and Governance of Higher Education James T. Harris, Jason E. Lane, Jeffrey C. Sun, Gail F. Baker, 2023-07-03 Winner of the 2012 ASHE CAHEP Barbara Townsend Lecture Award To prosper and thrive in an increasingly unpredictable national and global environment U S higher education will need to adapt innovate and evolve once again as it has during every major societal change over the past four centuries The purpose of this new edition published a turbulent decade after the first is to provide institutional leaders from department chairs to trustees with a broad understanding of the academic enterprise strategic guidance and key principles to assist them in navigating the future and drive the success of their institutions as they confront the unimagined Recognizing that the hallmark of higher education in the U S is the diversity of institution types each of which is affected differently by external and internal influences the authors provide examples and ideas drawn from the spectrum of colleges and universities in the not for profit sector This book covers the major functions and constituent departments and units within institutions the stakeholders from students and faculty through the echelons of administration the external environment of elected officials foundations philanthropists and the new changing media and innovations in teaching technology data analytics legal frameworks as well as economic demographic and political pressures The book is informed by the proposition that adhering to four principles which the authors identify as having enabled institutions of higher education to successfully navigate ever changing and volatile pasts will enable them to flourish in the coming decades The four principles are 1 Be mission centric by making all key decisions based on a core mission and set of values 2 Be able to adapt to environmental change in alignment with the mission and core values 3 Be committed to democratic ideals by seeking to promote them and modeling democratic practices on and off campus 4 Be models for inclusion equity and positive social change

Becoming a Student-Ready College Tia Brown McNair, Susan Albertine, Michelle Asha Cooper, Nicole McDonald, Thomas Major, Jr., 2016-06-27 Boost student success by reversing your perspective on college readiness The national conversation asking Are students college ready concentrates on numerous factors that are beyond higher education s control Becoming a Student Ready College flips the college readiness conversation to provide a new perspective on creating institutional value and facilitating student success Instead of focusing on student preparedness for college or lack thereof this book asks the more pragmatic question of what are colleges and universities doing to prepare for the students who are entering their institutions What must change in an institution s policies practices and culture in order to be student ready Clear and concise this book is packed with insightful discussion and practical strategies for achieving your ambitious student success goals These ideas for redesigning practices and policies provide more than food for thought they offer a real world framework for real institutional change You ll learn How educators can acknowledge their own biases and assumptions about underserved students in order to allow for change New ways to advance student learning and success How to develop and value student assets and social capital Strategies and approaches for creating a new student focused culture of leadership at every level To truly become student ready educators must make difficult decisions face the pressures of accountability and address their preconceived notions about student success head on Becoming a Student Ready College provides a reality check based on today s higher education environment

New Realities in the Management of Student Affairs Ashley Tull,Linda Kuk,2023-07-03 Student affairs organizations are at a crossroads They face expanding enrollments a concomitant increase need for often more complex services changing demographics a growing cohort of non traditional and first generation students shifting and more demanding responsibilities and increased expectations from the greater campus community parents and external constituents These challenges are intensified by the accelerating speed of advancements in technology globalization innovation and student consumerism and by the long term reality of shrinking resources and limitations on the ability to increase tuition and fees This book shares alternative ideas about organizational design and about ways to restructure roles and responsibilities to enable student affairs organizations to respond to these challenges and demands more effectively at a time of reduced resources It also addresses the many emerging roles that student affairs organizations are increasingly being expected to address such as IT fund raising and development external communications human resources management and professional development as well as research and assessment and describes approaches developed by a variety of institutions The contributors also pay attention to the solutions appropriate for smaller institutions and for community colleges They explore the various dimensions of change and offer frameworks to help student affairs leaders and practitioners to more effectively understand and manage the changes they are confronting and describe ideas and solutions adopted by others within the profession

Learning Analytics in Higher Education Jaime Lester,Carrie Klein,Huzefa Rangwala,Aditya Johri,2017-12-21 Learning analytics or educational big data tools are increasingly being deployed on campuses to improve student performance retention and completion especially when those metrics are tied to funding Providing personalized real time actionable feedback through mining and analysis of large data sets learning analytics can illuminate trends and predict future outcomes While promising there is limited and mixed empirical evidence related to its efficacy to improve student retention and completion Further learning analytics tools are used by a variety of people on campus and as such its use in practice may not align with institutional intent This monograph delves into the research literature and issues associated with learning analytics implementation adoption and use by individuals within higher education institutions With it readers will gain a greater understanding of the potential and challenges related to implementing adopting and integrating these systems on their campuses and within their classrooms and advising sessions This is the fifth issue of the 43rd volume of the Jossey Bass series ASHE Higher Education Report Each monograph is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education issue based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences Topics are identified by a national survey Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication
