Modernizing The Provincial City Toulouse 1945 1975:

Modernizing the Provincial City Rosemary Wakeman, 2013-10-01 Toulouse is one of the most striking examples of urban modernization both in France and in the rest of Europe In this book Rosemary Wakeman examines the postwar transformation of Toulouse and shows how urban landscape and architecture culture and economic life were altered by public modernization programs designed to build the new France Modernising Post-war France Nicholas Bullock, 2022-11-22 This book is about the role played by architects engineers and planners in transforming France during the three post war decades of growing prosperity a period when modernisation was a central priority of the state promising a way forward from the shame of defeat in 1940 to a place at the centre of the new Europe The first part of the book examines the scale of transformation showing how architecture and urbanism both served the cause of modernisation and shaped the identity of the new France Mainstream modernism was co opted to the service of the state from major public buildings to Gaullist plans for the transformation of Paris to establish the city as the capital of Europe By contrast the second part of the book explores the critique of state sponsored modernisation by radical architects from Le Corbusier to the young Turks of the 1960s such as Georges Candilis and the students who attacked the banality of mainstream modernism and its inability to address the growing problems of France s cities Following May 1968 the Beaux Arts was closed the Grand Prix de Rome symbol of the old order abolished for a while the establishment might continue as before but progressive architecture was set on a new course Beautifully illustrated and written to be accessible to all the book sets the discussion of architecture and urbanism in its social political and economic contexts As such it will appeal both to students and scholars of the history of architecture and urbanism and to those with a wider interest in France s post war history The Cambridge Companion to Modern French Culture Nicholas Hewitt, 2003-09-11 France entered the twentieth century as a powerful European and colonial nation In the course of the century her role changed dramatically in the first fifty years two World Wars and economic decline removed its status as a world power whilst the immediate post war era was marked by wars of independence in its colonies Yet at the same time in the second half of the century France entered a period of unprecedented growth and social transformation Throughout the century and into the new millennium France retained its former international reputation as a centre for cultural excellence and innovation and its culture together with that of the Francophone world reflected the increased richness and diversity of the period This 2003 Companion explores this vibrant culture and includes chapters on history language literature thought theatre architecture visual culture film and music and discuss the contributions of popular culture Francophone culture minorities and women Designing Tito's Capital Brigitte Le Normand, 2014-07-21 The devastation of World War II left the Yugoslavian capital of Belgrade in ruins Communist Party leader Josip Broz Tito saw this as a golden opportunity to recreate the city through his own vision of socialism In Designing Tito s Capital Brigitte Le Normand analyzes the unprecedented planning process called for by the new leader and the determination of planners to create an urban environment that would benefit all citizens Led first by architect Nikola Dobrovic and later by Milos Somborski planners blended the predominant school of European modernism and the socialist principles of efficient construction and space usage to produce a model for housing green space and working environments for the masses A major influence was modernist Le Corbusier and his Athens Charter published in 1943 which called for the total reconstruction of European cities transforming them into compact and verdant vertical cities unfettered by slumlords private interests and traffic congestion As Yugoslavia transitioned toward self management and market socialism the functionalist district of New Belgrade and its modern living were lauded as the model city of socialist man The glow of the utopian ideal would fade by the 1960s when market socialism had raised expectations for living standards and the government was eager for inhabitants to finance their own housing By 1972 a new master plan emerged under Aleksandar Dordevic fashioned with the assistance of American experts Espousing current theories about systems and rational process planning and using cutting edge computer technology the new plan left behind the dream for a functionalist Belgrade and instead focused on managing growth trends While the public resisted aspects of the new planning approach that seemed contrary to socialist values it embraced the idea of a decentralized city connected by mass transit Through extensive archival research and personal interviews with participants in the planning process Le Normand s comprehensive study documents the evolution of New Belgrade and its adoption and ultimate rejection of modernist principles while also situating it within larger continental and global contexts of politics economics and urban planning

Architecture in Development

Aggregate Architectural History Collaborative,2022-04-25 This extensive text investigates how architects planners and other related experts responded to the contexts and discourses of development after World War II Development theory did not manifest itself in tracts of economic and political theory alone It manifested itself in every sphere of expression where economic predicaments might be seen to impinge on cultural factors Architecture appears in development discourse as a terrain between culture and economics in that practitioners took on the mantle of modernist expression while also acquiring government contracts and immersing themselves in bureaucratic processes This book considers how for a brief period architects planners structural engineers and various practitioners of the built environment employed themselves in designing all the intimate spheres of life but from a consolidated space of expertise Seen in these terms development was to cite Arturo Escobar an immense design project itself one that requires radical disassembly and rethinking beyond the umbrella terms of global modernism and colonial modernities which risk erasing the sinews of conflict encountered in globalizing and modernizing architecture Encompassing countries as diverse as Israel Ghana Greece Belgium France India Mexico the United States Venezuela the Philippines South Korea Sierra Leone Singapore Turkey Cyprus Iraq Zambia and Canada the set of essays in this book cannot be considered exhaustive nor a field guide in the traditional sense Instead it offers theoretical reflections from the field based on extensive archival research This book sets out to examine the arrays of power resources technologies networking and knowledge that cluster around the term development and the manner in which architects and planners negotiated these thickets in their multiple capacities as knowledge experts as technicians as negotiators and as occasional authorities on settlements space domesticity education health and every other field where arguments for development were made

A History of Hygiene in Modern France Steven Zdatny, 2024-03-21 This book tells the story of an epochal change in the human condition that was part of what is often thought of as modernization a process that remade culture and society in France in the 19th and 20th centuries Hygiene Steven Zdatny convincingly contends was that change He reflects on how the development of hygiene changed the way people thought about and treated their bodies put an end to age old afflictions and brought comfort where discomfort had been the unavoidable companion of existence and helped produce a tripling of life expectancy The book considers how the evolution of hygiene produced a society where people washed often changed their clothes every day lived without lice and scabies and performed their natural functions indoors It reflects on developments in industrial plumbing public education government investment the invention of new products to keep bodies and homes clean and a parallel makeover in the expectations sensibilities and practices about what is proper and what is disgusting These developments the study reveals were not steady and did not happen everywhere at the same pace But in the fullness of time they produced a revolution in the human condition

Social Justice in Twentieth-Century

Europe Martin Conway, Camilo Erlichman, 2024-02-28 Social justice has returned to the heart of political debate in present day Europe But what does it mean in different national histories and political regimes and how has this changed over time This book provides the first historical account of the evolution of notions of social justice across Europe since the late nineteenth century Written by an international team of leading historians the book analyses the often divergent ways in which political movements state institutions intellectual groups and social organisations have understood and sought to achieve social justice Conceived as an emphatically European analysis covering both the eastern and western halves of the continent Social Justice in Twentieth Century Europe demonstrates that no political movement ever held exclusive ownership of the meaning of social justice Conversely its definition has always been strongly contested between those who would define it in terms of equality of conditions or of opportunity the security provided by state authority or the freedom of personal initiative the individual rights of a liberal order or the social solidarities of class nation confession or Volk
