New Perspectives on Racial Identity Development Charmaine Wijeyesinghe, Bailey W. Jackson, 2012-07-30 For well over a century the United Fruit Company UFCO has been the most vilified multinational corporation operating in Latin America Criticism of the UFCO has been widespread ranging from politicians to consumer activists and from labor leaders to historians all portraying it as an overwhelmingly powerful corporation that shaped and often exploited its host countries In this first history of the UFCO in Colombia Marcelo Bucheli argues that the UFCO s image as an all powerful force in determining national politics needs to be reconsidered Using a previously unexplored source the internal archives of Colombia s UFCO operation Bucheli reveals that before 1930 the UFCO worked alongside a business friendly government that granted it generous concessions and repressed labor unionism After 1930 however the country experienced dramatic transformations including growing nationalism a stronger labor movement and increasing demands by local elites for higher stakes in the banana export business In response to these circumstances the company abandoned production selling its plantations and labor conflicts to local growers while transforming itself into a marketing company The shift was endorsed by the company's shareholders and financial analysts who preferred lower profits with lower risks and came at a time in which the demand for bananas was decreasing in America Importantly Bucheli shows that the effect of foreign direct investment was not unidirectional Instead the agency of local actors affected corporate strategy just as the UFCO also transformed local politics and society

The Racial Middle Eileen O'Brien, 2008-06 The divide over race is usually framed as one over Black and White Sociologist Eileen O'Brien is interested in that middle terrain what sits in the ever increasing gray area she dubbed the racial middle The Racial Middle tells the story of the other racial and ethnic groups in America mainly Latinos and Asian Americans two of the largest and fastest growing minorities in the United States Using dozens of in depth interviews with people of various ethnic and generational backgrounds Eileen O'Brien challenges the notion that to fit into American culture the only options available to Latinos and Asian Americans are either to become white or to become brown Instead she offers a wholly unique analysis of Latinos and Asian Americans own distinctive experiences those that aren't typically White nor Black Though living alongside Whites and Blacks certainly frames some of their own identities and interpretations of race O'Brien keenly observes that these groups struggles with discrimination their perceived isolation from members of other races and even how they define racial justice are all significant realities that inform their daily lives and importantly influence their opportunities for advancement in society A refreshing and lively approach to understanding race and ethnicity in the twenty first century The Racial Middle gives voice to Latinos and Asian Americans place in this country's increasingly complex racial mosaic
