Stevenson,1987 Unequal Learning Xin Xiang,2025 Inequality has been soaring across the globe in the past decades And the reproduction of inequality begins early in the life cycle in homes and schools In Unequal Learning Xin Xiang analyzes the different kinds of learning that goes on in four drastically different Chinese schools a rural school in a mountainous area a public school in an impoverished region of an emerging city a low cost private school serving rural migrants and a prestigious metropolitan public school that attracts the children of elite professionals and government officials As she shows the different learning opportunities available in these four communities contribute to the widening gulf between the rising metropolitan middle class and China s working classes Within classrooms children in urban elite schools experience pedagogies drastically different from those in less privileged communities despite the common preoccupation with preparing for exams Outside classrooms urban elite children learn to lead collaborate and compete through a variety of organized activities while rural children acquire competency in farm and household work Though these particular schools are located in China Xiang demonstrates how these four Chinese schools and communities reflect global trends as much as local peculiarities Ultimately addressing these pervasive and deep rooted educational inequalities requires moving beyond the paradigms of closing achievement gaps and reducing learning poverty Xiang calls for a thorough rethinking of whose knowledge and contribution counts and what good schools look like in China and beyond Powerfully argued and deeply researched this will be essential reading not just for scholars of China but anyone interested in how education systems both reproduce and exacerbate inequality Peace and World Order Studies Barbara J. Wien,1978-01-01 Assignments across the Curriculum Dan Melzer,2014-05-15 In Assignments across the Curriculum Dan Melzer analyzes the rhetorical features and genres of writing assignments through the writing to learn and writing in the disciplines perspectives Presenting the results of his study of 2 101 writing assignments from undergraduate courses in the natural sciences social sciences business and humanities in 100 postsecondary institutions in the United States Assignments across the Curriculum is unique in its cross institutional breadth and its focus on writing assignments The results provide a panoramic view of college writing in the United States Melzer s framework begins with the rhetorical situations of the assignments the purposes and audiences and broadens to include the assignments genres and discourse community contexts Among his conclusions is that courses connected to a writing across the curriculum WAC initiative ask students to write more often in a greater variety of genres and for a greater variety of purposes and audiences than non WAC courses do making a compelling case for the influence of the WAC movement Melzer s work also reveals patterns in the rhetorical situations genres and discourse communities of college writing in the United States These larger patterns are of interest to WAC practitioners working with faculty across disciplines to writing center coordinators and tutors working with students who bring assignments from a variety of fields to composition program administrators to first year writing instructors interested in preparing students for college writing and to high school teachers attempting to bridge the gap between high school and college writing
