Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher-Learner Partnerships Nair, Pradeep, Keppell, Michael James, Lim, Chee Leong, Mari, Tamil Salvi, Hassan, Nurhanim, 2020-12-11 Empowering learners for life requires a fundamental shift in higher education curriculum design New priorities pedagogies technologies spaces and assessment strategies are required to enable learners to take ownership of their learning Student centeredness concepts are still prescriptive in nature as most decisions on curriculum assessment teaching and learning approaches are still teacher centric Teachers are developing student centered learning environments without the involvement of the learners in the planning decision making and or design process In addition some lecturers are still practicing the traditional approaches of content delivery and conventional assessment methods rather than experimenting with innovative practices suited for student centered approaches Therefore there is an ongoing need for research focused on the importance and effectiveness of a paradigm shift in education that involves student teacher partnerships fueled by innovative teaching and learning designs where students take an active role and contribute as partners in learning Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher Learner Partnerships captures experiences and evidence among teachers in exploring the possibility of active student participation in curriculum design delivery and assessment through teacher learner partnership The chapters address issues of teacher learner partnerships in designing the learning environment and how student centered methods create resilient adaptable and future capable learners While highlighting topics within this scope such as learner autonomy learning performance self efficacy and teaching pedagogy this book is ideally intended for teachers administrators teacher educators practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students interested in issues related to the teacher learner partnership

Japanese Language and Soft Power in Asia Kayoko Hashimoto, 2017-07-26 This cutting edge collection considers how the Japanese language functions as a key element of Japanese soft power in Asia Within Japanese culture itself the promotion of language has been an area of ambivalence This interdisciplinary book looks across the fields of language policy language teaching socio linguistics cultural studies and history to identify the links between Japan s language policies and broader social economic and political processes It examines the challenges that undermine Japan s potential soft power by identifying a gap between the official Japan portrayed by the Japanese government and the cultural Japan that foreigners perceive. It also reveals historical continuity in the way Japanese language is perceived and promoted by policy makers and how the current practices of Japanese language teaching in Asian countries have been shaped within the framework of international exchange which has been a key concept in Japanese foreign policies since the 1970s. It particularly considers the concept of Cool Japan as a symbol of Japan's interpretation of its cultural power and offers a thoughtful assessment of the future of Japanese as a form of soft power in Asia as the country prepares for the 2020 Tokyo Olympics.

Conceptual Frameworks for Giftedness and Talent Development Tracy L. Cross, Paula Olszewski-Kubilius, 2021-09-03. This book explores current and enduring theories and comprehensive models of giftedness and talent development. Each chapter includes a description of the model theory or framework, shares the most important implications of each model, including underrepresentation and social justice issues, and includes discussion questions for use with students and professionals. The editors also consider common issues across conceptual frameworks such as the degree to which achievement defines giftedness, the goal of gifted education, and the role of psychosocial factors. This is a comprehensive reference for scholars and practitioners in the field as well as those studying at the graduate level.

Competence-based Vocational and Professional Education Martin Mulder, 2016-09-08. This book presents a comprehensive overview of extant literature on competence-based vocational and professional education since the introduction of the competence concept in the 1950s. To structure the field, the book distinguishes between three approaches to defining competence based on: 1) functional behaviourism, 2) integrated occupationalism, and 3) situated professionalism. It also distinguishes between two ways of operationalizing competence: 1) behaviour-oriented generic and 2) task-oriented specific competence. Lastly, it identifies three kinds of competencies related to: 1) specific activities, 2) known jobs, and 3) the unknown future. Competence for the unknown future must receive more attention as our world is rapidly evolving and there are many global challenges which call for innovation and a profound transformation of policies and practices. The book presents a range of different approaches to competence-based education and demonstrates that competence-based education is a worldwide innovation which is institutionalized in various ways. It presents the major theories and policies, specific components of educational systems such as recognition, accreditation, modelling, and assessment, and developments in discipline-oriented and transversal competence domains. The book concludes by synthesizing the different perspectives with the intention to contribute to further improving vocational and professional education policy and practice. Joao Santos, Deputy Head of Unit C5 Vocational Training and Adult Education Directorate General for Employment, Social Affairs and Inclusion, European Commission. This comprehensive work on competence-based education led by Martin Mulder provides an excellent and timely contribution to the current debate on a New Skills Agenda for Europe and the challenge of bridging the employment and education and training worlds closer together. This book will influence our work aimed at improving the relevance of vocational education to support initial and continuing vocational education and training policy and practice aimed at strengthening the key competencies for the 21st century Prof Dr Reinhold Weiss Deputy President and Head of the Research Federal Institute for Vocational Education and Training BIBB Bonn Germany This book illustrates that the idea and concept of competence is not only a buzzword in educational debates but key to innovative pedagogical thinking as well as educational practice Prof Dr Johanna Lasonen College of Education University of South Florida Tampa USA Competence based Vocational and Professional Education is one of the most important multi disciplinary book in education and training This path breaking book offers a timely rich and global perspective on the field The book is a good resource for practitioners policymakers and researchers
