Harriet Beecher Stowe Joan D. Hedrick, 1995-06-01 Up to this year I have always felt that I had no particular call to meddle with this subject But I feel now that the time is come when even a woman or a child who can speak a word for freedom and humanity is bound to speak Thus did Harriet Beecher Stowe announce her decision to begin work on what would become one of the most influential novels ever written The subject she had hesitated to meddle with was slavery and the novel of course was Uncle Tom's Cabin Still debated today for its portrayal of African Americans and its unresolved place in the literary canon Stowe's best known work was first published in weekly installments from June 5 1851 to April 1 1852 It caused such a stir in both the North and South and even in Great Britain that when Stowe met President Lincoln in 1862 he is said to have greeted her with the words So you are the little woman who wrote the book that created this great war In this landmark book the first full scale biography of Harriet Beecher Stowe in over fifty years Joan D Hedrick tells the absorbing story of this gifted complex and contradictory woman Hedrick takes readers into the multilayered world of nineteenth century morals and mores exploring the influence of then popular ideas of true womanhood on Stowe's upbringing as a member of the outspoken Beecher clan and her eventful life as a writer and shaper of public opinion who was also a mother of seven. It offers a lively record of the flourishing parlor societies that launched and sustained Stowe throughout the 44 years of her career and the harsh physical realities that governed so many women's lives. The epidemics, high infant mortality and often disastrous medical practices of the day are portrayed in moving detail against the backdrop of western expansion and the great social upheaval accompanying the abolitionist movement and the entry of women into public life. Here are Stowe's public triumphs both before and after the Civil War and the private tragedies that included the death of her adored eighteen-month-old son, the drowning of another son and the alcohol and morphine addictions of two of her other children. The daughter, sister and wife of prominent ministers, Stowe channeled her anguish and her ambition into a socially acceptable anger on behalf of others, transforming her private experience into powerful narratives that moved a nation. Magisterial in its breadth and rich in detail, this definitive portrait explores the full measure of Harriet Beecher Stowe's life and her contribution to American literature. Perceptive and engaging, it illuminates the career of a major writer during the transition of literature from an amateur pastime to a profession and offers a fascinating look at the pains, pleasures and accomplishments of women's lives in the last century.

The Encyclopedia of Best Films Jay Robert Nash, 2019-10-23. This all-inclusive A-Z encyclopedia by one of the world's foremost experts on cinema provides comprehensive annotations of the best films produced from 1914 on. The work offers more than 5,000 three to five star entries: three stars, good, four stars, excellent, five stars, masterpiece, and yes, author Jay Robert Nash has viewed every single one of them as well as many more that did not make the cut. In addition to a précis, each film's entry also includes a listing of the cast as well as the key principles involved in production, from the director to the hair stylist. Especially unique to this book is a rating system that helps parents determine whether or not a film is appropriate for their children. Unlike the industry rating system, which can be influenced by studio lobbying, Nash objectively evaluates each film and confers upon it one of four recommendations for viewing: recommended, acceptable, cautionary, and unacceptable. Backmatter includes a list of top films by genre, i.e. animated, drama, sports, mystery, adventure, etc., as well as an annotated name index listing all persons mentioned along with their dates of birth and death. Rounding out this essential volume for the film buff are over 500 still photos from the author's private collection.

Post-War British Fiction As 'Metaphysical Ethnography' Roula Ikonomakis, 2008. The Second World War marked an ethical turn in British fiction. The author of this study demonstrates this by closely examining John Fowles's and Iris Murdoch's works as post-war meta-textual magical realist novels interested in ethics and the nature of contemporary reality. These ethical novels transcend mere morality to explore the essence of the Good through paradigms of human experience; they direct our attention towards the Other and impart moral principles based on acts of Goodness. The author assesses the moral intimations in Fowles's The Magus and Murdoch's The Sea, the Sea in the context of their philosophical writings, mainly The Aristos and Metaphysics as a Guide to Morals, respectively. She shows that Fowles and Murdoch endeavour to instruct the reader morally through the accessible language of fiction
