Volume 2 investigates the ramifications of mobile music technologies on musical sonic performance and aesthetics. Two core arguments are that mobility is not the same thing as actual movement and that artistic production cannot be absolutely sundered from the performances of quotidian life. The volume's chapters investigate the mobilization of frequency range by sirens and miniature speakers, sound vehicles such as boom cars, ice cream trucks, and trains, the gestural choreographies of soundwalk pieces, and mundane interactions with digital media: dance music practices in laptop and iPod DJing, the imagery of iPod commercials, production practices in Turkish political music and black popular music, the aesthetics of handheld video games and chiptune music, and the mobile device as a new musical instrument and resource for musical ensembles.
