Intersectionality in Educational Research Dannielle Joy Davis, James L. Olive, Rachelle J. Brunn-Bevel, 2023-07-03 The purpose of this work is to advance understanding of intersectional theory and its application to research in education. The scholars whose work appear in this volume utilize intersectional theory and research methods to work in fields and disciplines such as Education, Sociology, Women's Studies, Africana Studies, Human Development, Higher Education, Administration, Leadership Studies, and Justice Studies. The book illustrates how intersectional theory can be used in both quantitative and qualitative education research on college student access and success, faculty satisfaction and professional development, and K-12 educational issues such as high school dropouts and bullying. This book is unique as no other book ties intersectionality to the research process. Key Features: Readers will learn the basic tenets of intersectionality and how it can be useful in education research. Readers will learn how intersectionality can be used to analyze both quantitative large scale survey and qualitative interview, participant observation, and ethnographic data. Lastly, readers will learn how intersectionality can be particularly useful in examining the experiences of diverse groups of students attending elementary schools, high schools, colleges, and universities, and faculty working at post secondary institutions. Intersectionality is increasingly being used in research and education. This theory holds great promise in exploring students' experiences in terms of access, success, and outcomes for marginalized groups. In essence, application of the theory promotes critical, complex thinking regarding the intersectionality of race, class, and gender and their outcomes.

History of Black Women Deans, College Alumnae Organizations, and Activism Ashla C. Hill, Roseboro, 2025-07-10 This historical account uncovers the lived experiences and history of pioneering Black women deans. Few scholars have studied the origins of Black deans of women and college graduates who were at the intersection of race and gender. Ashla C. Hill, Roseboro's History of Black Women Deans, College Alumnae Organizations, and Activism fills this gap by sharing the lived experiences of pioneering administrators at historically Black colleges and universities (HBCUs) and college alumnae who overcame barriers by forming their own professional circles. She investigates newspaper reports, articles, and artifacts from 1910 to the 1960s to provide insights on how these educated women advocated for higher education standards through the collective work of awarding scholarships to students, strategy meetings, and enrichment programs. This sisterhood emphasized how they took creative approaches to gain members, improve education, and promote equality. Past successes and struggles of these trailblazers illuminate how progress was made despite limitations and setbacks. This book points to the path taken by these mentoring leaders who sacrificed for the greater good of their communities. Leaders today can be inspired through these writings to continue being beacons of hope for greater equity towards a just society.

Mentoring as Critically Engaged Praxis Deirdre Cobb-Roberts, Talia Esnard, 2020-10-01 This edited volume seeks to interrogate the structures that affect the perceptions, experiences, performance, and practices of Black women administrators. The chapters examine the nature and dynamics of the conflict within that space and the ways in which they transcend or confront the intersecting structures of power in academe.

A related expectation is for interrogations of the ways in which their institutional contexts and marginalized status inform their navigational strategies and leadership practices More specifically this work explores mentorship as critical praxis that being the ways in which Black women s thinking and practices around mentoring affect their institutional contexts or environment and that of other marginalized groups within academe A discussion of Black women in higher education administration as critically engaged mentors will ultimately diversify thought approaches and solutions to larger social and structural challenges embedded within academic climates Praise for Mentoring as Critically Engaged Praxis Mentoring as Critically Engaged Praxis Storying the Lives and Contributions of Black Women Administrators the authors present insights on the challenges Black women face and how mentoring networks and strategies help them transcend professional and institutional barriers Each chapter intentionally creates a space to elevate their voices depicts the reciprocity on how they are transforming and being transformed by their institutional context and offers hope for improving the status of women leaders The power of this book is that it is an acknowledgement of Black women being the architect of their lives and is filled with meaningful content that is nuanced and offers a glimpse into how black women leaders continue to lift as they climb Ga tane Jean Marie Rowan University Mentoring as Critical Engaged Praxis perfectly captures a process that Black women have been facilitating practicing and innovating prior to and since their entry into the higher education Deirdre Cobb Roberts and Talia R Esnard have assembled a strong cast of scholars who eloquently speak to the role that Black women administrators play in their daily practice of Lift as we climb Despite the limited number of Black women in senior leadership roles across academe most if not all of them must consistently tackle institutional and societal injustices that shape their experiences and influence their capacity to mentor Lori Patton Davis The Ohio State University Contemporary Issues in Multicultural and Global Education Msengi, Clementine M.,Lartey, Grace K.,Sprott, Katherine R.,2022-05-13 In response to the COVID 19 pandemic many educational institutions across the globe had to close in person learning and turn to online learning Previous predictions on the future of education discussed the globalization of education through online learning that breaks down geographical barriers However many students parents and educators are still finding it challenging to adapt to new methods of instruction Creating global and multicultural classrooms creates additional challenges especially when considering diverse at risk and low income student populations Further study of these challenges is required to improve the future of global education Contemporary Issues in Multicultural and Global Education discusses research strategies best practices and insights dealing with important issues related to multicultural and global education Covering topics such as remote learning and sustainable leadership this premier reference source is ideal for educators policymakers administrators curriculum designers researchers academicians and students Black Experiences in Higher Education Sherella Cupid,Antione D. H. Marina, Sabrina N. Ross, 2016-04-01 In Beyond Retention Cultivating Spaces of Equity Fairness and Justice for Women of Color in U S Higher Education Brenda Marina and Sabrina N Ross address the continued underrepresentation of women faculty of color at predominantly White colleges and universities through a creative convergence of scholarship focused on intellectual activism and structural change Inspired by the African American oral tradition of call and response this text illuminates the calls or personal narratives of women faculty of color who identify racialized gendered sexualized and class based challenges associated with work in predominantly White institutions Accounts of social justice oriented strategies policies and practices that support women faculty of color and reflections by women of color who are senior faculty members serve as literal and metaphorical responses. The convergence of calls for social justice and equity minded responses and reflections in this text provide intellectual foundations for the development of higher education spaces where women faculty of color can thrive. Beyond Retention is a critical geographic project intended to identify and mitigate structures of oppression that act as barriers to the full incorporation of women of color in predominantly White academic contexts. This text will be of interest to scholars interested in curriculum topics of race, gender, sexuality and place. The text offers strategies for coping and success for women of color in doctoral programs, faculty positions and mid level administration positions within the academy as such. Beyond Retention will be a valuable addition to the reading libraries of each of these groups. Men and women with interests in the experiences of educators of color within predominantly White contexts will also gain valuable insights from this book as will individuals interested in various areas of women studies, multicultural education and diversity. Beyond Retention also provides accounts of practices and policies that have been successful in supporting the needs of women faculty of color. Knowledge gained from this text will be useful for higher education administrators seeking to improve the campus climate for faculty of color. Additionally, human resource directors, equal opportunity specialists and diversity trainers will find this text helpful when considering strategies for managing diversity.

Transforming Educator Preparation for Changing Times Robert D. Muller, 2024-06-01. This edited volume explores the progress, challenges and future prognoses of educator preparation programs preK-12 and higher education in the U.S. Using examples drawn from a large urban centered college of education, the book provides practical guidance and insights regarding teacher preparation and educational leadership. Edited by former NLU Dean Robert Muller and authored by NLU National College of Education faculty, the chapters explore how programs that prepare novice teachers provide advancement opportunities for practicing educators and develop education leaders. These programs have adapted to serve the needs of contemporary school institutions. This work is particularly timely given the myriad challenges facing the nation's teacher and education leader preparation pipeline and the critical role colleges of education play in addressing those needs. Primarily focused on leading institutional change in a large metropolitan college of education, this work will be of interest to colleges of education leaders and faculty, PK-12 and higher education teachers and leaders, policy makers and the broader teacher preparation and educator development field.

Founded in the 1880s, the Chicago based National College of Education (NCE) at National Louis University serves approximately 3,000 educators annually in its initial and advanced teacher preparation and educational leadership programs. For its commitments to diversity, inclusion and equity within transformative higher education, National Louis University was recognized as a top 20 school in Washington Monthly's 2022 National University Rankings. The book is divided into four major sections: Prepare. The authors explore how a college of education has approached equipping novice teachers for success as they enter the teaching profession. It focuses on the transformation of initial teacher preparation programs to meet the needs of contemporary schools and districts and profiles the programmatic initiatives to make those changes Advance The authors describe programs that support teachers as they advance in their careers and the role of continuing graduate education in developing exemplary educators Lead The authors address the challenges facing education leaders and adapting their professional development to equip them to lead It explores efforts to develop a cadre of leaders across education systems with the requisite knowledge and habits of mind to lead amidst unprecedented change Building the Institution The authors address several key cross cutting processes that support transformation efforts including strategy development and implementation partnership development technology deployment human capital development and data utilization
