One Small Place by the Sea Barbara Brenner, 2004-03-16 At the seashore High tide rushes in to fill a sandy basin with water At first glance it may seem like an ordinary puddle But look again Do you spy the ochre sea star or the tentacles of the giant green anemones Look even closer Now can you see the hermit crabs and turban snails the barnacles and periwinkles In lyrical prose Barbara Brenner reveals the fascinating happenings in one small place She explains the recurring formation of tide pools and the remarkable interdependence of their creatures Tom Leonard's brilliant illustrations take you underwater to a secret world His detailed lifelike depictions of sculpins and mussels algae and seaweed show the splendor that dwells in the most unexpected places So stop Observe Explore your natural world If you look closely enough you will surely find one small place that is home for many things
