Nature Crime How Were Getting Conservation Wrong:

Nature Crime Rosaleen Duffy, 2010-08-31 The perilous state of endangered species such as tigers and rhinos and the worldwide illegal trade in ivory diamonds bushmeat and many other rare and valuable commodities are familiar issues in the West The heroes in these narratives are those who work to create protected areas for wildlife the villains the shadowy poachers and smugglers who destroy endangered animals and their habitats for the sake of profit In this groundbreaking book Rosaleen Duffy argues that the story is much more complex than this She analyses the workings of the black market wildlife industry pointing out that illegal trading is often the direct result of Western consumer desires from coltan for mobile phones to caviar for the global elite She looks at how tourists contribute often unwittingly to the destruction of natural environments Most strikingly she argues that the imperatives of Western style conservation often result in serious injustice to local people who are at risk of losing not only their land but sometimes even their lives The result of many years of first hand research this book is essential reading for anyone who wants to understand the complex realities of nature conservation

Jacket Ruling Nature, Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager, 2018 Recent nature conservation initiatives in Southern Africa such as communal conservancies and peace parks are often embedded in narratives of economic development and ecological research They are also increasingly marked by militarisation and violence In Ruling Nature Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager shows that these features were also characteristic of South African rule over the Caprivi Strip region in North Eastern Namibia especially in the fields of forestry fisheries and ultimately wildlife conservation In the process the increasingly internationalised war in the region from the late 1960s until Namibia's independence in 1990 became intricately interlinked with contemporary nature conservation ecology and economic development projects By retracing such interdependencies Lenggenhager provides a novel perspective from which to examine the history of a region which has until now barely entered the focus of historical research He thereby highlights the enduring relevance of the supposedly peripheral Caprivi and its military scientific and environmental histories for efforts to develop a deeper understanding of the ways in which apartheid South Africa exerted state power

Wildlife Politics Bruce Rocheleau, 2017-03-30 Attitudes towards charismatic animals such as tigers lions bears and wolves vary greatly and change over time resulting in bitter political debates This comprehensive book identifies and analyses the factors that influence policies across the globe highlighting how this impacts conservation as a whole Issues such as overexploitation hunting ecotourism and the struggle to prevent illegal wildlife trafficking are examined and science's role in policymaking is assessed The conflicting forces behind legislation including institutions interest groups and the media are analysed with particular focus on the significance of the Endangered Species Act covering over forty five species that have become matters of political debate in sixty seven different countries Case studies and conceptual frameworks provide a clear understanding of the key topics shedding light on this important yet often overlooked area of environmental politics

Palgrave Handbook of Critical Posthumanism Stefan

Herbrechter, Ivan Callus, Manuela Rossini, Marija Grech, Megen de Bruin-Molé, Christopher John Müller, 2022-11-28 Palgrave Handbook of Critical Posthumanism is a major reference work on the paradigm emerging from the challenges to humanism humanity and the human posed by the erosion of the traditional demarcations between the human and nonhuman This handbook surveys and speculates on the ways in which the posthumanist paradigm emerged transformed and might further develop across the humanities With its focus on the posthuman as a figure on posthumanism as a social discourse and on posthumanisation as an on going historical and ontological process the volume highlights the relationship between the humanities and sciences The essays engage with posthumanism in connection with subfields like the environmental humanities health humanities animal studies and disability studies The book also traces the historical representations and understanding of posthumanism across time Additionally the contributions address genre and forms such as autobiography games art film museums and topics such as climate change speciesism anthropocentrism and biopolitics to name a few This handbook considers posthumanism s impact across disciplines and areas of study     Environmental Harm Rob

White, 2014-09-24 This unique study of social harm offers a systematic and critical discussion of the nature of environmental harm from an eco justice perspective challenging conventional criminological definitions of environmental harm The book evaluates three interconnected justice related approaches to environmental harm environmental justice humans ecological justice the environment and species justice non human animals It provides a critical assessment of environmental harm by interrogating key concepts and exploring how activists and social movements engage in the pursuit of justice It concludes by describing the tensions between the different approaches and the importance of developing an eco justice framework that to some extent can reconcile these differences Using empirical evidence built on theoretical foundations with examples and illustrations from many national contexts Environmental harm will be of interest to students and academics in criminology sociology law geography environmental studies philosophy and social policy all over the world     The Ecotourism-Extraction Nexus Bram Büscher, Veronica Davidov, 2013-08-15 Ecotourism and natural resource extraction may be seen as contradictory pursuits yet in reality they often take place side by side sometimes even supported by the same institutions Existing academic and policy literatures generally overlook the phenomenon of ecotourism in areas concurrently affected by extraction industries but such a scenario is in fact increasingly common in resource rich developing nations This edited volume conceptualises and empirically analyses the ecotourism extraction nexus within the context of broader rural and livelihood changes in the places where these activities occur The volume s central premise is that these seemingly contradictory activities are empirically and conceptually more alike than often imagined and that they share common ground in ethnographic lived experiences in rural settings and broader political economic structures of power and control The book offers theoretical reflections on why ecotourism and natural resource extraction are systematically decoupled and epistemologically and analytically re links them through ethnographic case studies drawing on research from around the world It should be of interest to students and professionals engaged in the disciplines of geography anthropology and development studies

Emerging Issues in Green Criminology D. Westerhuis,R. Walters,T. Wyatt,2013-06-06 This edited collection brings together internationally renowned scholars to explore green criminology through the interdisciplinary lenses of power harm and justice The chapters provide innovative case study analyses from around the world that seek to advance theoretical policy and practice discourses about environmental harm

The Secret Lives of Anthropologists Bonnie L. Hewlett,2019-11-26 This book addresses the difficult conditions researchers may face in the field and provides lessons in how to navigate the various social political economic health and environmental challenges involved in fieldwork It also sheds important light on aspects often considered secret or taboo From anthropologists just starting out to those with over forty years in the field these researchers offer the benefit of their experience conducting research in diverse cultures around the world The contributions combine engaging personal narrative with consideration of theory and methods The volume emphasizes how being adaptable and aware of the many risks and rewards of ethnographic research can help foster success in quantitative and qualitative data collection This is a valuable resource for students of anthropological methods and those about to embark on fieldwork for the first time

Remaking Mutirikwi Joost Fontein,2015 Finalist for the African Studies Association 2016 Melville J Herskovits Award A detailed ethnographic and historical study of the implications of fast track land reform in Zimbabwe from the perspective of those involved in land occupations around Lake Mutirikwi from the colonial period to the present day The Mutirikwi river was dammed in the early 1960s to make Zimbabwe's second largest lake This was a key moment in the Europeanisation of Mutirikwi's landscapes which had begun with colonial land appropriations in the 1890s But African landscapes were not obliterated by the dam They remained active and affective At independence in 1980 local clans reasserted ancestral land claims in a wave of squatting around Lake Mutirikwi They were soon evicted as the new government asserted control over the remaking of Mutirikwi's landscapes Amid fast track land reform in the 2000s the same people returned again to reclaim the land Many returned to the graves and ruins of past lives forged in the very substance of the soil and even incoming war veterans and new farmers appealed to autochthonous knowledge to make safe their resettlements This book explores those reoccupations and the complex contests over landscape water and belonging they provoked The 2000s may have heralded a long delayed re-Africanisation of Lake Mutirikwi but just as African presence had survived the dam so white presence remains active and affective through Rhodesian era discourses place names and the materialities of ruined farms contour ridging and old irrigation schemes Through lenses focused on the political materialities of water and land this book reveals how the remaking of Mutirikwi's landscapes has always been deeply entangled with changing strategies of colonial and postcolonial statecraft It highlights how the traces of different pasts intertwine in contemporary politics through the active enduring yet emergent forms and substances of landscape Joost Fontein is Director of the British Institute in Eastern Africa and Lecturer in Social Anthropology at the University of

Edinburgh Published in association with the British Institute in Eastern Africa      Game Changer Glen Martin, 2012-03-30
 Are conservation and protecting animals the same thing This book by an award winning environmental reporter reveals they are not Animal rights activism is surging in popularity but the results are mixed particularly when it comes to saving wild animals and the habitat that sustains them Indeed the championing of animal rights can paradoxically lead to the elimination of key charismatic wild species including elephants and lions In an anecdotal and highly engaging style Glen Martin takes the reader to the heart of the conflict Africa where the world's last great populations of wildlife are the hostages in a fight between those who love animals and those who would save them      The Extinction Market Vanda Felbab Brown, 2017-11-15
 The planet is currently experiencing alarming levels of species loss caused in large part by intensified poaching and wildlife trafficking driven by expanding demand for medicines for food and for trophies Affecting many more species than just the iconic elephants rhinos and tigers the rate of extinction is now as much as 1000 times the historical average and the worst since the dinosaurs died out 65 million years ago In addition to causing irretrievable biodiversity loss wildlife trafficking also poses serious threats to public health potentially triggering a global pandemic The Extinction Market explores the causes means and consequences of poaching and wildlife trafficking with a view to finding ways of suppressing them Vanda Felbab Brown travelled to the markets of Latin America South and South East Asia and eastern and southern Africa to evaluate the effectiveness of various tools including bans on legal trade law enforcement and interdiction allowing legal supply from hunting or farming alternative livelihoods anti money laundering efforts and demand reduction strategies This is an urgent book offering meaningful solutions to one of the world's most pressing crises      Hunting Jan E. Dizard, Mary Zeiss Stange, 2022-10-04
 The history of hunting from Stone Age hunter gatherers to today's sport hunters Hunting has a long history beginning with our hominid ancestors The invention of the spear allowed early humans to graduate from scavenging to actual hunting The famous cave paintings at Lascaux show a meticulous knowledge of animal behavior and anatomy that only a hunter would have This volume in the MIT Press Essential Knowledge series traces the evolution of hunting from Stone Age hunting and gathering to today's regulated sport hunting Humans have been hunting since we became human but did hunting make us human The authors consider and question the hunting hypothesis of human origins noting that according to this theory hunting meant hunting by men They explore hunting in the Stone Age and how beginning some ten thousand years ago the spread of agriculture led to the emergence of empires and attempts by elites to monopolize hunting They examine the democratization of hunting in the American colonies and how hunters decimated but then in the twentieth century rallied to save game animals from extinction They describe how some European and postcolonial societies have managed wildlife and hunting consider the difficulties of living with abundant wildlife even as many nongame species are disappearing and trace the implications of the increasing participation of women in hunting for the future of hunting
Poaching, Wildlife Trafficking and Security in Africa Cathy Haenlein, M L R Smith, 2017-07-06 A worldwide surge in poaching and wildlife trafficking is threatening to decimate endangered species This crisis also threatens the security of human beings in ways ignored until recently by decision makers slow to begin to treat what is typically viewed as a conservation issue as serious crime Over the past decade as the scale and profitability of poaching and wildlife trafficking have grown politicians journalists and campaigners throughout the world have begun to take notice they are offering striking appraisals of the threat posed not only to endangered species but also to human populations Many of these appraisals however are made in the absence of a detailed body of empirical research and analysis to underpin them The result is the growth of a range of myths and misperceptions around the security threats posed particularly as they relate to Africa Poaching Wildlife Trafficking and Security in Africa examines the most common narratives on poaching wildlife trafficking and security It critically analyses the dominant discourses on poaching and wildlife trafficking as threats to human security as drivers of conflict as funders of terrorism and as a focus for organised crime In doing so it seeks to sort myth from reality to clarify how poaching and wildlife trafficking as much cited threats to security can most accurately be conceived Such a study is crucial to the efforts of stakeholders now rightly looking to respond not just to the threat posed to endangered species but also to the security and wellbeing of human beings

Politics Jeannie Lynn Sowers, Stacy D. VanDeveer, Erika Weinthal, 2023 Including 42 chapters organized across 9 sections The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Environmental Politics explores some of the most important environmental issues through the lens of comparative politics including energy climate change food health urbanization waste and sustainability The chapters delve into more traditional forms of comparative environmental politics CEP the political economy of natural resources and the role of corporations and supply chains while also showcasing new trends in CEP scholarship particularly the comparative study of environmental injustice and intersectional inequities The Handbook highlights scholarship from a broader range of regions and includes approaches from political science anthropology sociology geography gender theory law human rights and development studies

Affective Economies, Neoliberalism, and Governmentality Anne-Marie d'Aoust, 2017-10-02 Advanced capitalism is characterized by a level of symbolic production that not only results in a dematerialization of labor but also increasingly relies on highly emotional components ranging from consumption desire to workforce management Feelings as varied as love anger and desire are integral to neoliberal processes though not in unproblematic and monolithic ways Whereas some accounts decry capitalism's hold on the emotional realm as the commodified search for soul mates through online dating sites or Starbucks promotion of fair trade coffee suggest others counter that emotions represent a privileged site of resistance to market rationality Relying on different case studies ranging from drone strikes the 2008 economic crisis in Ireland and marriage migration management this volume builds on this productive tension between subjection and resistance through the lenses of the concept of governmentality Developed by Michel Foucault governmentality sheds light on the ways in which economic and political life are now being managed through logics of security and economic calculations This volume explores how individuals might become emotionally attached to regimes of power that are detrimental to them how neoliberal processes are concomitant with the valorization of certain emotional dispositions and how affective economies might provide a site of resistance This book was published as a special issue of Global Society

Understanding Sustainable Development John Blewitt, 2017-12-22 A truly comprehensive introduction to the topic Understanding Sustainable Development is designed to give students on a wide range of courses an appreciation of the key concepts and theories of sustainable development Fully updated the third edition includes detailed coverage of the Sustainable Development Goals and their impact on global development Major challenges and topics are explored through a range of international case studies and media examples which maintain the global to local structure of the previous edition With an extensive website and pedagogy Understanding Sustainable Development is the most complete guide to the subject for course leaders undergraduates and postgraduates

Political Ecology of Tourism Mary Mostafanezhad, Roger Norum, Eric J. Shelton, Anna Thompson-Carr, 2016-01-08 Why has political ecology been assigned so little attention in tourism studies despite its broad and critical interrogation of environment and politics As the first full length treatment of a political ecology of tourism the collection addresses this lacuna and calls for the further establishment of this emerging interdisciplinary subfield Drawing on recent trends in geography anthropology and environmental and tourism studies Political Ecology of Tourism Communities Power and the Environment employs a political ecology approach to the analysis of tourism through three interrelated themes Communities and Power Conservation and Control and Development and Conflict While geographically broad in scope with chapters that span Central and South America to Africa and South Southeast and East Asia to Europe and Greenland the collection illustrates how tourism related environmental challenges are shared across prodigious geographical distances while also attending to the nuanced ways they materialize in local contexts and therefore demand the historically situated place based and multi scalar approach of political ecology This collection advances our understanding of the role of political economic and environmental concerns in tourism practice It offers readers a political ecology framework from which to address tourism related issues and themes such as development identity politics environmental subjectivities environmental degradation land and resources conflict and indigenous ecologies Finally the collection is bookended by a pair of essays from two of the most distinguished scholars working in the subfield Rosaleen Duffy foreword and James Igoe afterword This collection will be valuable reading for scholars and practitioners alike who share a critical interest in the intersection of tourism politics and the environment

Humans and Animals Julie Urbanik, Connie L. Johnston, 2017-01-26 An engaging and at times sobering look at the coexistence of humans and animals in the 21st century and how their sometimes disparate needs affect environments politics economies and culture worldwide There is an urgent need to understand human animal interactions and relations as we become increasingly aware of our devastating impact on the natural resources needed for the survival of all animal species This timely reference explores such topics as climate change and biodiversity the impact of animal domestication and industrial farming on local and global ecosystems and the impact of human consumption of wild species for food entertainment medicine and social status This volume also explores the role of pets in our lives advocacy movements on behalf of animals and the role of animals in art and media culture Authors Julie Urbanik and Connie L Johnston introduce the concept of animal geography present different aspects of human animal relationships worldwide and highlight the importance of examining these interconnections Alphabetical entries illustrate key relationships concepts practices and animal species The book concludes with a comprehensive appendix of select excerpts from key primary source documents relating to animals and a glossary

Routledge International Handbook of Green Criminology Nigel South, Avi Brisman, 2020-04-14 The Routledge International Handbook of Green Criminology was the first comprehensive and international anthology dedicated to green criminology It presented green criminology to an international audience described the state of the field offered a description of a range of environmental issues of regional and global importance and argued for continued criminological attention to environmental crimes and harms setting an agenda for further study In the six years since its publication the field has continued to grow and thrive This revised and expanded second edition of the Handbook reflects new methodological orientations new locations of study such as Asia Canada and South America and new responses to environmental harms While a number of the original chapters have been revised the second edition offers a range of fresh chapters covering new and emerging areas of study such as conservation criminology eco feminism environmental victimology fracking migration and eco rights and e waste This handbook continues to define and capture the field of green criminology and is essential reading for students and researchers engaged in green crime and environmental harm

Memory as Power Alex Tepperman, Paul Bleakley, 2025-01-27 Featuring a collection of works by scholars from across a variety of disciplines this book outlines the principles of a critical historical criminology For historical criminologists this book provides a framework of how to engage with historical material in a way that is critical in its interrogation instructive in terms of how the past impacts upon our current and future practice and attentive to the dangers of presentism For critical criminologists this book highlights the potential benefits of looking to the past to inform our understanding of the critical issues we face in the current social cultural and political context in a purposeful historically sensitive way This remarkable volume aims to model how to practice a critical version of historical criminology that has implications for practice in the contemporary period It does so by incorporating contributions that emphasize robust high quality historical research that nonetheless speaks to issues and problems of premium concern to present minded critical criminologists bridging a gap between the past and present through an operationalization of the past that allows readers to better understand the criminological concerns of the present In this sense it can be used pedagogically as a collection of works which model critical historical criminology and is thus of instructional use alongside its research contribution
