Prescription Don Chapman, Jacob D. Rawlins, 2020-09-21 This book is a detailed examination of social connections to language evaluation with a specific focus on the values associated with both prescriptivism and descriptivism The chapters written by authors from many different linguistic and national backgrounds use a variety of approaches and methods to discuss values in linguistic prescriptivism In particular the chapters break down the traditional binary approaches that characterize prescriptive discourse to create a view of the complex phenomena associated with prescriptivism and the values of those who practice it Most importantly this volume continues serious academic conversations about prescriptivism and lays the foundation for continued exploration Classical Education in Britain, 1500-1900 Martin Lowther Clarke, 1959

The Athenaeum, 1858 The Reader, a review of literature, science, and art, 1866-07 Looking North Dave Russell, 2004-10 Investigating areas as diverse as travel literature fiction dialect the stage radio television feature film music and sport this book assesses the portrayal of the North of England within the national culture and how this has impacted upon attitudes to the region and its place within notions of Englishness The relationship between these cultural forms and the construction of regional identity has received only limited consideration and this fascinating work provides not only much new information but also a map for future writers The North although seen ultimately as other and the subject of much critical comment is also shown here as capable of stimulating the creative imagination and invigorating English culture in sometimes surprising ways N-Z, pages 803-1,110 Brooklyn Library,1880 Catalogue of the Reference Library Birmingham Free Libraries. Humor in recent American poetry has been largely dismissed or ignored by scholars due in part to a staid reverence for the lyric Laugh Lines Humor Genre and Political Critique in Late Twentieth Century American Poetry argues that humor is not a superficial feature of a small subset but instead an integral feature in a great deal of American poetry written since the 1950s Rather than viewing poetry as a lofty serious genre Carrie Conners asks readers to consider poetry alongside another art form that has burgeoned in America since the 1950s stand up comedy Both art forms use wit and laughter to rethink the world and the words used to describe it Humor s disruptive nature makes it especially whetted for critique Many comedians and humorous poets prove to be astute cultural critics To that end Laugh Lines focuses on poetry that wields humor to espouse sociopolitical critique To show the range of recent American poetry that uses humor to articulate sociopolitical critique Conners highlights the work of poets working in four distinct poetic genres traditional received forms such as the sonnet the epic procedural poetry and prose poetry Marilyn Hacker Harryette Mullen Ed Dorn and Russell Edson provide the main focus of the chapters but each chapter compares those poets to others writing humorous political verse in the same genre including Terrance Hayes and Anne Carson This comparison highlights the pervasiveness of this trend in recent American poetry and reveals the particular ways the poets use conventions of genre to generate and even amplify their humor Conners argues that the interplay between humor and genre creates special opportunities for political critique as poetic forms and styles can invoke the very social constructs that the poets deride Business India ,1998 Catalogue of the Mercantile Library of Brooklyn: N-Z Mercantile Library Association of Brooklyn,1880
