The Changing Nature of the Maine Woods Andrew M. Barton, Alan S. White, Charles V. Cogbill, 2012 The ecology of the ever changing Maine forest

Indigenous Archaeologies Claire Smith, H. Martin Wobst, 2004-11-10 With case studies from North America to Australia and South Africa and covering topics from archaeological ethics to the repatriation of human remains this book charts the development of a new form of archaeology that is informed by indigenous values and agendas This involves fundamental changes in archaeological theory and practice as well as substantive changes in the power relations between archaeologists and indigenous peoples Questions concerning the development of ethical archaeological practices are at the heart of this process

Memoir Series of the American Anthropological Association, 1918

Prehistoric Subsistence on the Southern New England Coast David J. Bernstein, 2014-06-28 Prehistoric Subsistence on the Southern New England Coast examines long term trends in prehistoric subsistence in the Narragansett Bay region of Southern New England The results suggest that unlike other areas of Eastern north America specialized agricultural economies did not develop in this region prior to European contact The book is accessible to both the general reader as well as scholars and students interested in consulting the original data for their own research and analysis Incorporates original research in palynology and geomorphology in to an archaeological study Presents a study of modern shellfish growth that is used to interpret the archaeological remains found at Greenwich Cove Uses numerous animal species to determine site seasonality
