Mohawk Interruptus Political Life Across The Borders Of Settler States:

Mohawk Interruptus Audra Simpson, 2014-05-09 Mohawk Interruptus is a bold challenge to dominant thinking in the fields of Native studies and anthropology Combining political theory with ethnographic research among the Mohawks of Kahnawake a reserve community in what is now southwestern Quebec Audra Simpson examines their struggles to articulate and maintain political sovereignty through centuries of settler colonialism The Kahnawake Mohawks are part of the Haudenosaunee or Iroquois Confederacy Like many Iroquois peoples they insist on the integrity of Haudenosaunee governance and refuse American or Canadian citizenship Audra Simpson thinks through this politics of refusal which stands in stark contrast to the politics of cultural recognition Tracing the implications of refusal Simpson argues that one sovereign political order can exist nested within a sovereign state albeit with enormous tension around issues of jurisdiction and legitimacy Finally Simpson critiques anthropologists and political scientists whom she argues have too readily accepted the assumption that the colonial project is complete Belying that notion Mohawk Interruptus calls for and demonstrates more robust and evenhanded forms of inquiry into indigenous politics in the teeth of settler governance Sovereign Acts

Frances Negrón-Muntaner, 2017-11-21 While the sovereign nation state is considered the world's political norm millions of colonial subjects immigrants refugees and native peoples appear to be without sovereignty What claims have they to sovereignty If they cannot ever constitute themselves into sovereign nation states are they out of the political game Can a framework like sovereignty used historically to exploit dispossess and even exterminate people be a part of a struggle for political freedom Editor Frances Negrón Muntaner and the contributors to Sovereign Acts engage in a debate around these questions with surprising results Moving the idea of sovereignty beyond the narrow confines of the nation state beyond the concept of a power that one either has or lacks this paradigm shifting work examines the multiple ways that Indigenous nations and U.S. territorial peoples act as sovereign and the possible limits of such sovereign acts within the current globalized context A valuable contribution to the debate around indigenous and other conceptions of sovereignty Sovereign Acts goes further than legal frameworks to investigate the relationships among sovereignty gender sexuality representation and the body From activist style and choreography to the politics of recognition the scholars and artists featured in this unique volume map out how people disrupt modern notions of sovereignty attempt to redefine what being sovereign means or seek alternative political vocabularies Sovereignty is not only after all a kingdom and a crown CONTRIBUTORS Michael Lujan Bevacqua Glen Coulthard Jennifer Nez Denetdale Adriana Mar a Garriga Lopez Jessica A F Harkins Brian Klopotek Davianna Pomaika i McGregor Frances Negrón Muntaner Yasmin Ramirez Mark Rifkin Madeline Román Stephanie Nohelani Teves Fa'anofa Lisaclaire Uperesa Indigenous Peoples and Borders Sheryl Lightfoot, Elsa Stamatopoulou, 2023-12-04

At Home and Abroad Elizabeth Shakman Hurd, Winnifred Fallers Sullivan, 2021-03-02

From right to left notions of religion and religious freedom are fundamental to how many Americans have understood their country and themselves Ideas of religion politics and the interplay between them are no less crucial to how the United States has engaged with the world beyond its borders Yet scholarship on American religion tends to bracket the domestic and foreign despite the fact that assumptions about the differences between ourselves and others deeply shape American religious categories and identities At Home and Abroad bridges the divide in the study of American religion law and politics between domestic and international bringing together diverse and distinguished authors from religious studies law American studies sociology history and political science to explore interrelations across conceptual and political boundaries They bring into sharp focus the ideas people and institutions that provide links between domestic and foreign religious politics and policies Contributors break down the categories of domestic and foreign and inquire into how these taxonomies are related to other axes of discrimination asking questions such as What and who counts as home or abroad how and by whom are these determinations made and with what consequences Offering a new approach to theorizing the politics of religion in the context of the American nation state At Home and Abroad also interrogates American religious exceptionalism and illuminates imperial dynamics beyond the United States

Lordship and Liberation in Palestine-Israel

Muhannad Ayyash, 2025-07-22 This interdisciplinary book provides timely fresh perspective on Palestine Israel by rethinking the nature of settler colonial sovereignty and the relationship between land and people Muhannad Ayyash argues that this relationship comes in two distinct forms a settler colonial type practiced by the Israeli state that consists of lordship over land and people and a decolonial type seen in Palestinian popular organizing that he calls land as life a reciprocal bond The former is characterized by private ownership possession and violent expulsion of others the latter by communal ownership belonging to the land and opposition to the violence of expulsion Ranging widely across theory and history Ayyash contends that the opposition between these two types is at the core of the Palestinian Israeli struggle The choice before us today he concludes is between the continuation of the Israeli settler colonial project in particular and the project of colonial modernity in general or the commencement of a decolonial age in Palestine Israel and beyond Offering both novel theorizations and politically engaged analysis Lordship and Liberation in Palestine Israel illuminates how decolonial sovereignties represent an alternative to settler colonial violence

Disturbed Ecologies Darcy White, Julia Peck, Chris Goldie, 2023-03-03 The imaginaries of northern landscape have not remained static in the era of ecological crisis but play a pivotal function within the geopolitics of visual representation Such imaginaries can sanction those dominant discourses that frame environmental catastrophe as the consequence of undifferentiated human activity but it is argued they also have the capacity to represent a complexity and heterogeneity frequently absent from this broad discursive field The contributors to this volume engage with the practice curation and utilization of photography and other lens based media to examine the critical role of visual culture in shaping and interrogating conceptions of environmental catastrophe
