Mothers and Daughters II Rosemary H. Balsam,Ruth S. Fischer,2014-06-03 This is the second issue of Psychoanalytic Inquiry devoted to mothers and daughters This project began as the mother daughter bond was calling out for attention in light of the many advances in our understanding of female psychology The goal of female development is no longer considered to be a severing of the mother daughter bond to attain autonomy and sexual maturity What then are its vicissitudes as it is revisited reworked and transformed as the girl and her mother grow and develop and ultimately attain a state of interdependence The relational context of development is now considered gender related differences in behavior and in parental interaction and the girl's special relationship with her mother and her mother's body and the importance to her of her own body with its special attributes contours and sensations Her Pain, Their Loss Chyna T., Seven years have passed since Jerica was sentenced to ten years for solicitation of murder for hire Due to good behavior she is being paroled and released in a week feeling more than ready to return to her life However instead of focusing on regaining custody of her children Jerica's mind is consumed with anger She blames Kane for destroying their family and Dino for manipulating her to protect his own Fueled by a desire for revenge Jerica crafts a secret plan to bring down those who wronged her Eria never imagined marriage would entail the emotional rollercoaster she has experienced The latest turmoil has left her emotionally drained and tired of pretending everything is fine Nick is no longer the man she married and she finds solace in confiding with her ex Dino Their past chemistry resurfaces unexpectedly leading to complications neither anticipated After serving nine months in jail for violating her probation Sharee is released and returns to her life without supervision She's dedicated to being a good mother and when Kane proposes it seems like her life is finally coming together But just as she begins to believe in a brighter future a vengeful figure from her past resurfaces threatening to unravel everything In a world where turning pain into purpose is the mantra these intertwined lives reveal that the path to purpose is fraught with unforeseen consequences and buried grievances ready to explode Right Where You Left Me

You Never Write! Joyce Antler, 2007-04-02 In You Never Call You Never Write Joyce Antler provides an illuminating and often amusing history of one of the best known figures in popular culture the Jewish Mother Whether drawn as self sacrificing or manipulative in countless films novels radio and television programs stand up comedy and psychological and historical studies she appears as a colossal figure intensely involved in the lives of her children Antler traces the odyssey of this compelling personality through decades of American culture She reminds us of a time when Jewish mothers were admired for their tenacity and nurturance as in the early twentieth century image of the Yiddishe Mama a sentimental figure popularized by entertainers such as George Jessel Al Jolson and Sophie Tucker and especially by Gertrude Berg whose amazingly successful Molly Goldberg ruled American radio and television for over 25 years Antler explains the transformation of this Jewish Mother into a brassy voiced smothering and shrewish scourge in Irving Howe's words detailing many variations on this negative theme from Philip Roth's Portnoy's Complaint and Woody Allen's Oedipus Wrecks to television shows such as The Nanny Seinfeld and Will and Grace But she also uncovers a new counter narrative leading feminist scholars and stand up comedienne to see the Jewish Mother in positive terms Continually revised and reinvented the Jewish Mother becomes in Antler's expert hands a unique lens with which to examine vital concerns of American Jews and the culture at large A joy to read You Never Call You Never Write will delight anyone who has ever known or been nurtured by a Jewish Mother and it will be a special source of insight for modern parents As Antler suggests in many ways we are all Jewish Mothers today Daughters Who Care Jane Lewis, Barbara Meredith, 2024-05-10 In the 1980s as the proportion of elderly people in the population grew steadily larger the task of looking after them would fall increasingly on one group daughters The government in promoting its move in social policy towards community care had stated that the family which in practice meant women must expect to provide the bulk of care in the future But how do women feel about this What impact does caring for others have on their own lives How might professional helpers better support them Originally published in 1988 from in depth interviews with daughters who have looked after their mothers for varying numbers of years Jane Lewis and Barbara Meredith look at why it is that women come to care and consider the legacy of their caring experiences Because caring is usually a labour of love the feelings that surround it are complicated and fraught with ambivalence In analysing these Daughters Who Care explores the meaning of caring from the carer s point of view as well as examining the implications for professionals seeking to support the supporters Carers themselves and those working with them professionally or as volunteers as well as students of community care social policies for the elderly and social psychology will all find this a stimulating approach to what is still an increasingly urgent issue Social Work Diagnosis in Contemporary Practice Francis J. Turner, 2005-02-10 The unifying theme of this broad reaching volume is that responsible ethical and effective social work practice rests on the diagnostic skills of the practitioner Social work diagnosis refers to the conscious formulation of an ongoing set of decisions about the client and his or her situation which serve as the basis for intervention decisions for which the practitioner must be prepared to take responsibility Diagnostic skill development is an ongoing process principally enhanced by a continuous commitment to remain at the cutting edge of the profession s body of knowledge but one of the challenges for today s practitioner is keeping abreast of the rapidly expanding body of knowledge contained in some 200 important social work periodicals in circulation Francis J Turner a preeminent clinical scholar brings together in one volume some of the best work published since 2000 each reflecting new insights into understanding psychosocial situations and innovative methods of applying knowledge and skills in an increasingly effective manner Each of the 78 articles in this volume highlights some of the critical dimensions of contemporary social work practice guiding clinicians to address four key aspects in order to craft an accurate diagnosis The first section presents articles covering the developmental spectrum each of which fully explains various ages and stages of development The second section focuses on a range of specific situations helping practitioners and students enrich their understanding of different types of problems they meet in contemporary practice whether they are based in mental illness psychosocial issues or physical ailments The third section addresses the crucial component of diversity demonstrating the complexity and critical importance of truly understanding clients and their lives The last section of the book discusses innovative approaches to practice selected to offer practitioners easy access to the latest interventions for a host of contemporary challenges facing clients and their therapists Broad in scope and tightly focused on the goal of providing the most up to date information necessary for accuracy in the diagnostic process this volume represents some of the best research available to today's social workers

The Daughter's Return Caroline Rody, 2001 The Daughter's Return offers a close analysis of an emerging genre in African American and Caribbean fiction produced by women writers who make imaginative returns to their ancestral pasts Considering some of the defining texts of contemporary fiction Toni Morrison's Beloved Jean Rhys's Wide Sargasso Sea and Michelle Cliff's No Telephone to Heaven Rody discusses their common inclusion of a daughter who returns to the site of her people's founding trauma of slavery through memory or magic Rody treats these texts as allegorical expressions of the desire of writers newly emerging into cultural authority to reclaim their difficult inheritance and finds a counter plot of heroines encounters with women of other racial and ethnic groups running through these works

Invisible Families Mignon Moore, 2011-10-17 Mignon R Moore brings to light the family life of a group that has been largely invisible gay women of color in a book that challenges long standing ideas about racial identity family formation and motherhood Drawing from interviews and surveys of one hundred black gay women in New York City Invisible Families explores the ways that race and class have influenced how these women understand their sexual orientation find partners and form families In particular the study looks at the ways in which the past experiences of women who came of age in the 1960s and 1970s shape their thinking and have structured their lives in communities that are not always accepting of their openly gay status Overturning generalizations about lesbian families derived largely from research focused on white middle class feminists Invisible Families reveals experiences within black American and Caribbean communities as it asks how people with multiple stigmatized identities imagine and construct an individual and collective sense of self Rising Above it All , Classifying Fashion, Fashioning Class Katherine Appleford,2020-10-14 Drawing together theoretical ideas from across the social sciences Classifying Fashion Fashioning Class examines how the fashion class association has developed and using the experiences of middle and working class British women demonstrates how this relationship operates today Though increasingly academics argue that contemporary class distinctions are made through cultural practices and tastes few have fully explored just how individual s fashion choices mobilise class and are used in class evaluations Yet an individual s everyday dress is perhaps the most immediate marker of taste and thus an important means of class distinction This is particularly true for women as their performances of respectability femininity and motherhood are embodied by fashion and shaped by class In unpacking this fashion class relationship the book explores how fashion is used by British women to talk about class It offers important insights into the ways fashion mobilises class differences in understandings of dressing up performance and public space It considers how class identity shapes women s attitudes concerning fashion trends and classic styles and it draws attention to the pivotal role mothers play in cultivating these class distinctions The book will be of interest to students in sociology fashion studies cultural studies human geography and consumer behaviour
