Nenagh, 1914-21 Gerard Dooley, 2015 The Maynooth Studies in Local History have brought about a quiet revolution in Irish local studies and have changed the larger landscape too Working from fascinating and little known sources and mobilizing the resources of energetic and imaginative scholarship an extraordinary range of subjects has been identified illuminated and brought into focus These 100 publications not only explore little known local episodes and phenomena they constitute a major contribution to the mainstream of Irish history The Holy Well Tradition Stiofán Ó Cadhla, 2002 It is estimated that there are up to 3000 holy wells in Ireland The pattern or feast day of the local patron saint has been viewed as one of the most typical aspects of Irish culture and has served to define that culture as either primitive in a negative sense or traditional in a positive sense The pattern in honour of St Declan of Ardmore County Waterford has been one of the most widely patronized in Munster and provides an opportunity to look at patterns in general through one particularly illustrative example A History of the Black Death in Ireland Maria Kelly, 2001 Transported by rats and fleas in the trading vessels plying between Ireland England and France the plague appeared in Dublin and Drogheda in the summer of 1348 By land and sea it penetrated many regions reaching outwards to Waterford Youghal Cork and Limerick wiping out whole communities in its path Maria Kelly goes in search of the Great Pestilence and traces how the Irish reacted to this seemingly invisible killer
