Molecular Mechanisms Underlying Assembly and Maintenance of the Neuromuscular Junction Ruth Herbst,Hanns Lochmuller,Laure Strohlic,Inga Koneczny,2022-01-17 Behavioral Characterization of a Neuronal Nicotinic Acetylcholine Receptor Alpha2 Subunit Null Mutant Mouse Janet Soo Byun,2008 Mechanisms and New Targets for the Treatment of Chronic Pain Milica S. Prostran,Francisco R. Nieto,Sonja Maksim Vuckovic,2020-12-03 Acute pain has a physiological protective role in preventing tissue damage However pain can become chronic due to a multitude of pathophysiological states such as trauma inflammation neural injury viral infection cancer autoimmune diseases and vascular and metabolic disorders These pathological states can trigger alterations of the pain pathways that can lead to hypersensitivity and in such circumstances pain loses its protective role and instead becomes persistent and debilitating affecting seriously to the quality of life of patients Chronic pain is one of the most important health problems worldwide It has been estimated that 10% of adults are diagnosed with chronic pain each year However despite the high prevalence of chronic pain its management is still no fully satisfactory probably due to the variety of chronic pain conditions with different etiologies neuropathic visceral and musculoskeletal pain and because their pathophysiological mechanisms are only partially known Therefore there is a huge need for new effective therapies for the control and or prevention of the different types of chronic pain Chronic pain is associated with plastic changes in pain circuits of the peripheral and central nervous system including changes in the expression of ion channels neurotransmitters and receptors In addition there is growing consensus on non neuronal mechanisms that can amplify or resolve chronic pain and cells traditionally thought to act just as coordinators of the inflammatory response such as immune and glial cells are now accepted as real modulators of pain signaling In this regard animal models of persistent pain such as models of neuropathic and visceral pain and models of arthritis are helping to elucidate our understanding of the pathogenesis of chronic pain and make it possible to test experimental treatments

Neurodegeneration in Acute Brain Injury Arthur Liesz, Christoph Kleinschnitz, 2015-11-13 Mechanisms of brain immune interactions became a cutting edge topic in systemic neurosciences over the past years Acute lesions of the brain parenchyma particularly induce a profound and highly complex neuroinflammatory reaction with similar mechanistic properties between differing disease paradigms like ischemic stroke intracerebral hemorrhage ICH and traumatic brain injury TBI Resident microglial cells sense tissue damage and initiate inflammation activation of the endothelial brain immune interface promotes recruitment of systemic immune cells to the brain and systemic humoral immune mediators e.g. complements and cytokines enter the brain through the damaged blood brain barrier These cellular and humoral constituents of the neuroinflammatory reaction to brain injury contribute substantially to secondary brain damage and neurodegeneration Diverse inflammatory cascades such as pro inflammatory cytokine secretion of invading leukocytes and direct cell cell contact cytotoxicity between lymphocytes and neurons have been demonstrated to mediate the inflammatory collateral damage in models of acute brain injury Besides mediating neuronal cell loss and degeneration secondary inflammatory mechanisms also contribute to functional modulation of neurons and the impact of post lesional neuroinflammation can even be detected on the behavioral level The contribution of several specific immune cell subpopulations to the complex orchestration of secondary neuroinflammation has been revealed just recently However the differential vulnerability of specific neuronal cell types and the molecular mechanisms of inflammatory neurodegeneration are still elusive Furthermore we are only on the verge of characterizing the control of long term recovery and neuronal plasticity after brain damage by inflammatory pathways Yet a more detailed but also comprehensive understanding of the multifaceted interaction of these two supersystems is of direct translational relevance Immunotherapeutic strategies currently shift to the center of translational research in acute CNS lesion since all clinical trials investigating direct neuroprotective therapies failed To advance our knowledge on brain immune communications after brain damage an interdisciplinary approach covered by cellular neuroscience as well as neuroimmunology brain imaging and behavioral sciences is crucial to thoroughly depict the intricate mechanisms
