass communication particularly the new letter post which delivered private messages through a public service and the state In vivid and entertaining detail including many illustrations David Vincent presents the most thorough account yet attempted of a recreational event in an era which saw a decisive shift in consumer markets His study casts fresh light on the perennial tensions between curiosity and intrusion that were captured in Paul Pry and his catchphrase Giving a new account of the communications revolution of the period it re evaluates the role of the state and the market in creating a new regime of privacy And its critique of the concept and practice of surveillance looks forward to twenty first century concerns about the invasion of privacy through new technologies   Internet Research Annual Mia Consalvo,Matthew Allen,2005 This collection brings together the most interesting and outstanding papers from the Internet Research Conference held in

Toronto in 2003 Taken individually each paper makes an important contribution to the emerging field of Internet research but the collection as a whole presents key perspectives on the most significant directions in the field In particular the papers discuss how we must now consider the relationship of Internet based activities to those offline rather than concentrating exclusively on the virtual Papers advance important ideas and present research findings in relation to information theory the Internet at home theorizing time and the Internet online activism the digital divide and more This annual the second in the series demonstrates the vibrant and diverse nature of Internet scholarship fostered by the Association of Internet Researchers
