The Rise of the Human Digital Brain Beatriz Pacheco, 2018-08-01 Cover Design By Rebecca Gibson Jones It is estimated that up to sixty five percent of children entering grade school this year will end up working in careers that have yet to be created This is a result in part of the rapid advances in technology that have occurred since Apple introduced the iPhone just ten years ago This technology is not only impacting the way that we learn or the jobs that we will hold in the future but it is literally changing the way that we think As modern technologies are introduced during formative periods of brain development they are having an impact on traditionally linear patterns of thought Today's youth no longer process information in the same linear fashion as past generations This is creating confusion in educational settings that are specifically designed to meet the needs of linear thinkers Administrators educators and parents must learn to better understand these changes in order to create models that will be viable for 21st century learners We must work together to create systems that will both support and encourage children who literally think differently than those who teach them
