The New York Times Index, 1999 The Exo-Weather Report David S. Stevenson, 2016-08-25 David Stevenson's new book links the meteorology of the Earth to that of other planets, stars and clusters of galaxies showing the similarities and differences between terrestrial weather and that of weather on other worlds. Because Earth is not unique in having weather, there is much to learn from other planets with atmospheres that show the movement of energy from hotter to colder areas. The weather seen on Earth and other known planetary systems are examined to elaborate the connection between climate and the development of life. The weather on Earth and other Solar System planets is a manifestation of the huge energy budget imparted by our star, the Sun, but weather doesn't stop at the shores of our Solar System. The author brings together the latest information from satellites and probes such as Cassini and Hubble to show its larger place in the astronomical picture. Inferences are drawn about the weather and climate of a large number of other planetary systems that lie far from our own. Additionally, the author expands our understanding of what exactly weather is comprised of by exploring the kind of weather experienced on the largest observable scales in the universe.

This Game of Ghosts Joe Simpson, 1995 When mountain climber Simon Yates cut the rope and sent his friend and climbing partner Joe Simpson plummeting to an ordeal few mountaineers can have contemplated, the outcome was totally unpredictable. That Simpson survived his experience on Peru's Siula Grande is a revelation of the power of the human spirit to overcome fear, pain and deprivation of almost unimaginable intensity. He did not expect to live it all over again more than once. The first test was to write his award-winning account of the ordeal in Touching the Void. That meant dragging the terrifying experience out of the deeper shadows of his memory. Next, another fall in the Himalaya crippled and almost broke him. He felt forced to test his nerve again and struggled on crutches to 20,000 feet on Pumori near Everest. On his descent, he heard that a young first-time climber had been killed by a chance rockfall. What sense could he make now of this game of ghosts that had claimed the lives of so many of his friends over the years he had been climbing while he had survived so many events that should have meant certain death. In an attempt to find catharsis for his confused emotions, he wrote this e extraordinary memoir revealing his early life and his fifteen years of climbing on three continents before and after the life changing experience of Siula Grande His gripping story recounts with total honesty experiences that range from hilarious to poignant to nearly unbelievable Here are the signposts that have directed him since childhood to measure fear and embrace the unknown He wonders about the luck or the choices along the way that have caused the loss of so many climbing friends Ghosts everywhere I look all I see are ghosts or perhaps I am the ghost a spectre of my past standing in the rubble of my present anxiously awaiting the future This is a compelling work of adventure and introspection that will hold both mountaineers and armchair travelers spellbound
