Market Institutions in Sub-Saharan Africa Marcel Fafchamps, 2003-12-05 An analysis of recent data on the economic behavior of market institutions in sub Saharan Africa with implications for future research and current policy In Market Institutions in Sub Saharan Africa Marcel Fafchamps synthesizes the results of recent surveys of indigenous market institutions in twelve countries including Benin Ghana Kenya Madagascar Malawi and Zimbabwe and presents findings about economics exchange in Africa that have implications both for future research and current policy Employing empirical data as well as theoretical models that clarify the data Fafchamps takes as his unifying principle the difficulties of contract enforcement Arguing that in an unpredictable world contracts are not always likely to be respected he shows that contract agreements in sub Saharan Africa are affected by the absence of large hierarchies both corporate and governmental and as a result must depend to a greater degree than in more developed economies on social networks and personal trust Fafchamps considers policy recommendations as they apply to countries in three different stages of development countries with undeveloped market institutions like Ghana countries at an intermediate stage like Kenya and countries with developed market institutions like Zimbabwe Market Institutions in Sub Saharan Africa caps ten years of personal research by the author Fafchamps in collaboration with such institutions as the Africa Division of the World Bank and the International Food Policy Research Institute participated in the surveys of manufacturing firms and agricultural traders that provide the empirical basis for the book. Morality Policies in Europe Christoph Knill, 2017-07-05

The regulation of issues like abortion, euthanasia, gun control, same sex unions, pornography, prostitution, drugs, or gambling is commonly referred to as a special class of so-called morality policies. The distinctive feature of these policies is that politics are shaped by conflicts over first principles. When does life end? When does it begin? Is gambling, drug consumption, or prostitution inherently malignant? The regulation of these value conflicts entails decisions about right or wrong and hence the validation of a particular set of basic values. Yet there is still a remarkable lack of scholarly attention on morality policies, in particular with regard to general implications for the study of public policy. To stimulate further research in this area, this book focuses on different concepts and theories of morality policy change in European countries. It is based on a broad and comparative empirical perspective on different morality issues, including for instance the regulation of prostitution, abortion, euthanasia, gambling, drugs, as well as gun controls. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of European Public Policy.

Morality Politics in a Secular Age Eva-Maria Euchner, 2019-05-02

Euchner's carefully researched and cogently argued study of morality politics in Europe adds an outstanding piece of research to the ever-growing literature on religion and politics. Its combination of quantitative and qualitative comparative analysis involving a novel data set and cross-policy perspectives demonstrates persuasively the role of religion as a resource for political action even in secularized societies.

Michael Minkenberg, Viadrina University, Germany

Building upon the dichotomy between the secular and religious worlds of European morality politics, Dr. Euchner plumbs the empirical depths of four nations to unearth a compelling theoretical explanation for when value-laden conflicts surface in parliaments with a strong secular-religious party cleavage. This singularly important volume belongs in the institutional libraries and bibliographic collections of every serious student of public policy analysis, especially those of us who focus on morality policy.

Raymond Tatalovich, Loyola University, Chicago, USA

This book introduces a new theoretical framework from which to understand religion and morality politics in Europe. This framework provides a first and rather provocative answer to the general debate on how religion influences policy-making processes. Specifically, the book argues that religion is more a strategic resource for political parties than a fundamental normative doctrine shaping political parties' policy-making behavior in a systematic and coherent way. The framework proposes a mechanism, i.e., wedge issue competition, that can be used to identify and explain the conditions under which issues related to religious values rise and fall in parliaments of the religious world in Europe and what consequences we may expect in terms of policy reforms.

NGOs, Policy Networks and Political Opportunities in Hybrid Regimes Mohsen Mohemany, 2021-02-14

This book discusses the diversity and resilience in a hybrid regime where civil society organisations are either provided with complex sets of opportunities or face severe constraints By studying the case of Iran between 1997 and 2013 it shows how the Islamic Republic regime went into two opposite directions under two presidencies and played in between supporting and suppressing advocacy NGOs After accommodating a novel theoretical framework enabling scholars to identify the contributing factors of diversity in the regime four case study chapters are designated for comparing the women s rights and environmental NGOs across local and national governments These two political and technical policy areas demonstrate the different scopes of freedoms for advocacy NGOs The contrasting narratives of the civil activists and policymakers imply paradoxes and shifts in the arrangement of opportunities for action and advocacy although the leadership and structure of the regime remained unchanged during the period of study      Democracy Assistance

Bypassing Governments in Recipient Countries Paulina Pospieszna,2018-07-18 This book addresses important and under researched issues such as the role of young people in democratization processes the role of new democracies in sharing their transition experience and the effectiveness of aid A major theme of the book is democracy assistance efforts by the NGOs from Central and Eastern Europe to support young people in Eastern Europe the Western Balkans and Central Asia It examines this theme in a comparative perspective and with a deeper analysis of reasons and ways to support young people the need to support them and the effectiveness of these efforts Bringing together a wide range of material on democracy assistance of Central and Eastern European countries that includes surveying the providers and beneficiaries of aid and looking for better methods of impact evaluation the book advances a framework for assessing democracy assistance efforts It concludes with implications of the impact of democracy assistance on young people and democracy diffusion from Central and Eastern European democracies to other countries This text will be of key interest to scholars and students of democracy democratization Central and Eastern Europe Post Soviet studies and European and Comparative Politics as well as for practitioners donors NGOs who want to know what works best and why and when in aid provision      Governing
