Bloomsbury CPD Library: Marking and Feedback Sarah Findlater, Bloomsbury CPD Library, 2016-02-25 Marking and feedback forms a crucial part of every teachers daily routine but it is also a core focus area for CPD which is closely assessed by Ofsted This book will enable you to assess specific areas where you could improve your own practice and will also enable you to train your colleagues in this essential area too Sarah Findlater begins with an overview of the main marking and feedback approaches so that you can really get to grips with the theory behind different methods before moving on to practical ideas that you can use in the classroom In addition to these short term strategies the book contains suggested evaluation techniques and questionnaires to support long term development and progression of practice The book provides a set of ready to use training plans and is accompanied by PowerPoint slides available to download online for free It offers around 16 hours of CPD equating to a cost of just 1 45 per hour of training Bloomsbury CPD Library:

Research-Informed Practice Jennifer Ludgate, 2019-09-19 Research informed practice has an ever growing impact on teaching It involves reading widely and discussing and debating evidence from sources outside a teacher s own educational setting When done well it can greatly improve practice although it can often be complex and time consuming Bloomsbury CPD Library Research Informed Practice provides simple manageable strategies for busy classroom teachers to access and engage with research and use it to transform teaching Experienced teacher and research lead Jennifer Ludgate presents an invaluable guide to using research to inform teaching practice within a busy school term Full of top tips it s split into two sections teach yourself and train others to develop a research informed culture across the whole school This easy to follow title in the Bloomsbury CPD Library series features self evaluation tasks for reviewing your own progress and includes ready to use training plans for 20 hours of CPD With all handouts and presentation slides available as a free download from the companion website this is an essential resource for any classroom teacher or school leader who would like to improve teaching practice using research and evidence Bloomsbury CPD Library: Independent Learning John L.

Taylor, Bloomsbury CPD Library, 2018-02-08 Independent learning is an ideal which many teachers aspire to but find difficult to achieve This book provides ten training plans that enable you to easily deliver hours of CPD sessions in your school All presentations and hand outs are provided in the book and online making Bloomsbury CPD Library Independent Learning all you need to help your students think independently for a richer learning experience and to impress inspectors It is common for school inspectors to comment on the need for students to learn more independently and from higher education admissions officers and employers there is a constant call for students to be better equipped to be able to learn and think for themselves Students themselves enjoy and benefit from lessons in which they are given the opportunity to begin to take charge of the learning process particularly when there is space for them to explore and inquire into topics that grab their attention At the same time there is enormous pressure on schools to teach to the test leading many teachers to feel that they have to play safe and cannot risk giving their students genuine responsibility for their own learning lest results suffer Critics also argue that students need to be taught directly as the capacity for meaningful inquiry is not one that most students possess and even when it is present the open ended nature of the inquiry process can make learning inefficient In this book John L Taylor shows how the rhetoric about independent learning can be turned into a practical reality The book explores the foundations of effective learning and demonstrates how it is possible to implement an approach to learning which encourages students to learn to think for themselves It shows how by teaching students to think better teachers can ensure that they both succeed in jumping assessment hurdles and also enjoy a richer more meaningful educational experience Bloomsbury CPD Library: Using Technology in the Classroom José Picardo, Bloomsbury CPD Library, 2017-11-16

Designing a Continuing Professional Development CPD programme can be daunting Whether you are looking to better your own practice or coach your colleagues it can be hard to know where to start But don't worry the Bloomsbury CPD Library is here to help Divided into two unique sections Teach Yourself and Train Others this book is perfect for individual teachers middle leaders and those looking to introduce whole school CPD training programmes The provision of technology focused CPD is often based on the whizz and bang approach promoting the use of eye catching digital tools and equipment in classrooms without due consideration to pedagogical factors and crucially the individual school's context Jos Picardo's new book will consider how technology is used in schools and provide research informed strategies to help improve teaching and learning by using technology effectively It focuses on the need to train staff in the skills required to choose the right technology to have lasting impact and combines not only information about how technology can best work in the classroom but also what makes great teaching and how technology can complement this The goal of the book is to help teachers integrate technology seamlessly into daily practice so that technology is used almost reflexively effectively and without fuss It also provides guidance on how to integrate this methodology and way of thinking across your school as well as training other teachers to successfully choose and use the best technology for their subject and their students The book provides ten ready to use training plans equating to a cost of just 2.30 per CPD session
