Passing Phase J Paul Devlin:

A Passing Phase J. Paul Devlin, 2015-12-03 High school senior Nate Whitby is not gay Well not really Okay so he s only attracted to guys And he s had sex with several But he knows it s just a phase He always figured that along the road to becoming an adult he d mutate into someone who preferred Keira Knightley to Chris Hemsworth It would just happen like puberty But as adulthood approaches and his transformation has yet to begin he panics Taking desperate measures to change his sexual orientation Nate finds himself mired in surreal situations populated by among others his overbearing mom current and former best friends a dominatrix and a muumuu wearing psychic Eventually he s not sure who s trying to help and who s doing more harm than good But he s determined to find himself his true self After all where there s a will there s a way right

Pediatric Critical Care Medicine Derek S. Wheeler, Hector R. Wong, 2007 This new textbook is the definitive evidence-based resource for pediatric critical care It is the first ostensibly evidence-based pediatric critical care textbook and will prove an invaluable resource for critical care professionals across the globe Understanding Special Educational Needs and Disability in the Early Years Janice Wearmouth, Abigail Gosling, Julie Beams, Stephanie Davydaitis, 2017-09-18 This key text provides essential tools for understanding legislation, policy, provision, and practice for children in the early years, particularly young children with special educational needs and disability (SEND) Based on extensive research and the four areas of need as defined in the Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice 0 to 25 Years (DfE, 2015), the book charts the development of young children and their growing constructions of learning, communication, language, motor movement, and emotion Providing material that translates into practice in a straightforward and practical way, this text is packed full of personal accounts and case studies enabling readers to appreciate what the experience of SEND in the early years means for families and professionals and also to learn more about how they might understand and respond appropriately to a child's needs. Understanding Special Educational Needs and Disability in the Early Years will be of interest to students studying Early Years courses, families, SENDCOs, teachers and other staff supporting young children with a range of special educational needs and disabilities.

The Changing Urban School Robert Thornbury, 2012. The author takes a long look at what goes on in schools and the roles played by people specifically concerned with them but finally the problems of the school are seen as indissolubly bound up with the changes that have overtaken urban life. The school cannot be isolated; teachers, administrators, planners and parents must actively co-operate in making the school work in society and a society which works for the school. Nothing other than such a total vision, he concludes, will enable us to achieve normal educational goals. Robert Thornbury writes out of fifteen years' experience of the urban school and of the problems not only of Britain but also those sometime similar, often more acute, of other countries, in particular the United States and Australia. The need for a total urban strategy is worldwide. His point of view is broad-based but his sympathies lie most of all with the hard-working teacher who stayed on in the urban classroom. It is a book for teachers, therefore, but also by its own argument for all concerned with the future of the inner city and the reordering of education.
