Monet's Minutes André Dombrowski, 2023-01-01 A stunning exploration of the vital links between Claude Monet's Impressionism and the time technologies that helped define modernity in the nineteenth century Monet's Minutes is a revelatory account charting the relationship between the works of Claude Monet 1840-1926 founder of French Impressionism and one of the world's best known painters and the modern experience of time Andr Dombrowski illuminates Monet's celebration of instantaneity in the context of the late nineteenth century time technologies that underwrote it Monet's version of Impressionism demonstrated an acute awareness of the particularly modern pressures of time but until now scholars have not examined the histories and technologies of time and timekeeping that informed Impressionism's major stylistic shifts Arguing that the fascination with instantaneity rejected the dulling cultures of newly routinized and standardized time Monet's Minutes traces the evolution of Monet's art to what were then seismic shifts in the shape of time itself In each chapter Dombrowski focuses on the connections between a set of Monet's works and a specific technology or experience of time while providing the voices of period critics responding to Impressionism Grounded in exceptional research and analyses this book offers new interpretations of key works by Monet and a fresh perspective on late nineteenth century art society and modern temporality Art in Story Marianne Saccardi, 2007 Art in Story focuses on art of the ancient world of the East and Africa of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance Monet's Giverny William H. Impressionism John House, 2004-01-01 A new perspective on Impressionist art that offers revealing fresh interpretations of familiar paintings In this handsome book a leading authority on Impressionist painting offers a new view of this admired and immensely popular art form John House examines the style and technique subject matter and imagery exhibiting and marketing strategies and social political and ideological contexts of Impressionism in light of the perspectives that have been brought to it in the last twenty years When all of these diverse approaches are taken into account he argues Impressionism can be seen as a movement that challenged both artistic and political authority with its uncompromisingly modern subject matter and its determinedly secular worldview Moving from the late 1860s to the early 1880s House analyzes the paintings and career strategies of the leading Impressionist artists pointing out the ways in which they countered the dominant conventions of the contemporary art world and evolved their distinctive and immediately recognizable manner of painting Focusing closely on the technique composition and imagery of the paintings themselves and combining this fresh appraisal with recent historical studies of Impressionism House explores how pictorial style could generate social and political meanings and opens new ways of looking at this luminous art

Impressionist Giverny Nina Lübbren, Kathleen Pyne, Margaret Werth, San Diego Museum of Art, 2007 Between 1885 and 1915 the village of Giverny in France attracted more than 350 artists from at least eighteen countries around the world transforming from a sleepy community to a vibrant and important artists colony The presence of master impressionist painter Claude Monet who settled in the village in 1883 attracted these young artists but his presence does not solely explain Giverny's popularity Artists also sought the opportunity to combine the practice of plein air painting with an active social life and enjoyed the locale's picturesque features and easy proximity to Paris. Many artists visited briefly while others purchased homes and studios making this Norman village an artistic center. American Art at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, 2010. With this publication produced in conjunction with the largest expansion in the history of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, the full scope of the museum's outstanding American art collection is represented for the first time. Following an introduction tracing the history of American art at this encyclopedic museum, a state-supported privately endowed institution, readers will discover lively and generously illustrated essays about selected paintings, sculptures, and works on paper by many of America's leading artists: John James Audubon, Thomas Hart Benton, Mary Cassatt, Frederic Church, John Singleton Copley, Edward Hopper, Jacob Lawrence, Georgia O'Keeffe, Charles Willson Peale, Augustus Saint Gaudens, John Singer Sargent, William Wetmore Story, Henry Ossawa Tanner, and James McNeill Whistler. Also included are decorative objects by well-known artisans and firms such as John Henry Belter, the Goddard Townsend group, Herter Brothers, Paul Revere, Louis Comfort Tiffany, and Frank Lloyd Wright. Organized in chronological sections ranging from the colonial era to the mid-twentieth century, this long-awaited book examines a noteworthy collection through a variety of interpretive lenses: aesthetic and cultural, for the benefit of a broad readership. Published by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in association with the University of Virginia Press. The Art of Impressionism Anthea Callen, 2000-01-01. Drawing on scientific studies of pigments and materials, artists' treatises, colourmen's archives, and contemporary and modern accounts, Anthea Callen demonstrates how raw materials and paintings are profoundly interdependent. She analyses the material constituents of oil painting and the complex processes of making entailed in all aspects of artistic production, discussing in particular oil painting methods for landscapists and the impact of plein air light on figure painting, studio practice, and display. Insisting that the meanings of paintings are constituted by and within the cultural matrices that produced them, Callen argues that the real modernity of the Impressionist enterprise lies in the painters' material practices. BOOK JACKET The Publishers Weekly, 2006. Redefining Gender in American Impressionist Studio Paintings Kirstin Ringelberg, 2017-07-05. Were late nineteenth-century gender boundaries as restrictive as is generally held? In Redefining Gender in American Impressionist Studio Paintings, Work Place Domestic Space, Kirstin Ringelberg argues that it is time to bring the current re-evaluation of the notion of separate spheres to these images. Focusing on studio paintings by American artists William Merritt Chase and Mary Fairchild MacMonnies Low, she explores how the home-based painting studio existed outside of entrenched gendered divisions of public and private space and argues that representations of these studios are at odds with standard perceptions of the images, their creators, and the concept of gender in the nineteenth century. Unlike most of their bourgeois contemporaries, Gilded Age artists, whether male or female, often melded the worlds of work and home. Through analysis of both paintings and literature of the time, Ringelberg reveals how art history continues to support a false dichotomy that, in fact, paintings that show women negotiating a complex combination of professionalism and domesticity are still overlooked in favor of those that emphasize women as decorative objects Redefining Gender in American Impressionist Studio Paintings challenges the dominant interpretation of American and European Impressionism and considers both men and women artists as active performers of multivalent identities
