Neoliberalism Interrupted Social Change And Contested Governance In Contemporary Latin America:

Neoliberalism, Interrupted Mark Goodale, Nancy Postero, 2013-05-29 In the 1980s and 1990s neoliberal forms of governance largely dominated Latin American political and social life Neoliberalism Interrupted examines the recent and diverse proliferation of responses to neoliberalism's hegemony In so doing this vanguard collection of case studies undermines the conventional dichotomies used to understand transformation in this region such as neoliberalism vs socialism right vs left indigenous vs mestizo and national vs transnational Deploying both ethnographic research and more synthetic reflections on meaning consequence and possibility the essays focus on the ways in which a range of unresolved contradictions interconnect various projects for change and resistance to change in Latin America Useful to students and scholars across disciplines this groundbreaking volume reorients how sociopolitical change has been understood and practiced in Latin America It also carries important lessons for other parts of the world with similar histories and structural conditions

New Approaches to Latin American Studies Juan Poblete, 2017-09-13 Academic and research fields are moved by fads waves revolutionaries paradigm shifts and turns They all imply a certain degree of change that alters the conditions of a stable system producing an imbalance that needs to be addressed by the field itself New Approaches to Latin American Studies Culture and Power offers researchers and students from different theoretical fields an essential turn organized overview of the radical transformation of epistemological and methodological assumptions in Latin American Studies from the end of the 1980s to the present Sixteen chapters written by experts in their respective fields help explain the various ways in which to think about these shifts Questions posited include Why are turns so crucial How did they alter the shape or direction of the field What new questions objects or problems did they contribute What were or are their limitations What did they displace or prevent us from considering Among the turns included are memory transnational popular culture decolonial feminism affect indigenous studies transatlantic ethical post hegemony deconstruction cultural policy subalternism gender and sexuality performance and cultural studies

Panic, Transnational Cultural Studies, and the Affective Contours of Power Micol Seigel, 2018-07-04 This volume explores the panic that is a central affective register of our current international order Fears of Somali pirates Gypsy kidnappers African warlords Ebola Mexican meth pimps coyotes gangs climate refugees and more structure the dark side of a metropolitan unconscious These are terrors over things that might cross borders threatening the sanctity of territoriality and capital Inspired by scholarship challenging panics around human and sex trafficking the contributors to this volume develop the umbrella category of the global moral panic Embracing the challenge of grasping a phenomenon not previously regarded as cohering they consider panics provoked by travel passage transgression panics over bodies that move Like panics over trafficking the episodes narrated here ride and feed a field of common sense regarding crime rights and state power Their logics of victims and villains nourish notions of the centrality of punishment drawing from and feeding taxonomies of gender race and nation solidifying the order craved by capital They spotlight the coloniality of power the ongoing salience of empire the savior logics of rescue and the profound sexism organizing hierarchies of bodies and places Panic this volume diagnoses is a crucial undertheorized facet of contemporary local global relations

The Indigenous State Nancy Postero, 2017-05-05 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more In 2005 Bolivians elected their first indigenous president Evo Morales Ushering in a new democratic cultural revolution Morales promised to overturn neoliberalism and inaugurate a new decolonized society In this perceptive new book Nancy Postero examines the successes and failures that have followed in the ten years since Morales's election While the Morales government has made many changes that have benefited Bolivia's majority indigenous population it has also consolidated power and reinforced extractivist development models In the process indigeneity has been transformed from a site of emancipatory politics to a site of liberal nation state building By carefully tracing the political origins and practices of decolonization among activists government administrators and ordinary citizens Postero makes an important contribution to our understanding of the meaning and impact of Bolivia's indigenous state

The Five Hundred Year Rebellion Benjamin Dangl, 2019-05-14 After centuries of colonial domination and a twentieth century riddled with dictatorships indigenous peoples in Bolivia embarked upon a social and political struggle that would change the country forever As part of that project activists took control of their own history starting in the 1960s by reaching back to oral traditions and then forward to new forms of print and broadcast media This book tells the fascinating story of how indigenous Bolivians recovered and popularized histories of past rebellions political models and leaders using them to build movements for rights land autonomy and political power Drawing from rich archival sources and the author's lively interviews with indigenous leaders and activist historians The Five Hundred Year Rebellion describes how movements tapped into centuries old veins of oral history and memory to produce manifestos booklets and radio programs on histories of resistance wielding them as tools to expand their struggles and radically transform society

Practising Feminist Political Ecologies Wendy Harcourt, Ingrid L. Nelson, 2015-05-14 Destined to transform its field this volume features some of the most exciting feminist scholars and activists working within feminist political ecology including Giovanna Di Chiro Dianne Rocheleau Catherine Walsh and Christa Wichterich Offering a collective critique of the green economy it features the latest analyses of the post Rio 20 debates alongside a nuanced reading of the impact of the current ecological and economic crises on women as well as their communities and ecologies This new politically timely and engaging text puts feminist political ecology back on the map

Histories of Perplexity A. Ricardo López-Pedrerós, Lina Britto, 2024-03-19 By combining chronological coverage analytical breadth and interdisciplinary approaches these two volumes Histories of Solitude and Histories of Perplexity study the histories of Colombia over the past two centuries as illustrations of the histories of democracy across the Americas The volumes bring together over 40 scholars based in Colombia the United States England and Canada working in various disciplines to discuss how a country that has been consistently presented as a rarity in Latin America provides critical examples to re-examine major historical problems: republicanism and liberalism, export economies and agrarian modernization, populism and cultural politics of state formation, revolutionary and counterinsurgent Cold War violence, neoliberal reforms and urban development, popular mobilization and counterhegemonic public spheres, political ecologies and environmental struggles, and labors of memory and the challenge of reconciliation. Contributors are sensitive to questions of subjectivity and discourse, observant of ethnographic details and micro-politics and attuned to macro perspectives such as transnational and global histories. These volumes offer fresh perspectives on Colombia and will be of great value to those interested in Latin American and Caribbean history.

Owners of the Sidewalk Daniel M. Goldstein, 2016-01-22 Many of Bolivia's poorest and most vulnerable citizens work as vendors in the Cancha mega market in the city of Cochabamba where they must navigate systems of informality and illegality in order to survive. In Owners of the Sidewalk Daniel M. Goldstein examines the ways these systems correlate in the marginal spaces of the Latin American city. Collaborating with the Cancha's legal and permanent stall vendors, fijos, and its illegal and itinerant street and sidewalk vendors, ambulantes, Goldstein shows how the state's deliberate neglect and criminalization of the Cancha's poor, a practice common to neoliberal modern cities, makes the poor exploitable, governable, and consigns them to an insecure existence. Goldstein's collaborative and engaged approach to ethnographic field research also opens up critical questions about what ethical scholarship entails.

Rethinking Private Higher Education, 2016-10-11 Rethinking Private Higher Education takes the university as a core institution in modern nation states which is currently undergoing a serious revision. It offers fresh insights into the actual meaning of private in different higher education contexts, contributing to a deeper understanding of the actual effects of global policies in local contexts through ethnographies. This book explores how private universities were established, their context and history, and their changing business models and operations. The strengths of this book are its ethnographic detail, which shows the complexity and fast-changing forms of private higher education and its reluctance to jump to simplified labelling of public and private. It is a model for further ethnographic studies of local developments in higher education. Contributors are Ayala Alem Daro, Lu Daniele Cantini, Carmela Chavez Irigoyen, Enrico Ille, Sylvie Mazzella, Alexander Mitterle, Annemarie Profanter, and Susan Wright.

Social Exchange Brian J. Burke, 2022-09-16 Social Exchange examines alternative economies, activism in Medellín, Colombia, using twenty-five years of grassroots experimentation with barter markets and community currencies to develop new insights about capitalist culture, social movement strategy, community building, and the transformation of subjectivities. Hopeful yet critical, this book serves as a useful think piece for activists and scholars alike.

Honduras in Dangerous Times James J. Phillips, 2015-10-16 Honduras in Dangerous Times: Resistance and Resilience explores how the people of Honduras use cultural resources to resist and to change the conditions of their society, to critique those conditions, and to create the pieces of a better future in the midst of a dangerous present. The book explores ideas and practices which support systems of dominance and submission in Honduras and the ways in which people have slowly developed a broad culture of resistance and resilience This culture includes struggling for land and environmental preservation against extractive industries promoting natural local food and sustainable technology to replace foreign agribusiness bringing a corrupt legal and political system to account by invoking concepts of human rights and laws routinely ignored bending institutional religion to issues of social justice and expressing protest and visions of a better society through popular culture The book highlights the special contribution of the country s indigenous peoples in resistance it also discusses the powerful role of the United States in shaping Honduran economic political and military life and what people to people solidarity with Hondurans means for citizens of the United States The book concludes by presenting Honduran popular resistance in a context of late neoliberalism in Honduras and in relation to other Latin American social movements Honduras in Dangerous Times shows that Hondurans resist in the face of violence and oppression not only because they are resilient but also that they are resilient because they resist Resistance keeps hope alive and change possible A Revolution in Fragments Mark Goodale, 2019-11-22 The years between 2006 and 2015 during which Evo Morales became Bolivia s first indigenous president have been described as a time of democratic and cultural revolution world renewal Pachakuti reconstituted neoliberalism or simply the process of change In A Revolution in Fragments Mark Goodale unpacks these various analytical and ideological frameworks to reveal the fragmentary and contested nature of Bolivia s radical experiments in pluralism ethnic politics and socioeconomic planning Privileging the voices of social movement leaders students indigenous intellectuals women s rights activists and many others Goodale uses contemporary Bolivia as an ideal case study with which to theorize the role that political agency identity and economic equality play within movements for justice and structural change

Extracting Honduras James J. Phillips,2022-01-04 With a focus on Honduras James J Phillips explores the deeper causes of the massive emigration of Central Americans to the United States Going beyond the frequently given reasons for migration Phillips provides a detailed account of how the frenzied extraction of natural resources has created massive community displacement dependency poverty and vulnerability while encouraging corruption violence gang recruitment drug trafficking militarization of Honduran society and systematic repression of popular protest and resistance Highlighting how this situation is tied to the colonial or imperial extractive relationship of Honduras to the United States Phillips contends that the usual policy of development aid and investment to stem migration will only worsen the conditions that create migration With this book Phillips depicts how the Central American immigration crisis shapes life in the United States and Honduras while making clear that the effects are not what populist politics imagine

Domesticating Democracy Susan Helen Ellison,2018-04-19 In Domesticating Democracy Susan Helen Ellison examines foreign funded alternate dispute resolution ADR organizations that provide legal aid and conflict resolution to vulnerable citizens in El Alto Bolivia Advocates argue that these programs help residents cope with their interpersonal disputes and economic troubles while avoiding an overburdened legal system and cumbersome state bureaucracies Ellison shows that ADR programs do more than that they aim to change the ways Bolivians interact with the state and with global capitalism making them into self reliant citizens ADR programs frequently encourage Bolivians to renounce confrontational expressions of discontent turning away from courtrooms physical violence and street protest and coming to the negotiation table Nevertheless residents of El

Alto find creative ways to take advantage of these micro level resources while still seeking justice and a democratic system capable of redressing the structural violence and vulnerability that ADR fails to treat Securing Territory Giorleny Altamirano Rayo, 2025 Why and how do some countries title Indigenous lands in some places and at certain times but not others What accounts for the selective implementation of Indigenous people s collective land and natural resource rights Conventional accounts hold that transnational activism and bottom up social movements push Indigenous land titling Other commonly held views are that economic interests and state weakness block these efforts Giorleny Altamirano Rayo shows Indigenous land titling is neither random nor methodical Rather she argues that state elites are motivated to title Indigenous lands to ensure internal order and reinforce the state s territorial power in remote regions Rayo unveils how state elites reshape Indigenous peoples ancestral land claims and transform pre existing property institutions into a governing mechanism akin to indirect rule By titling Indigenous lands state elites create new institutional arrangements in property that allows for the subordination monitoring and management of Indigenous society The broad implication is that state elites subject people that self identify as Indigenous to a new hierarchical system that perpetuates their political dependency and socioeconomic marginalization Altamirano Rayo leverages original data from three Latin American countries Brazil Honduras and Nicaragua and two additional countries of the Global South Indonesia and Kenya to propose the theory and test its reach using a combination of quantitative analysis and comparative case studies of six subnational regions since the 1980s Rayo develops a new framework to understand the speed and territorial patterns of Indigenous land titling and invites readers to rethink much of the conventional wisdom about the causes and effects of Indigenous land and natural resource rights allocation
