The Freedom of a Christian Martin Luther, 2011-05-13 Martin Luther's The Freedom of a Christian stands as one of the crucial writings that fueled the 16th century reformation of the Christian church. In it, Luther argues that Christians are freed from the demands of the law to serve God and neighbor. A Christian, Luther writes, is a perfectly free lord of all, subject to none. A Christian is a perfectly dutiful servant of all, subject to all.

Prussian Conservatism 1815-1856 Laura Claudia Achtelstetter, 2021-10-31 The book examines the nexus between political and religious thought within the Prussian old conservative milieu. It presents early nineteenth century Prussian conservatism as a phenomenon connected to a specific generation of young Prussians. The book introduces the ecclesial political party of the Evangelische Kirchenzeitung (EKZ), a religious party within the Prussian state church, as the origins of Prussia's conservative party post 1848. It traces the roots of the EKZ party back to the experiences of the Napoleonic Wars (1806-15) and the social movements dominant at that time. Additionally, the book analyses this generation's increasing politicization and presents the German revolution of 1848 and the foundation of Prussia's first conservative party as the result of a decade-long struggle for a religiously motivated ideal of church, state, and society. The overall shift from church politics to state politics is key to understanding conservative policy post 1848. Consequently, this book shows how conservatives aimed to maintain Prussia's character as a Christian and monarchical state while at the same time adapting to contemporary political and social circumstances. Therefore, the book is a must-read for researchers, scholars, and students of Political Science and History interested in a better understanding of the origins and the evolution of Prussian conservatism as well as the history of political thought.
