The Liberalisation of the Telecommunications Sector in Sub-Saharan Africa and Fostering Competition in Telecommunications Services Markets Rachel Alemu,2018-02-02 This study investigates whether the existing regulatory framework governing the telecommunications sector in countries in Sub Saharan Africa effectively deals with emerging competition related concerns in the liberalised sector Using Uganda as a case study it analyses the relevant provisions of the law governing competition in the telecommunications sector and presents three key findings Firstly while there is comprehensive legislation on interconnection and spectrum management inefficient enforcement of the legislation has perpetuated concerns surrounding spectrum scarcity and interconnection Secondly the legislative framework governing anti competitive behaviour though in line with the established principles of competition law is not sufficient Specifically the framework is not equipped to govern the conduct of multinational telecommunications groups that have a strong presence in the telecommunications sector Major factors hampering efficient competition regulation include Uganda s sole reliance on sector specific competition rules restricted available remedies and a regulator with limited experience of enforcing competition legislation The weaknesses in the framework strongly suggest the need to adopt an economy wide competition law Lastly wireless technology is the main means through which the population in Uganda accesses telecommunications services Greater emphasis should be placed on regulating conduct in the wireless communications markets Energy

Poverty Stefan Bouzarovski,2017-12-22 This open access book aims to consolidate and advance debates on European and global energy poverty by exploring the political and infrastructural drivers and implications of the condition across a variety of spatial scales It highlights the need for a geographical conceptualization of the different ways in which household level energy deprivation both influences and is contingent upon disparities occurring at a wider range of spatial scales There is a strong focus on the relationships among energy transformation institutional change and place based factors in determining the nature and location of energy related injustices The book also explores how patterns and structures of energy poverty have changed over time as evidenced by some of the common measures used to describe the condition In part this means investigating the makeup of energy poor demographics across various social and spatial cleavages More broadly it also argues that energy sector reconfigurations are both reflected in and shaped by various domains of social and political organization especially in terms of creating poverty relevant outcomes The ^ACritique of Commodification Christoph

Hermann,2021-07-05 In The Critique of Commodification Christoph Hermann argues that commodification entails production for profit rather than provision for need The focus on profits Hermann shows means that social needs are met in a way that excludes those who cannot pay and ensures high profits In going through the damaging effects of commodification Hermann also discusses alternatives based on the satisfaction of needs rather than maximization of profits The Nobel Factor Avner Offer,Gabriel Söderberg,2019-11-19 Economic theory may be speculative but its impact is powerful and real Since the 1970s it has been closely associated with a sweeping change around the world the market turn This is what Avner Offer and Gabriel Soderberg call the rise of market liberalism a movement that seeking to replace social democracy holds up buying and selling as the norm for human relations and society Our confidence in markets comes from economics and our confidence in economics is underpinned by the Nobel Prize in Economics which was first awarded in 1969 Was it a coincidence that the market turn and the prize began at the same time The Nobel Factor the first book to describe the origins and power of the most important prize in economics explores this and related questions by examining the history of the prize the history of economics since the prize began and the simultaneous struggle between market liberals and social democrats in Sweden Europe and the United States The Nobel Factor tells how the prize created by the Swedish central bank emerged from a conflict between central bank orthodoxy and social democracy The aim was to use the halo of the Nobel brand to enhance central bank authority and the prestige of market friendly economics in order to influence the future of Sweden and the rest of the developed world And this strategy has worked with sometimes disastrous results for societies striving to cope with the requirements of economic theory and deregulated markets
