years ago Maggie Carleton's life fell apart when her father murdered her mother. And after she told the police what happened, she stopped speaking and hasn't spoken since. But he never expected the quiet new girl to reply to reveal a pain even deeper than his own or for them to form a connection so strong that he couldn't ever let her go.

Willa can't erase the bad decisions of her past that led her down the path she's on now. But she can fight for forgiveness from her family. And she can protect herself by refusing to let anyone else get close to her. High school quarterback and town golden boy Brady used to be the best of friends with Willa; she even had a crush on him when they were kids. But that's all changed now; her life choices have made her a different person from the girl he used to know. Gunner used to be friends with Willa and Brady too. He too is larger than life and a high school football star, not to mention that his family basically owns the town of Lawton. He loves his life and doesn't care about anyone except himself. But Willa is the exception, and he understands the girl she's become in a way no one else can.
