aim of 1 offering an overview of the state of play regarding space policy issues and 2 expanding knowledge about possible future developments Given the cross disciplinary nature of the subject and its vast scope the authors contributions are grouped within different thematic sections as follows Theoretical structures for an understanding of space policies The history of space Society justice and the human impact Governance of space Popularisation of space New frontiers in space and expansion into the unknown World space policies by geographic areas The introduction and the conclusion chapters provide a coherent connection between the contributions with each section presenting transversal themes such as power dynamics and rules commercialisation sustainability militarisation applications and domestic use and justice This volume will be of much interest to students of space policy and power security studies and international relations Political Ecology of Tourism Mary Mostafanezhad,Roger Norum,Eric J. Shelton,Anna Thompson-Carr,2016-01-08 Why has political ecology been assigned so little attention in tourism studies despite its broad and critical interrogation of environment and politics As the first full length treatment of a political ecology of tourism the collection addresses this lacuna and calls for the further establishment of this emerging interdisciplinary subfield Drawing on recent trends in geography anthropology and environmental and tourism studies Political Ecology of Tourism Communities Power and the Environment employs a political ecology approach to the analysis of tourism through three interrelated themes Communities and Power Conservation and Control and Development and Conflict While geographically broad in scope with chapters that span Central and South America to Africa and South Southeast and East Asia to Europe and Greenland the collection illustrates how tourism related environmental challenges are shared across prodigious geographical distances while also attending to the nuanced ways they materialize in local contexts and therefore demand the historically situated place based and multi scalar approach of political ecology This collection advances our understanding of the role of political economic and environmental concerns in tourism practice It offers readers a political ecology framework from which to address tourism related issues and themes such as development identity politics environmental subjectivities environmental degradation land and resources conflict and indigenous ecologies Finally the collection is bookended by a pair of essays from two of the most distinguished scholars working in the subfield Rosaleen Duffy foreword and James Igoe afterword This collection will be valuable reading for scholars and practitioners alike who share a critical interest in the intersection of tourism politics and the environment
