City of Thorns Ben Rawlence, 2016-01-05 Finalist for the Dayton Literary Peace Prize Named a Best of Book of the Year by The Economist and Foreign Affairs Los Angeles Times Book Prize Finalist The Dadaab refugee camp is many things to the charity workers it is a humanitarian crisis to the Kenyan government a nursery for terrorists to the Western media a dangerous no go area But to its half a million residents it is their last resort Situated hundreds of miles from any other settlement deep within the inhospitable desert of northern Kenya where only thorn bushes grow Dadaab is a city like no other Its buildings are made from mud sticks or plastic Its entire economy is grey And its citizens survive on rations and luck Over the course of four years Ben Rawlence became a firsthand witness to a strange and desperate place getting to know many of those who had come seeking sanctuary Among them are Guled a former child soldier who lives for football Nisho who scrapes an existence by pushing a wheelbarrow and dreaming of riches Tawane the indomitable youth leader and Kheyro a student whose future hangs upon her education In City of Thorns Rawlence interweaves the stories of nine individuals to show what life is like in the camp sketching the wider political forces that keep the refugees trapped Lucid vivid and illuminating City of Thorns is an urgent human story with deep international repercussions brought to life through the people who call Dabaab home

True Stories of Teen Refugees Bridey Heing, 2017-12-15 Wars political oppression and natural disasters are just a few of the reasons that people are forced to leave their homes in search of a new future This book sheds light on what it is like to be a young refugee including what day to day life looks like as a displaced teen in places like Greece Jordan Darfur and more Case studies detail the specific circumstances that lead to displacement today presenting a comprehensive relatable and empathetic look at one of the modern world's most pressing problems

Europe and the Refugee Crisis Frances Trix, 2018-11-29 Since 2014 more than 60 million people have been displaced from their homes across the Middle East and Africa The European Refugee Crisis as it has come to be known is now the largest such crisis since the aftermath of World War II How have local communities reacted to the influx of asylum seekers And what can we learn from their responses Frances Trix here offers a wide ranging ethnographical and anthropological study of local individual responses to refugees from Macedonia to Germany Based on extensive interviews and field work in Europe Trix focuses for the first time on the ways that refugees have been welcomed or not as the case may be by various individuals and communities Her work ranges from Macedonians who established an NGO and lobbied to allow the refugees to use the train to the police charged with border management from a German organic food store owner who by her actions set the positive tone in her village a retired IT manager who coordinates refugee volunteers for his entire town to the district work organisation director who deems refugees unsuitable for multiple reasons The material is measured throughout against Trix's anthropological experience as well as reference to the historical and political contexts in which events are unfolding This book is essential reading for all those working on the refugee crisis and the prospects both local and global for the future

Bioviolence William Watkin, 2021-07-18 Aylan Isis Begum Grenfell Trump Harambe Guantanamo Syria Brexit Johnson COVID migrants trolling George Floyd Trump Gazing over the fractured contested territories of the current global situation Watkin finds that all these diverse happenings have one element in common They occur when biopolitical states in trying to manage and protect the life rights of their citizens habitually end up committing acts of coercion or disregard against the very people they have promised to protect When states tasked with making us live find themselves letting us die then they are practitioners of a particular kind of force that Watkin calls bioviolence This book explores and exposes the many aspects of contemporary biopower and bioviolence neglect exclusion surveillance regulation encampment trolling fake news terrorism and war As it does so it demonstrates that the very term violence is a discursive construct an effect of language made real by our behaviours embodied by our institutions and disseminated by our technologies In short bioviolence is how the contemporary powers that be make us do what they want Resolutely interdisciplinary this book is suitable for all scholars students and general readers in the fields of IR political theory philosophy the humanities sociology and journalism

Shackled Rebecca A. Sharpless, 2024-01-16 A rare look at the brute force mechanics of deportation in the United States In December 2017 U S immigration authorities shackled and abused 92 African refugees for two days while attempting to deport them by plane to Somalia When national media broke the story government officials lied about what happened Shackled tells the story of this harrowing failed deportation the resulting class action litigation and two men s search for safety in the United States over the course of three long years Through Abdulahi s and Sa id s firsthand accounts immigration lawyer Rebecca A Sharpless brings to life the harsh consequences of the U S deportation system and how racism and anti Blackness operate within it Sharpless follows the money that ICE funnels into local jails private contractors and charter jets exposing a sprawling system of immigration enforcement that detains and abuses noncitizens at scale Woven with the wider context of Abdulahi s and Sa id s stories this immigration odyssey reveals disturbing truths about Somalia asylum and the U S court system Shackled will galvanize readers attorneys activists policymakers and scholars alike to call out and dismantle this brutal infrastructure

Public Value Adam Lindgreen, Nicole Koenig-Lewis, Martin Kitchener, John Brewer, Mark Moore, Timo Meynhardt, 2019-05-08 Over the last 10 years the concept of value has emerged in both business and public life as part of an important process of measuring benchmarking and assuring the resources we invest and the outcomes we generate from our activities In the context of public life value is an important measure on the contribution to business and social good of activities for which strict financial measures are either inappropriate or fundamentally unsound A systematic interdisciplinary examination of public value is necessary to establish an essential definition and up to date picture of the field In reflecting on the public value project this book points to how the field has broadened well beyond its original focus on public sector management has deepened in terms of the development of the analytical concepts and frameworks that linked the concepts together and has been applied increasingly in concrete circumstances by academics consultants and practitioners This book covers three main topics deepening and enriching the theory of creating public value broadening the theory and practice of creating public value to voluntary and commercial organisations and collaborative networks and the challenge and opportunity that the concept of public value poses to social science and universities Collectively it offers new ways of looking at public and social assets against a backdrop of increasing financial pressure new insights into changing social attitudes and perceptions of value and new models for increasingly complicated collaborative forms of service delivery involving public private and not for profit players The Ethics of Exile Ashwini

Vasanthakumar,2021-11-04 Exiles have long been transformative actors in their homelands they foment revolution sustain dissent and work to create renewed political institutions and identities back home Ongoing waves of migration ensure that they will continue to play these vital roles Rather than focus on what exiles mean for the countries they enter a perspective that often treats them as passive victims The Ethics of Exile recognises their political and moral agency and explores their rich and vital relationship to the communities they have left It offers a rare view of the other side of the migration story Engaging with a series of case studies this book identifies the responsibilities and rights exiles have and the important roles they play in homeland politics It argues that exile politics performs two functions it can correct defective political institutions back home and it can counter asymmetries of voice and power abroad In short exiles can act both as a linchpin and a buffer between political communities in crisis and the international actors who seek to variously aid and exploit them When we think about the duties we owe to those forced to leave their homes we should consider how to enable rather than thwart these roles African Exodus Asfa-Wossen Assefate,2018-02-15

In 2015 an unprecedented number of people from Africa and the Near East took flight and sought refuge in Europe By the end of that year some 1.8 million migrants had arrived in the EU the vast majority having come across the Mediterranean Since then despite measures to host some of the people fleeing the Syrian war in Turkey and concurrent attempts to physically seal off some borders in Eastern Europe the numbers of refugees traveling to Europe has continued to top half a million annually A mass migration on a scale not witnessed in modern times is underway and it has presented Europe with its greatest challenge of the twenty first century Asfa Wossen Assefate argues here that building higher fences or finding more effective methods of integration will only in the long term perpetuate rather than solve the problems associated with these large numbers of displaced refugees We need to realize that we are only treating the symptoms of an oncoming catastrophe and that if we are to respond to mass migration we will ultimately have to understand its causes African Exodus places its emphasis firmly on the causes of the refugee crisis which are to be found not least in Europe itself and charts ways in which we might deal with it effectively in the long term In the course of this analysis Assefate asks why our view of Africa a troubled continent but rich in so many ways is so distorted How can we combat the corrupt authoritarian regimes that stymie progress and development Why are millions fleeing to Europe How is the EU complicit in the migration crisis And finally in practical terms what can be done and what prospects does the future hold      Bioethics, Public Health, and the Social Sciences for the Medical Professions Amy E. Caruso Brown, Travis R. Hobart, Cynthia B. Morrow, 2019-07-18 This unique textbook utilizes an integrated case based approach to explore how the domains of bioethics public health and the social sciences impact individual patients and populations It provides a structured framework suitable for both educators including course directors and others engaged in curricular design and for medical and health professions students to use in classroom settings across a range of clinical areas and allied health professions and for independent study The textbook opens with an introduction describing the intersection of ethics and public health in clinical practice and the six key themes that inform the book's core learning objectives followed by a guide to using the book It then presents 22 case studies that address a broad spectrum of patient populations clinical settings and disease pathologies Each pair of cases shares a core concept in bioethics or public health from community perspectives and end of life care to medical mistakes and stigma and marginalization They engage learners in rigorous clinical and ethical reasoning by prompting readers to make choices based on available information and then providing additional information to challenge assumptions simulating clinical decision making In addition to providing a unique detailed clinical scenario each case is presented in a consistent format which includes learning objectives questions and responses for self directed learning questions and responses for group discussion references and suggested further reading All cases integrate the six themes of patient and family centered care evidence based practice structural competency biases in decision making cultural humility and awareness of the culture of medicine and justice social responsibility and advocacy The final section discusses some challenges to evaluating courses and learning encounters that adopt the cases and includes a model framework for learner assessment

Becoming a Globally Competent School Leader Ariel Tichnor-Wagner, 2020-01-02 Schools today face a crisis of relevance Issues that people everywhere face climate change disease hunger require interdisciplinary solutions Yet schools are still predominately organized by single subject courses and narrowly focused high stakes tests By contrast our students need to develop a range of academic social and emotional competencies to solve issues that transcend national borders live peacefully among neighbors in a culturally politically racially ethnically and religiously diverse society and thrive in a global knowledge based economy Youth and adults alike know this it's time for schools to catch up Global competence the set of dispositions knowledge and skills needed to live and work in a diverse global society helps educators balance social emotional and academic learning goals To that end school leaders play a critical role in designing and scaling relevant global learning experiences for both students and teachers Becoming a Globally Competent School Leader details how school leaders can implement change by aligning aspirational initiatives to existing ones generating will across school stakeholders wrangling resources and creating capacity This book offers a holistic approach to school leadership one that grounds education in the complexities of the real world and aims to prepare all students to understand engage with and influence what happens in that interconnected world

Voices of African Immigrants in Kentucky Francis Musoni, Iddah

Otieno, Angene Wilson, Jack Wilson, 2020-01-20 Following historical and theoretical overview of African immigration the heart of this book is based on oral history interviews with forty seven of the more than twenty two thousand Africa born immigrants in Kentucky From a former ambassador from Gambia a pharmacist from South Africa a restaurant owner from Guinea to a certified nursing assistant from the Democratic Republic of Congo every immigrant has a unique and complex story of their life experiences and the decisions that led them to emigrate to the United States The compelling narratives reveal why and how the immigrants came to the Bluegrass state whether it was coming voluntarily as a student or forced because of war and how they connect with and contribute to their home countries as well as to the US The immigrants describe their challenges language loneliness cultural differences credentials for employment ignorance towards Africa and racism and positive experiences such as education job opportunities and helpful people One chapter focuses on family including interviews with the second generations and how the immigrants identify themselves Migration, Displacement, and Higher Education

Brittany Murray, Matthew Brill-Carlat, Maria Höhn, 2023-02-09 This open access book is a nuanced introduction to Forced Migration Studies and a toolkit for faculty and undergraduate students with a special emphasis on community engaged learning Experts from the social sciences humanities arts and experimental sciences offer interdisciplinary perspectives to translate critical analysis into concrete action The collection highlights activists artists and educators who have initiated projects in cooperation with and for the benefit of populations affected by migration and displacement Together these contributions powerfully articulate the relevance of the liberal arts and social sciences in preparing students to meet increasingly interconnected global challenges such as forced migration climate change and Covid 19 Africa since

Decolonization Martin Welz, 2021-01-21 Home to more than 1.2 billion people living in 54 recognized states speaking around 3 000 languages Africa is a diverse and complex continent made up of states which differ in regard to their colonial history political system socio economic development economic policies and their experience with crises and conflicts This introduction and overview of African history and politics since decolonization emphasises throughout the diversity of the continent Organised thematically to include chapters on decolonization and its legacies external influences economics political systems inter African relations crises conflicts and conflict management and Africa's external relations Martin Welz strikes a fine balance between the use of contextual information analysis case studies and examples with theoretical debates in development politics and global policy Accessible to students at all levels it counters histories which offer reductive explanations of complex issues and offers new insights into the role African actors have played in influencing international affairs beyond the continent Afrika seit der Dekolonisation Martin Welz, 2020-11-18 Africa is a continent with an eventful history that currently has a population of more than 1.2 billion in 54 recognized states It is shaped by different cultures languages and religions Some of the states have gone through crises and conflicts others are rooted in tradition and ancient customs while yet others have opened up towards modern economic and socio economic trajectories Overall Africa is currently confronting a number of serious problems The continent is still facing tremendous challenges even today in creating the conditions for a peaceful community providing all citizens with access to education medicine and hygiene care and in improving housing and living conditions In twelve chapters Martin Welz presents Africa s remarkable diversity and calls into question clichés and stereotypes by focusing on African and non African protagonists and structural conditions Among other things he vividly illustrates the stages that were involved in decolonization and their effects on today s societies He describes external influences on Africa and the political characteristics and systems in the individual states The author thus opens up a broad panorama over Africa s historically based situation and provides the reader with a rapid and well founded overview of the current social and political situation on the entire continent Horst Köhler President of Germany 2004-2010 commented on the book Martin Welz s book is like a mosaic up close you can see all the details and differences ranging from geography and history to the formative personalities of the countries of Africa that were once shaped by colonial despotism But when you finish the book and step back you re able to see the major connections and structures Anyone wanting to understand the history and politics of Africa since decolonization and get to know the diversity of the continent better should read this book     The Wall Street Journal ,1997     Anthropology News ,2006     The Times Index ,2000
