

The background of the book cover is a painting of a stag. The stag is depicted in profile, facing right, with its head slightly turned. Its antlers are large and complex, with a warm, golden-brown glow emanating from them, contrasting sharply with the dark, almost black background. The body of the stag is rendered in similar warm tones, with visible brushstrokes giving it a textured appearance. The overall composition is dramatic and evocative, typical of traditional Irish art.

Nature In Ireland A Scientific And Cultural History:

Nature in Ireland John Wilson Foster, Helena C. G. Chesney, 1998 How has Irish nature been studied How has it been expressed in literature and popular culture How has it influenced and been influenced by political economic and social change These long neglected questions are pursued in Nature in Ireland a pioneering collection of original essays by leading naturalists science writers and cultural historians who bring us from the geological prehistory of Ireland to the environmental threats of the late twentieth century

Nature and the Environment in Nineteenth-century Ireland Matthew Kelly, 2019 The environmental humanities are one of the most exciting and rapidly expanding areas of interdisciplinary study and this collection of essays is a pioneering attempt to apply these approaches to the study of nineteenth century Ireland By bringing together historians geographers and literary scholars new insights are offered into familiar subjects and unfamiliar subjects are brought out into the light Essays re considering O Connellism Lord Palmerston and Isaac Butt rub shoulders with examinations of agricultural improvement Dublin s animal geographies and Ireland s healing places Literary writers like Emily Lawless and Seumas O Sullivan are looked at anew encouraging us to re think Darwinian influences in Ireland and the history of the Irish literary revival and transnational perspectives are brought to bear on Ireland s national park history and the dynamics of Irish natural history Much modern Irish history is concerned with access to natural resources whether this reflects the catastrophic effect of the Great Famine or the conflicts associated with agrarian politics but historical and literary analyses are rarely framed explicitly in these terms The collection responds to the material turn in the humanities and contemporary concern about the environment by re imagining Ireland s nineteenth century in fresh and original ways List of contributors Matthew Kelly Helen O Connell David Brown Colin W Reid Huston Gilmore Ronan Foley Juliana Adelman Mary Orr Patrick Maume and Se n Hewitt

Nature Displaced, Nature Displayed Nuala C. Johnson, 2011-04-29 Botanical gardens brought together in a single space the great diversity of the earth s flora They displaced nature from forest and foothill and re arranged it to reveal something of the scientific principles underpinning the apparent chaos of the wild Nature Displaced Nature Displayed shows how the design and display of such gardens was not determined by scientific principles alone Through a study of three botanical gardens belonging to the University of Cambridge the Royal Dublin Society and the Belfast Natural History Society the author shows how the final outcome involved a complex interplay of ideas about place identity empire botanical science and especially aesthetics creating spaces that would educate the mind as well as please the senses This highly engaging book offers a wealth of fresh insights into both the history and development of botanical gardens as well as connections between science and aesthetics

Routledge International Handbook of Irish Studies Renée Fox, Mike Cronin, Brian Ó Conchubhair, 2020-12-30 Routledge International Handbook of Irish Studies begins with the reversal in Irish fortunes after the 2008 global economic crash The chapters included address not only changes in post Celtic Tiger Ireland but also changes in disciplinary approaches to Irish Studies that the last decade of political economic and cultural unrest have stimulated Since 2008 Irish Studies has been directly and indirectly influenced by the crash and its reverberations through the economy political landscape and social framework of Ireland and beyond Approaching Irish pasts presents and futures through interdisciplinary and theoretically capacious lenses the chapters in this volume reflect the myriad ways Irish Studies has responded to the economic precarity in the Republic renewed instability in the North the complex European politics of Brexit global climate and pandemic crises and the intense social change in Ireland catalyzed by all of these Just as Irish society has had to dramatically reconceive its economic and global identity after the crash Irish Studies has had to shift its theoretical modes and its objects of analysis in order to keep pace with these changes and upheavals This book captures the dynamic ways the discipline has evolved since 2008 exploring how the age of austerity and renewal has transformed both Ireland and scholarly approaches to understanding Ireland It will appeal to students and scholars of Irish studies sociology cultural studies history literature economics and political science Chapter 3 5 and 15 of this book is available for free in PDF format as Open Access from the individual product page at www.routledge.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Ireland's First Settlers Peter Woodman, 2015-12-31 Ireland's First Settlers tells the story of the archaeology and history of the first continuous phase of Ireland's human settlement It combines centuries of search and speculation about human antiquity in Ireland with a review of what is known today about the Irish Mesolithic This is in part provided in the context of the author's 50 years of personal experience searching to make sense of what initially appeared to be little more than a collection of beach rolled and battered flint tools The story is embedded in how the island of Ireland its position distinct landscape and ecology impacted on when and how Ireland was colonized It also explores how these first settlers evolved their technologies and lifeways to suit the narrow range of abundant resources that were available The volume concludes with discussions on how the landscape should be searched for the often ephemeral traces of these early settlers and how sites should be excavated It asks what we really know about the thoughts and life of the people themselves and what happened to them as farming began to be introduced

Ingenious Ireland Mary L. Mulvihill, 2003-12-23 Ingenious Ireland takes readers on a magnificent tour of the country's natural wonders clever inventions and historic sites Richly illustrated and meticulously compiled Ingenious Ireland introduces readers to the complete history culture and landscape of all thirty two Irish counties Mary Mulvihill unearths Ireland's treasures and divulges her secrets such as the oldest fossil footprints in the Northern hemisphere the advent of railways the invention of milk of magnesia and why the shamrock is a sham Fascinating and comprehensive Ingenious Ireland unravels the mysteries and marvels of this remarkable country

J. M. Synge and Travel Writing of the Irish Revival Giulia Bruna, 2017-10-31 Between the late 1890s and the early 1900s the young Irish writer John

Millington Synge journeyed across his home country documenting his travels intermittently for ten years His body of travel writing includes the travel book The Aran Islands his literary journalism about West Kerry and Wicklow published in various periodicals and his articles for the Manchester Guardian about rural poverty in Connemara and Mayo Although Synge's nonfiction is often considered of minor weight compared with his drama Bruna argues persuasively that his travel narratives are instances of a pioneering ethnographic and journalistic imagination J M Synge and Travel Writing of the Irish Revival is the first comprehensive study of Synge's travel writing about Ireland compiled during the zeitgeist of the preindependence Revival movement Bruna argues that Synge's nonfiction subverts inherited modes of travel writing that put an emphasis on Empire and Nation Synge's writing challenges these grand narratives by expressing a more complex idea of Irishness grounded in his empathetic observation of the local rural communities he traveled amongst Drawing from critically neglected revivalist travel literature newspapers and periodicals and visual and archival documents Bruna sketches a new portrait of a seminal Irish Literary Renaissance figure and sheds new light on the itineraries of activism and literary engagement of the broader Revival movement

Nature, Environment and Poetry Susanna Lidström, 2015-06-19 The environmental challenges facing humanity in the twenty first century are not only acute and grave they are also unprecedented in kind complexity and scope Nonetheless or therefore the political response to problems such as climate change biodiversity loss and widespread pollution continues to fall short To address these challenges it seems clear that we need new ways of thinking about the relationship between humans and nature local and global and past present and future One place to look for such new ideas is in poetry designed to contain multiple levels of meaning at once challenge the imagination and evoke responses that are based on something more than scientific consensus and rationale This ecocritical book traces the environmental sensibilities of two Anglophone poets Nobel Prize winner Seamus Heaney 1939 2013 and British Poet Laureate Ted Hughes 1930 1998 Drawing on recent and multifarious developments in ecocritical theory it examines how Hughes's and Heaney's respective poetics interact with late twentieth century developments in environmental thought focusing in particular on ideas about ecology and environment in relation to religion time technology colonialism semiotics and globalisation This book is aimed at students of literature and environment the relationship between poetry and environmental humanities and the poetry of Ted Hughes or Seamus Heaney

Space and the Irish Cultural Imagination Gerry Smyth, 2001-07-18 This book reconstitutes the category of space as a crucial element within contemporary cultural literary and historical studies in Ireland The study is based on the dual premise of an explosion of interest in the category of space in modern cultural criticism and social inquiry and the consolidation of Irish studies as a significant scholarly field across a number of institutional and intellectual contexts Besides a methodological theoretical introduction and extended case studies the book includes an auto critical dimension which extends its interest into the fields of local history and life writing

Contemporary Irish Ecocentric Poetry and the Writing of Nature Wit Pietrzak, 2025-10-02 Contemporary Irish

Ecocentric Poetry and the Writing of Nature explores how poetic language can apprehend non anthropocentric points of view It builds on the recent developments in environmental humanities and seeks to show that four Irish poets Derek Mahon Paula Meehan Moya Cannon and Se n Lysaght offer means of diversifying our perception of nature and our place in it This diversification in turn is intended to help us change our idea of natural environment from seeing it as a passive space which we can either exploit or preserve to a view of nature as an interrelated network of agents in which humans are one actor among numerous others Utilising a broad theoretical and philosophical context to help frame the analyses of verse in up to date conceptual schemes this volume serves as a critical foundation for the future work and research in Irish ecocriticism and on ecopoetics in general making the monograph an ideal read for postgraduates scholars and researchers in these fields

Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Climate Crisis Andrew J. Auge, Eugene O'Brien, 2021-11-29 Contemporary Irish Poetry and the Climate Crisis addresses what is arguably the most crucial issue of human history through the lens of late twentieth and early twenty first century Irish poetry The poets that it surveys range from familiar presences in the contemporary Irish literary canon Seamus Heaney Derek Mahon Paula Meehan Moya Cannon to lesser known figures such as the experimental poet Maurice Scully contemporary poets Stephen Sexton and Sean Hewitt and the Irish language poets Simon Faol in Br d N Mh r in and M ire Dinny Wren Adopting a variety of ecotheoretical approaches the essays gathered here address several interrelated themes crucial to the climate crisis the way in which the scalar scope of climate change interweaves local and global distant past and imminent future nature and culture the critical importance of acknowledging the complex kinship of the human and nonhuman and the necessity of warning against the devastating environmental losses to come while mourning those that already occurred Ultimately by envisioning new ways of existing on an earth that humans no longer dominate this book engages in what the philosopher Jonathan Lear refers to as a process of radical anticipation remained not only a reflection of Irish troubles but much like aesthetic experience a space in which the bitterness of family or national life can be understood if not entirely overcome Through deft analysis of works by leading Irish writers including Lady Morgan Yeats Joyce Louis MacNeice and Elizabeth Bowen Holdridge expands and enriches our understanding of how landscape has served as a palimpsest for both family and country connecting personal with collective memory localized places with their regions and individual with national identity      Environmental Debates and the Public in Ireland Mary Kelly, 2007
