

Advance Praise for Nazi Steel

"Marcus Jones has written a fascinating study on how the Germans stumbled over themselves in attempting to incorporate the steel industry in Lorraine that they seized after their great victory of 1940. In clear and forthright fashion Jones lays out the complexities of the contest between the various components that made up a less than perfect Fuehrer state. Nazi Steel represents a major contribution to our understanding of how Hitler's Reich did, or did not, function."

— WILLIAMSON MURRAY, Professor Emeritus, The Ohio State University

"Marcus Jones' carefully researched account of the effort by an ambitious German industrialist to acquire control of an expropriated French steel works in conquered Lorraine reveals the extent to which racist ideology, bureaucratic politics, commercial greed, and the exigencies of war collided in Nazi industrial policy. Scholars and others interested in the economic peculiarities of Hitler's Germany will find it both a valuable resource and a revealing case study in institutionalized kleptocracy."

— RICHARD HART SINNREICH, defense consultant and columnist

"Almost sixty-five years after the end of World War II the world continues to be fascinated with the German military, for better or worse. But any military force is only the tip of the bayonet, so to speak. Behind that bayonet the force requires a powerful national economy, industry, and political structure to equip and sustain it. Marcus Jones' Nazi Steel is a penetrating study of one key segment of German industry that contributed to making the Wehrmacht arguably the best and most powerful army the world had ever seen by 1940. Yet Jones' analysis also explores Germany's moral and political corruption that in the long run made it impossible for that nation to maintain and prevail with its military might."

— MAJ. GEN. DAVID T. ZABECKI, AUS (RET.), editor of Chief of Staff:

Nazi Steel Marcus O. Jones,2012 Explains how the Nazi government exploited the steel industry to fuel its war machine

Nazi Steel Marcus O Jones,2012-07-15 This study explores an exemplary instance of the close interaction between private and official interests in planning and executing the programs of the Nazi government namely the acquisition in 1941 of the Rombach steel works by the German industrialist Friedrich Flick The industrial concern headed by Flick was among the largest and most influential steel producers and manufacturers of war material in the German economy during World War II Its activities in the occupied territories of western Europe centered on control of the Rombach works a large operation established in Lorraine in the late nineteenth century by German industrialists and expropriated by France along with the entire region in the aftermath of the First World War After successful military operations against France in 1940 the Nazi regime actively sought the collusion of the German industrial community in mobilizing the productive capacity of occupied territories for the war effort and numerous private German businessmen advanced claims on the lucrative assets in Lorraine and adjacent regions In his bid to gain control of the Rombach works Flick was successful for reasons specific to his position within the Nazi German economic system and the character of his interests This account of his activities then serves as a fine example of Nazi economic and occupation policy and its response to party business and bureaucratic influences

La Segunda Guerra Mundial en el mar Craig L. Symonds, 2019-10-16 El relato de Symonds que arranca con la Conferencia de Londres de 1930 muestra cómo todos los intentos de limitar el armamento naval acabaron siendo irrelevantes antes de que finalizara aquella década al tiempo que en Europa estallaba un nuevo conflicto que enfrentó a las Armadas entre sí La Segunda Guerra Mundial en el mar ofrece una perspectiva global centrándose en las principales batallas y en las personalidades más destacadas poniendo de manifiesto tanto su magnitud como sus interrelaciones el ataque de un submarino alemán contra Scapa Flow y la batalla del Atlántico el milagro de la evacuación de Dunkerque y las enconadas batallas por el control de los fiordos de Noruega la Regia Marina de Mussolini y la hegemonía del Imperio japonés en el Pacífico el ataque contra Pearl Harbor y posteriormente la batalla de Midway las tribulaciones de la Armada Soviética y el hundimiento intencionado de la Flota francesa en Tolón en 1942 los desembarcos en el Norte de África y más tarde en Normandía Y también están los destacados dirigentes navales Roosevelt y Churchill que se autoproclamaban hombres de la Armada Karl Dönitz François Darlan Ernest King Isoroku Yamamoto Erich Raeder Inigo Campioni Louis Mountbatten William Halsey así como los cientos de miles de marineros y oficiales de todas las nacionalidades que pusieron en peligro o perdieron sus vidas durante los mayores conflictos navales de la historia desde las ofensivas a pequeña escala y las operaciones anfibia hasta las mayores armadas jamás reunidas Muchos han argumentado que la Segunda Guerra Mundial estuvo dominada por las operaciones navales muy
