Knowledge for the Network Society David V. Gibson, Manuel V. Heitor, Alejandro Ibarra Yunez, 2005 This title discusses technology policy and management in a context much influenced by a dynamic of change and a necessary balance between the creation and diffusion of knowledge It is largely grounded on empirical experiences of different regional and national contexts Workplace Learning John Bratton, Jean C. Helms Mills, Peter Sawchuk, 2003-12-01 Published Under the

Garamond Imprint This innovative book is concerned with the power relations complexities and contradictions in the paid workplace Workplace learning is not value free or politically neutral and cannot be studied independently of the political economy of work Workplace Learning is part of a growing body of work that offers an alternative to mainstream approaches to workplace learning recognizing that power relations politics and conflicts of interest all shape learning The authors emphasize the lived experiences of working people avoiding prescriptive accounts and uncritical Human Resource Development views Comments Here is a map through contested and largely uncharted terrain from the foreword by D Arcy Martin

Skill Acquisition and Training Addie Johnson,Robert W. Proctor,2016-08-19 Skill Acquisition and Training describes the building blocks of cognitive motor and teamwork skills and the factors to take into account in training them The basic processes of perception cognition and action that provide the foundation for understanding skilled performance are discussed in the context of complex task requirements individual differences and extreme environmental demands The role of attention in perceiving selecting and becoming aware of information in learning new information and in performance is described in the context of specific skills A theme throughout this book is that much learning is implicit the types of knowledge and relations that can profitably be learned implicitly and the conditions under which this learning benefits performance are discussed The question of whether skill acquisition in cognitive domains shares underlying mechanisms with the acquisition of perceptual and motor skills is also addressed with a view to identifying commonalities that allow for widely applicable general theories of skill acquisition Because the complexity of real world environments puts demands on the individual to adapt to new circumstances the question of how skills research can be applied to organizational training contexts is an important one To address this this book dedicates much content to practical applications covering such issues as how training needs can be captured with task and job analyses and how to maximize training transfer by taking trainee self efficacy and goal orientation into account This comprehensive yet readable textbook is optimized for students of cognitive psychology looking to understand the intricacies of skill acquisition
