Disappearing Acts Diana Taylor, 1997 Taylor uses performance theory to explore how public spectacle both builds and dismantles a sense of national and gender identity Here nation is understood as a product of communal imaginings that are rehearsed written and staged and spectacle is the desiring machine at work in those imaginings Taylor argue that the founding scenario of Argentineness stages the struggle for national identity as a battle between men fought on over and through the feminine body of the Motherland She shows how the military's representations of itself as the model of national authenticity established the parameters of the conflict in the 70s and 80s feminized the enemy and positioned the public limiting its ability to respond

Gender and the Boundaries of Dress in Contemporary Peru Blenda Femenías, 2010-01-01 Set in Arequipa during Peru's recent years of crisis this ethnography reveals how dress creates gendered bodies It explores why people wear clothes why people make art and why those things matter in a war torn land Blenda Femenías argues that women's clothes are key symbols of gender identity and resistance to racism Moving between metropolitan Arequipa and rural Caylloma Province the central characters are the Quechua and Spanish speaking maize farmers and alpaca herders of the Colca Valley Their identification as Indians whites and mestizos emerges through locally produced garments called bordados Because the artists who create these beautiful objects are also producers who carve an economic foothold family workshops are vital in a nation where jobs are as scarce as peace But ambiguity permeates all practices shaping bordados significance Femen as traces contemporary political and ritual applications not only Caylloma s long standing and violent ethnic conflicts to the historical importance of cloth since Inca times This is the only book about expressive culture in an Andean nation that centers on gender In this feminist contribution to ethnography based on twenty years experience with Peru including two years of intensive fieldwork Femen as reflects on the ways gender shapes relationships among subjects research and representation Mourning Diana Adrian Kear, Deborah Lynn

Steinberg, 2002-01-22 The death of Diana Princess of Wales on September 1 1997 prompted public demonstrations of grief on an almost unprecedented global scale But while global media coverage of the events following her death appeared to create an international community of mourning popular reactions in fact reflected the complexities of the princess s public image and the tensions surrounding the popular conception of royalty Mourning Diana examines the events which followed the death of Diana as a series of cultural political phenomena from the immediate aftermath as crowds gathered in public spaces and royal palaces to the state funeral in Westminster Abbey examining the performance of grief and the involvement of the global media in the creation of narratives and spectacles relating to the commemoration of her life Contributors investigate the complex iconic status of Diana as a public figure able to sustain a host of alternative identifications and trace the posthumous romanticisation of aspects of her life such as her charity activism and her relationship with Dodi al Fayed The contributors argue that the events following the death of Diana dramatised a complex set of cultural tensions in which the boundaries dividing nationhood and citizenship charity and activism private feeling and public politics were redrawn

The Language of the In-Between Erika Almenara,2022-10-04 Often the process of modern state formation is founded on the marginalization of certain groups and Latin America is no exception In The Language of the In Between Erika Almenara contends that literary production replicates this same process Looking at marginalized communities in Chile and Peru particularly writers who are travesti trans cuir queer and Indigenous the author shows how these writers stake a claim for the liminal space that is neither one thing nor the other This allows a freedom to expose oppression and to critique a national identity based on erasure By employing a language of nonnormative gender and sexuality to dispute the state projects of modernity and modernization the voice of the poor and racialized travesti evolves from powerlessness to become an agent of social transformation
