Michael, 1998-08-27 Late 1990s developments in the study of thermophiles have had considerable significance on theories of evolution These microorganisms are able to thrive at temperatures near or even above 100 degrees Celsius and scientists have begun to study their biology in an attempt to provide clues about the beginnings of life on our planet Researchers Key Thinkers on the Environment Joy A. Palmer Cooper, David E. Cooper, 2017-09-14 Key Thinkers on the Environment is a unique guide to environmental thinking through the ages Joy A Palmer Cooper and David E Cooper themselves distinguished authors on environmental matters have assembled a team of expert contributors to summarize and analyse the thinking of diverse and stimulating figures from around the world and from ancient times to the present day Among those included are philosophers such as Rousseau Kant Spinoza and Heidegger activists such as Chico Mendes and Wangari Maathai literary giants such as Virgil Goethe and Wordsworth major religious and spiritual figures such as Buddha and St Francis of Assisi eminent scientists such as Darwin Lovelock and E O Wilson Lucid scholarly and informative the essays contained within this volume offer a fascinating overview of humankind's view and understanding of the natural world Religions of Early India Richard H. Davis, 2024-11-26 The extraordinary multiplicity of religions and religious cultures in India chronicled over two thousand years From its earliest recorded history India was a place of remarkable and varied religious activity ranging from elaborate sacrificial rituals and rigorous regimes of personal austerity to psycho spiritual experimentation and utopian visions In this ambitious and wide ranging chronicle Richard Davis offers a history of India's myriad religious cultures that spans two thousand years from 1300 BCE to 700 CE India Davis writes was not only the birthplace of the religions we now know as Hinduism Buddhism and Jainism It was also the home of other often unnamed religions that can be classified as folk or popular religions Tracing these intertwined practices Davis shows that the ardent and heterogeneous religious cultures of early India came to define and redefine themselves in relation to one another Davis recounts this history through voices recorded in hymns poems songs didactic stories epic narratives scientific treatises and theological discourses as well as voices that speak through material remains whether monumental sculptures or tiny terracotta figurines of nameless goddesses He focuses on the long millennium often designated as classical India which stretches from the time of the founding figures of Buddhism and Jainism during the sixth century BCE through the seventh century CE dynasties of the Chalukyas and the Pallavas in southern India Throughout he emphasizes encounter interaction debate critique and borrowing among religious communities within a shared changing social and political reality The voices and visions of early India's religions Davis shows us are fascinating in their multiplicity

Geological History of Britain and Ireland Nigel H. Woodcock, R. A. Strachan, 2009-04-01 Britain Ireland and their surrounding areas have a remarkably varied geology for so small a fragment of continental crust This region contains a fine rock record from all the geological periods from Quaternary back to Cambrian and a less continuous but still impressive catalogue of events back through nearly 2500 million years of Precambrian time This protracted geological history would have been interesting enough to reconstruct if it had been played out on relatively stable continental crust However Britain and Ireland have developed instead at a tectonic crossroads on crust traversed intermittently by subduction zones and volcanic arcs continental rifts and mountain belts The resulting complexity makes the geological history of this region at once fascinating and perplexing Geological History of Britain and Ireland tells the geological story of the region at a level accessible to undergraduate geologists as well as to postgraduates professionals or informed amateurs The book takes a multi disciplinary rather than a purely stratigraphical approach and aims to bring to life the processes behind the catalogue of historical events Full coverage is given to the rich Precambrian and Early Palaeozoic history as well as to later events more relevant to hydrocarbon exploration The book is profusely illustrated and contains guides to further reading and full references to data sources making it an essential starting point for more detailed studies of the regional geology All British Earth science undergraduates will be required to spend some time studying British Geological History and this book will be the only one available to British undergraduates The book takes a process based approach rather than simply describing the regional stratigraphy Lavishly illustrated with high quality diagrams Patterns and Processes of Vertebrate Evolution Robert Lynn Carroll,1997-04-28 The factors that influenced the evolution of the vertebrates are compared with the importance of variation and selection that Darwin emphasised in this broad study of the patterns and forces of evolutionary change The Limits of Settlement Growth Roland Fletcher,1995-09-29 In this study Roland Fletcher argues that the built environment becomes a constraint on the long term development of a settlement It is costly to move settlements or to demolish and rebuild from scratch so the initial layout and buildings and the forms of communication that result may come to shackle further development and also to place constraints on social and political change Using this theoretical framework Dr Fletcher reviews worldwide settlement growth over the past 15 000 years and concludes with a major discussion of the great transformations of human settlements from mobile to sedentary sedentary to urban and urban to industrial This book is an ambitious contribution to archaeological theory and the questions it raises also have implications for the future of urban settlement People and the Earth John James William Rogers,P. Geoffrey Feiss,1998-03-13 This book discusses the basic components of human interaction with the earth and speculates on what the future may hold

House Guests, House Pests Richard Jones,2015-02-12 A witty and informative guide to nature in the home presented with vintage style Today we live in snug well furnished houses surrounded by the trappings of a civilised life But we are not alone we suffer a constant stream of unwanted visitors Our houses our food our belongings our very existence are under constant attack from a host of invaders eager to take advantage of our shelter our food stores and our tasty soft furnishings From bats in the belfry to beetles in the cellar moths in the wardrobe and mosquitoes in the bedroom humans cannot escape the attentions of the animal kingdom Nature may be red in tooth and claw but when it s our blood the bedbugs are after when it s our cereal bowl that s littered with mouse droppings and when it s our favourite chair that collapses due to woodworm in the legs it really brings it home the fact that we and our homes are part of nature too This book represents a 21st century version of the classic Medieval bestiary It poses questions such as where these animals came from can we live with them can we get rid of them and should we Written in Richard Jones s engaging style and with a funky retro design House Guests House Pests will be a book to treasure Sedimentary Basins Gerhard Einsele,2013-06-29 The modern geological sciences are characterized by extraordinarily rapid progress as well as by the development and application of numerous new and refined methods most of them handling an enormous amount of data available from all the continents and oceans. Given this state of affairs it seems inevitable that many students and professionals tend to become experts in relatively narrow fields and thereby are in danger of losing a broad view of current knowledge. The abundance of new books and symposium volumes testifies to this trend toward specialization. However, many geologic processes are complex and result from the interaction of many seemingly unrelated individual factors. This signifies that we still need generalists who have the broad overview and are able to evaluate the great variety of factors and processes controlling a geologic system such as a sedimentary basin. In addition, this also means that cooperation with other disciplines in the natural sciences and engineering is increasingly important. Modern text books providing this broad overview of the earth sciences are rare.

Archaeological Oceanography Robert D. Ballard, 2021-09-14. Archaeological Oceanography is the definitive book on the newly emerging field of deep sea archaeology. Marine archaeologists have been finding and excavating underwater shipwrecks since at least the early 1950s but until recently their explorations have been restricted to depths considered shallow by oceanographic standards. This book describes the latest advances that enable researchers to probe the secrets of the deep ocean and the vital contributions these advances offer to archaeology and fields like maritime history and anthropology. Renowned oceanographer Robert Ballard who stunned the world with his discovery of the Titanic deep in the North Atlantic has gathered together the pioneers of archaeological oceanography: a cross-disciplinary group of archaeologists, oceanographers, ocean engineers, and anthropologists who have undertaken ambitious expeditions into the deep sea. In this book they discuss the history of archaeological oceanography and the evolution and use of advanced deep submergence technology to locate and excavate ancient and modern shipwrecks and cultural and other sites deep under water. They offer examples from their own expeditions and explain the challenges future programs face in obtaining access to the resources needed to carry out this important and exciting research. The contributors are Robert D. Ballard, Ali Can, Dwight F. Coleman, Mike J. Durbin, Ryan Eustace, Brendan Foley, Cathy Giangrande, Todd S. Gregory, Rachel L. Horlings, Jonathan Howland, Kevin McBride, James B. Newman, Dennis Piechota, Oscar Pizarro, Christopher Roman, Hanumant Singh, Cheryl Ward, and Sarah Webster.
