practice has developed as it has. She considers assessment and planning in relation to both informal and standardised approaches and offers ways to engage with young people's peers and families' views and experiences. Wearmouth focuses on ways to understand, assess and address the most common forms of SEND: literacy and numeracy difficulties and behavioural concerns related to social, emotional and mental health. She discusses how ICT might be used to include young people with various degrees of difficulty in learning and explores professional relationships and partnership work with parents and families. Throughout this engaging guide, readers are supported with clear questions of focus for each chapter and within each chapter, exemplars and vignettes and reflective and discussion activities for individuals and groups can be found to enable them to consider their own practice to ensure that all young people can learn effectively in their classrooms. The supportive companion website provides a wealth of further reading resources.

e-Conquer Creative Writing For Primary Levels 5 Benjamin Lee, 2012-05-14 CONQUER CREATIVE WRITING BOOK 5 consists of units covering four areas, all of which aim to strengthen a student's writing ability. It provides students with situations outside their normal classroom learning, inviting them to stretch their imagination and express their thoughts through writing, thus enabling them to enjoy and be creative in writing. In this book, students will learn to write descriptive, narrative, expository and imaginative compositions, differentiate and organize ideas using the methods of classification, comparison and contrast, sequencing and cause and effect, relate to a given situation and its possible outcomes and think and write creatively. Students will find the exercises interesting and the open-ended questions challenging. They are expected to do research on their own for exercises that require background knowledge. They can do so using the Internet or encyclopedia. It is our desire that students who have completed this series will find themselves equipped to discuss issues beyond their years
