One Sunday Morning A Satire In Search Of A Reasonable Christian Faith:

One Sunday Morning John Kekec, 2015-11-18 It is conventional to believe that there is a seed planted in all humankind prompting the seeking out of a deity. Therefore although religion may not be in the forefront of people's lives it is certainly somewhere in the background or around the corner in everyone's life and for this reason these pages have relevance. But to better understand the contemporary church and the Christian faith that it represents it is necessary to first look at the past, study the biblical and extra biblical evidence and be willing to venture out beyond the comfort zone of accumulated church orthodoxy to critically examine this faith. The church has been revered through the centuries and embodies the grandest hopes that our hearts cling to. The church's effigy is prestigious with bell towers chiming the reverence and organs resounding the sanctity. So ageless immutable and perpetually the church perseveres an edifice on high ground ensconced and securely sheltered behind its doctrines, creeds and saints settled snugly behind the stained glass on its pious pedestal an awe inspiring passing image revered by most through a lifetime of reverent glances. Perish the thought however that the church would function only as a church family social organization or that the extent of any church worship service would consist only of such things as an ego boosting vehicle of fashion or for uplifting spirits prepared musical and impressive individual prayer performances or a stage from which to strut a pulpit performance or other prepared production. The church pedestal however on which rests the Christian faith's higher ideals esteem and respect seems to have been markedly lowered from what it once was. We seem to be becoming a worldlier and more secular nation less bound by good morals and religious principles. This is due in part by the external societal changes but also the internal causes within the church. These pages look for some of the reasons why. One Sunday morning after going to church I finally got around to asking myself: What's wrong here? What's wrong with my Christian faith? What parts of it do I really accept with conviction? It is probably certain that we can never know the exact nature of our Christian faith but probably just as certain is the fact that we can and should know the facts better than what has been disseminated by the church and this is not acceptable. In addition and even with the best of intentions many eager evangelistic motivated church leaders use an emotional presentation while quoting scripture out of context and finding imaginary secondary meanings for it to make their point. This type of exorbitant fast and loose use of the scripture over time also lessens the credibility of the faith. Through remedial satire and dramatic monologue expression this book holds a mirror up reflecting this less acceptable image of the past and present Christian experience. It should be emphasized that reverence to God and Christ Jesus are held to be preeminent and above reproach and this remedial satirical quest is not about Christ Jesus' actual Christology. It is however about some of the church's adopted dogma practices and methods its rather sordid early historic record and the serving of its own self interests at the expense of the integrity of the authentic Christology of the Christian faith the primary reason for its existence. The book takes us in search of a more reasonable tolerant and responsible Christian faith that affords more integrity and conviction. Although not presumed as providing conclusive answers or as a critique on the Christian Church orthodoxy it is intended to provoke thought engender tolerance and a well earned sense of humility and perhaps even reason enough for re examining our faith To say that God is still working on us and that we have not quite yet reached any desired state of perfection would be a gross understatement as the drama illustrates in exaggerated fashion Light ,1906 The Advocate ,2001-08-14 The Advocate is a lesbian gay bisexual transgender LGBT monthly newsmagazine Established in 1967 it is the oldest continuing LGBT publication in the United States The Truth Seeker ,1915 The Publishers Weekly ,1920 The New-Yorker Horace Greeley, Park Benjamin,1840 The Morning Star and Free Baptist ,1909 The Freethinker ,1907 New-York Observer ,1911
