On Learning, Volume 3 David Scott, 2025-02-04 This book as you can see from its title is about learning or at least about the concept and practice of learning It investigates two meta concepts knowledge and learning the relationship between the two and the way these can be framed in epistemic social political and economic terms Knowledge and learning as meta concepts are positioned in various networks of meaning principally the antecedents of the concepts their relations to other relevant concepts and the way the concepts are used in the lifeworld This book explores a number of important concepts that are relevant to the idea of learning These are meta concepts such as epistemology semantics phenomenology rationality thinking hermeneutics critical realism and pragmatism and meso concepts such as a Bildung justification mathematical concepts such as averaging probability comparison prediction and correlation a bureaucratic theory of learning social categories of learning and knowledge and the relationship between ethics and learning On Learning Volume 3 Knowledge curriculum and ethics like the first two volumes is a response to empiricist and positivist conceptions of knowledge The author challenges detheorised and reductionist ideas of learning that have filtered through to the management of our schools colleges and universities over simplified messages about learning knowledge curriculum and assessment and the denial that values are central to understanding how we live and how we should live Praise for On Learning Volume 3 With this third volume of his trilogy on learning and written with the exemplary rigour clarity and incisiveness that are now trademarks of his David Scott cements his reputation as one of the world's leading philosophers of education Those who wish to learn about learning are much in David's debt Ronald Barnett UCL This third book in Scott's series on theorising and discussing the lived experience as learning offers a comprehensive capstone to his work The book shares with the others his perceptive imaginative and informed scholarship in a well argued and original text Its contribution to the literature ought to be assured Paul Gibbs Middlesex University Like the two previous volumes in this series this book is a radical inquiry in the sense that it probes the rich depths of the innumerable ways human beings relate to a complex world This book challenges a view of learning that is cloaked in the language of behaviour and outcomes as being best reserved for animal training Tone Sævi Vid Specialized University Norway

Learning & Knowledge Robert McCormick, Carrie Paechter, 1999-03-23 This textbook is founded on the idea of learning as knowledge construction and the implications of this for the nature of knowledge and for the way it is acquired The first section examines the nature of knowledge from several perspectives The dominant theme is that views of learning closely relate to views of knowledge The second section considers what it is to be knowledgeable Expertise and types of knowledge are considered using examples from different phases of education and subject areas The final part of the book focuses on learning within domains and what this means from different subject perspectives Learning and Knowledge is a Course Reader for The Open University course E836 Learni

Enablers of Organisational Learning, Knowledge Management, and Innovation Preethi Kesavan, 2020-11-20 This book establishes constructivist interpretivist and linguistic approaches based on conventions about the nature of qualitative and text data the author's influence on text interpretation and the validity checks used to justify text interpretations Vast quantities of text and qualitative data in organizations often go unexplored Text analytics outlined in this book allow readers to understand the process of converting unstructured text data into meaningful data for analysis in order to measure employee opinions feedback and reviews through sentiment analysis to support fact based decision making The methods involve using NVivo and RapidMiner software to perform lexical analysis categorization clustering pattern recognition tagging annotation memo creation information extraction association analysis and visualization The methodological approach in the book uses innovation theory as a sensitizing concept to lay the foundation for the analysis of research data suggesting approaches for empirical exploration of organizational learning knowledge management and innovation practices amongst geographically dispersed individuals and team members Based on data obtained from a private educational organization that has offices dispersed across Asia through focus group discussions and interviews on these topics the author highlights the need for integrating organizational learning knowledge management and innovation to improve organizational performance exploring perspectives on collective relationships and networks organizational characteristics and structures and tacit and overt values which influence such innovation initiatives In the process the author puts forward a new theory which is built on three themes relationship and networks knowledge sharing mechanisms and the role of social cognitive schema that facilitate emergent learning knowledge management and innovation

Knowing Knowledge George Siemens, 2006 Why does so much of our society look as it did in the past Our schools our government our religious organizations our media while more complex have maintained their general structure and shape Classroom structure today with the exception of a computer or an LCD projector looks remarkably unchanged teacher at the front students in rows Our business processes are still built on theories and viewpoints that existed over a century ago with periodic amendments from thinkers like Drucker

Knowledge As Design David N. Perkins, 2013-11-26 First published in 1986 We all play the roles of teacher or learner many times in life in school and home on the job and even at play How can we strengthen those roles striving for deep understanding and sound thinking Knowledge As Design demonstrates the strong but neglected unity between learning and critical and creative thinking Author David Perkins discloses how the concept of design opens a doorway into a deeper exploration of any topic academic or every day Knowledge As Design challenges the concept of knowledge as information Drawing from current philosophy and cognitive science the book shows how learners can attain a new level of insight when learning highlights the constructed and constructive character of knowledge Any individual involved in formal or informal learning or teaching can benefit from the general outlook and specific principles laid out in this book It offers a uniquely intelligent philosophy and psychology of understanding and critical and creative thinking

Shedding New Lights on Organisational Learning, Knowledge and Capabilities Joaquin Alegre, Ricardo Chiva, Anabel Fernandez-Mesa, 2014-06-30 Research on organisational learning knowledge and capabilities has indeed become one of the most fruitful and interesting areas in the field of management and has not only improved our understanding of organisations but also helped them to face the new challenges of our turbulent age Are our organizations learning to face a new age What kinds of learning and knowledge are necessary to understand our age What new lights can help us to understand organisational learning and knowledge Are there shades Shedding New Lights dispels uncertainties and provides a better observation and understanding of this particular phenomenon This book includes an overview of the major topics on organisational learning knowledge and capabilities There are three parts the first

focuses on organisational learning and particularly on practice and communities of practice The second part deals with knowledge creation and transfer two main knowledge management processes that are extremely relevant for firm performance Finally the third part examines the phenomenon of ambidexterity explorative and exploitative learning and the absorptive capacity of the firm

Current Practices in Workplace and Organizational Learning Bente Elkjaer, Maja Marie Lotz, Niels Christian Mossfeldt Nickelsen, 2022-01-01 The central assumption that guides this book is that research and practice about learning at the workplace has recently lost its critical edge This book explores what has happened to workplace learning and organizational learning and studies what has replaced it In addition the book discusses to what extent there are reasons to revitalize it Today themes such as innovation co creation and knowledge sharing seem to have become preferred and referred to as theoretical fields as well as fields of practice In several chapters of this book it is argued that the critical power of learning could be regained by starting a new discussion of how these new fields of practice can be substantiated by topics such as learning arrangements learning mechanisms and learning strategies Hence the aim of this book is to both advance and recapture our knowledge of learning in today s increasingly complex world of work and organizing The contributions in this work do so by revisiting classic research on workplace and organizational learning and discussing how insights from this body of literature evokes new meaning It sets the stage for new agendas and rethinks current practices that are entangled in activities such as innovation co creation knowledge sharing or other currently widespread fields of practice

Ontology Learning and Population: Bridging the Gap Between Text and Knowledge P. Buitelaar, P. Cimiano, 2008-01-31 The promise of the Semantic Web is that future web pages will be annotated not only with bright colors and fancy fonts as they are now but with annotation extracted from large domain ontologies that specify to a computer in a way that it can exploit what information is contained on the given web page The presence of this information will allow software agents to examine pages and to make decisions about content as humans are able to do now The classic method of building an ontology is to gather a committee of experts in the domain to be modeled by the ontology and to have this committee agree on which concepts cover the domain on which terms describe which concepts on what relations exist between each concept and what the possible attributes of each concept are All ontology learning systems begin with an ontology structure which may just be an empty logical structure and a collection of texts in the domain to be modeled An ontology learning system can be seen as an interplay between three things an existing ontology a collection of texts and lexical syntactic patterns The Semantic Web will only be a reality if we can create structured unambiguous ontologies that model domain knowledge that computers can handle The creation of vast arrays of such ontologies to be used to mark up web pages for the Semantic Web can only be accomplished by computer tools that can extract and build large parts of these ontologies automatically This book provides the state of art of many automatic extraction and modeling techniques for ontology building The maturation of these techniques will lead to the creation of the Semantic Web

Analytical Goal-driven

Learning of Procedural Knowledge by Observation Negin Nejati, 2011 Knowledge based approaches to planning and control offer benefits over classical techniques in applications that involve large yet structured state spaces However knowledge bases are time consuming and costly to construct In this dissertation I introduce a framework for analytical learning that enables the agent to acquire generalizable domain specific procedural knowledge in the form of goal indexed hierarchical task networks by observing a small number of successful demonstrations of goal driven tasks I discuss how in contrast with most algorithms for learning by observation my approach can learn from unannotated input demonstrations by automatically inferring the purpose of each solution step using the background knowledge about the domain I discuss the role of hierarchical structure distributed applicability conditions and goals in the generalizability of the acquired knowledge I also introduce an approach for adaptively determining the structure of the acquired knowledge that strikes a balance between generality and operability and for making the algorithm robust to changes in the structure of background knowledge This involves resolving interdependencies among goals using temporal information I present experimental studies on a number of domains which demonstrate that the quality of acquired knowledge is comparable to handcrafted content in terms of both coverage and complexity In closing I review related work and directions for future research Knowledge
