Neerlands Scheepsbouw En Scheepvaart Deel Ii Scheepvaart:

Marine Insurance in the Netherlands 1600-1870 Sabine Go, 2009 Marine insurance has been of great importance to the expansion of long distance trade and economic growth in the early modern period in particular for seafaring nations such as the Dutch Republic The Amsterdam market became Europe s leading insurance market and within the Republic other insurance systems also emerged Little is known about the differing institutional frameworks governing these industries and the interaction between the institutions and the actors in the industry This study examines the development of marine insurance in the Netherlands in Amsterdam Rotterdam and the province of Groningen from c 1600 to 1870 from an institutional point of view It examines how the behavior of authorities insurers underwriters and brokers was affected by the formal and informal constraints of the industry and how in turn their conduct has influenced the institutional framework and induced institutional change Three insurance systems in the Netherlands each with its own distinctive characteristics and the interaction between institutions and actors is examined By examining developments over a period of two and half centuries the path of long term institutional change becomes discernable
