Global humanitarianism and media culture Michael Lawrence, Rachel Tavernor, 2019-01-21 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This collection interrogates the representation of humanitarian crisis catastrophe and care Contributors explore the refraction of humanitarian intervention from the mid twentieth century to the present across a diverse range of media forms including screen media film television and online video newspapers memoirs music festivals and social media platforms notably Facebook YouTube and Flickr Examining the historical cultural and political contexts that have shaped the mediation of humanitarian relationships since the middle of the twentieth century the book reveals significant synergies between the humanitarian enterprise the endeavour to alleviate the suffering of particular groups and its media representations particularly in their modes of addressing and appealing to specific publics Public Relations and Participatory Culture Amber Hutchins,Natalie T.J. Tindall,2016-03-10 While public relations practitioners have long focused on the relationship between organizations and their stakeholders there has never been a time when that relationship was so dominated by public participation The new model of multiple messages originating from multiple publics at varying levels of engagement is widely acknowledged but not widely explored in scholarly texts The established model of one way communication and message control no longer exists Social media and an increasingly participatory culture means that fans are taking a more active role in the production and co creation of messages communication and meaning These fans have significant power in the relationship dynamic between the message the communicator and the larger audience yet they have not been defined using current theory and discourse Our existing conceptions fail to identify these active and engaged publics let alone understand virtual communities who are highly motivated to communicate with organizations and brands This innovative and original research collection attempts to address this deficit by exploring these interactive engaged publics and open up the complexities of establishing and maintaining relationships in fan created communities Media in Asia Youna Kim,2022-05-15 This book is an upper level student source book for contemporary approaches to media studies in Asia which will appeal across a wide range of social sciences and humanities subjects including media and communication studies Asian studies cultural studies sociology and anthropology Drawing on a wide range of perspectives from media and communications sociology cultural studies anthropology and Asian studies it provides an empirically rich and stimulating tour of key areas of study The book combines theoretical perspectives with grounded case studies in one up to date and accessible volume going beyond the standard Euro American view of the evolving and complex dynamics of the media today International Handbook of Media Literacy Education Belinha S. De Abreu,Paul Mihailidis,Alice Y.L. Lee,Jad Melki,Julian McDougall,2017-04-21 At the forefront in its field this Handbook examines the theoretical conceptual pedagogical and methodological development of media literacy education and research around the world Building on traditional media literacy frameworks in critical analysis evaluation and assessment it incorporates new literacies emerging around connective technologies mobile platforms and social networks A global perspective rather than a Western centric point of view is explicitly highlighted with contributors from all continents to show the empirical research being done at the intersection of media education and engagement in daily life Structured around five themes Educational Interventions Safeguarding Data and Online Privacy Engagement in Civic Life Media Creativity and Production Digital Media Literacy the volume as a whole emphasizes the competencies needed to engage in meaningful participation in digital culture

Sofia Johansson, Ann Werner, Patrik Åker, Greg Goldenzwaig, 2017-08-24. Streaming Music examines how the Internet has become integrated in contemporary music use by focusing on streaming as a practice and a technology for music consumption. The backdrop to this enquiry is the digitization of society and culture where the music industry has undergone profound disruptions and where music streaming has altered listening modes and meanings of music in everyday life. The objective of Streaming Music is to shed light on what these transformations mean for listeners by looking at their adaptation in specific cultural contexts but also by considering how online music platforms and streaming services guide music listeners in specific ways. Drawing on case studies from Moscow and Stockholm and providing analysis of Spotify, VK and YouTube as popular but distinct sites for music, Streaming Music discusses through a qualitative cross-cultural study questions around music and value, music sharing, modes of engaging with music and the way that contemporary music listening is increasingly part of mobile, automated and computational processes. Offering a nuanced perspective on these issues, it adds to research about music and digital media, shedding new light on music cultures as they appear today. As such, this volume will appeal to scholars of media sociology and music with interests in digital technologies.

The Routledge Encyclopedia of Citizen Media. Mona Baker, Bolette B. Blaagaard, Henry Jones, Luis Pérez-González, 2020-10-21. This is the first authoritative reference work to map the multifaceted and vibrant site of citizen media research and practice, incorporating insights from across a wide range of scholarly areas. Citizen media is a fast-evolving terrain that cuts across a variety of disciplines. It explores the physical artefacts, digital content, performative interventions, practices and discursive expressions of affective sociality that ordinary citizens produce as they participate in public life to effect aesthetic or socio-political change. The seventy-seven entries featured in this pioneering resource provide a rigorous overview of extant scholarship, deliver a robust critique of key research themes and anticipate new directions for research on a variety of topics. Cross-references and recommended reading suggestions are included at the end of each entry to allow scholars from different disciplinary backgrounds to identify relevant connections across diverse areas of citizen media scholarship and explore further avenues of research. Featuring contributions by leading scholars and supported by an international panel of consultant editors, the Encyclopedia is essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as researchers in media studies, social movement studies, performance studies, political science and a variety of other disciplines across the humanities and social sciences. It will also be of interest to non-academics involved in activist movements and those working to effect change in various areas of social life.
