Ne Me Quitte Pas For Piano:

Ne me quitte pas Maya Angela Smith,2025-01-24 In 1959 Belgian singer songwriter Jacques Brel wrote and performed Ne me quitte pas Don't leave me a visceral and haunting plea for his lover to come back As a teenager Maya Angela Smith was so captivated by Nina Simone's powerful 1965 cover of the song that it inspired her to be a French professor In Ne me quitte pas Smith follows the classic song's long and varied journey from Brel's iconic 1966 performance on French television to Simone's cover to Shirley Bassey's English language version If You Go Away to its contemporary manifestations in popular culture Throughout Smith shows that as the song travels across languages geographies genres and generations it accumulates shifting artistic and cultural significance as each listener creates their own meaning Music and

Translation Lucile Desblache,2019-06-04 This book explores how transformations and translations shape musical meanings developments and the perception of music across cultures Starting with the concept of music as multimodal text the author understands translation as the process of transferring a text from one language verbal or not into another interlingually intralingually or intersemiotically as well as the products that are derived from this process She situates music and translation within their contemporary global context examining the tensions between local and global cosmopolitan and national and universal and specific settings to arrive at a celebration of the translational power of music and an in depth study of how musical texts are translated This book will be of interest to translation studies scholars who want to broaden their horizons as well as to musicians and music scholars seeking to understand how cultural exchange and dissemination can be driven by translation Ghosts By Daylight Janine di Giovanni,2011-07-04 Before I reached the stairwell I saw something out of the corner of my eye A strange and beautiful man had dropped to his knees in front of me unencumbered unembarrassed I stopped short He was slender almost Asiatic looking wearing baggy combat trousers and a T shirt He was flirting and then he was laughing at my reaction There was not much for me to do but also smile Janine and Bruno first fell in love as young reporters in the besieged city of Sarajevo Years later after endless phone calls much of what the French call malentendu secret trysts in foreign cities numerous break ups three miscarriages countless stories of rebel armies and a dozen wars that had passed between them they arrive in Paris one rainy January to begin a new life together The remnants of their separate lives now left behind are tentatively unpacked into their shared apartment on the Right Bank Bruno's heavy blanket from Ethiopia a set of long feathered arrows from Brazil an ash tray stolen from a hotel in Algeria and Janine's flak jacket and canvas boots still full of sand from the Western Desert in Iraq But having met in another lifetime in another world ordinary civilian life doesn't come easily War has become part of them it had brought them together and though both are damaged by it neither can quite leave it behind And the difficult journey that follows through their mix of joy and terror at becoming parents Bruno's battle with post traumatic stress and addiction and Janine's determination to make France her home leads to an understanding of the truth that people who deeply love each other cannot always live together A searing profoundly moving love letter beautifully written Ghosts by Daylight is a powerfully raw portrait of marriage and motherhood in the aftermath of war

The Song Remains the Same Andrew Ford, Anni Heino, 2019-12-02 An illuminating history of the song for every kind of music lover Often today the word song is used to describe all music A free jazz improvisation a Hindustani raga a movement from a Beethoven symphony apparently they're all songs But they're not From Sia to Springsteen Archie Roach to Amy Winehouse a song is a specific musical form It's not so much that they all have verses and choruses though most of them do but that they are all relatively short and self contained they have beginnings middles and ends they often have a single point of view message or story and crucially they unite words and music Thus a Schubert song has more in common with a track by Joni Mitchell or Rihanna than with one of Schubert's own symphonies The Song Remains the Same traces these connections through seventy five songs from different cultures and times love songs anthems protest songs lullabies folk songs jazz standards lieder and pop hits When You Wish Upon a Star to We Will Rock You Jerusalem to Jolene Unpicking their inner workings makes familiar songs strange again explaining and restoring the wonder joy or possibly loathing the reader experienced on first hearing As much about singing musicianship and recording as it is about songwriting this eclectic ride through a unique choice of songs everyone will argue for alternatives is cleverly curated and littered with intriguing details about the creators and their times filled with loving cross references to other songs and deft musical analysis I defy anyone not to leap online to listen to the unfamiliar or re listen to old favourites in light of new detail One of the best games in this book is figuring out why one song follows the other there's always an intelligent often very funny link Robyn Archer Thirty-Six Hours of Self-Imposed Exile Ferguson A. M. Ferguson, A.M. Ferguson, 2010-03 It's nighttime and the air is cold It's brisk as it washes over bare skin a reminder that it's winter And as you walk beneath the clear midnight sky the moon casts a shadow ever so slightly it reminds you that you're alive At the age of twenty-eight the Narrator has taken only three steps in life one for being cynical one for being bitter and one for being jaded But an extraordinary thing happens after a life-saving encounter with a stranger leads to an adventure of self-discovery and reawakening to the world The journey brings the Narrator into the lives of a past love a pregnant neighbor and a churning river that nearly claims the Narrator's life Are the relationships that develop after the accident mere coincidence or part of something greater and perhaps driven by fate thirty-six hours of self-imposed exile is a novel that poses the question What does it mean to be alive Through the changing of the Boston seasons this novel explores the cyclical nature of the human state from apathy to understanding and from love to loss and back again What Happened, Miss Simone? Alan

Light, 2016-02-09 Inspired by the Academy Award-nominated Netflix documentary What Happened, Miss Simone? an intimate and vivid look at the legendary life of Nina Simone the classically trained pianist who evolved into a chart-topping chanteuse and committed civil rights activist From music journalist and former Spin and Vibe editor in chief Alan Light comes a biography of incandescent soul singer and Black Power icon Nina Simone one of the most influential provocative and least understood artists of our time Drawn from a trove of rare archival footage audio recordings and interviews including Simone's remarkable private diaries this nuanced examination of Nina Simone's life highlights her musical inventiveness and unwavering quest for equality while laying bare the personal demons that plagued her from the time of her Jim Crow childhood in North Carolina to her self-imposed exile in Liberia and Paris later in life Harnessing the singular voice of Miss Simone herself and incorporating candid reflections from those who knew her best including her only daughter Light brings us face-to-face with a legend examining the very public persona and very private struggles of one of our greatest artists
