Moons Of Our Solar System Science Scope:

The Scientific Context for Exploration of the Moon National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on the Scientific Context for Exploration of the Moon, 2007-07-03 Because of the Moon's unique place in the evolution of rocky worlds it is a prime focus of NASA's space exploration vision. Currently NASA is defining and implementing a series of robotic orbital and landed missions to the Moon as the initial phase of this vision. To realize the benefits of this activity NASA needs a comprehensive well validated and prioritized set of scientific research objectives. To help establish those objectives NASA asked the NRC to provide guidance on the scientific challenges and opportunities enabled by sustained robotic and human exploration of the Moon during the period 2008-2023 and beyond. This final report presents a review of the current understanding of the early Earth and Moon, the identification of key science concepts and goals for Moon exploration, an assessment of implementation options, and a set of prioritized lunar science concepts, goals, and recommendations. An interim report was released in September 2006. Exploring Our Solar System United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science, Space, and Technology (2011). Subcommittee on Space, 2015

Uncovering Student Ideas in Astronomy Page Keeley, Cary Ivan Sneider, 2012 What do your students know or think they know about what causes night and day, why days are shorter in winter, and how to tell a planet from a star? Find out with this book on astronomy, the latest in NSTA's popular Uncovering Student Ideas in Science series. The 45 astronomy probes provide situations that will pique your students' interest while helping you understand how your students think about key ideas related to the universe and how it operates. The book is organized into five sections: the Nature of Planet Earth, the Sun, Earth System Modeling, the Moon, Dynamic Solar System, and Stars, Galaxies, and the Universe. As the authors note, it's not always easy to help students untangle mistaken ideas. Using this powerful set of tools to identify students' preconceptions is an excellent first step to helping your students achieve scientific understanding. Physics and Chemistry of the Solar System John S. Lewis, 2004-02-09 John S. Lewis Vision and Voyages for Planetary Science in the Decade 2013-2022 National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on the Planetary Science Decadal Survey, 2012-01-30 In recent years, planetary science has seen a tremendous growth in new knowledge. Deposits of water ice exist at the Moon's poles. Discoveries on the surface of Mars point to an early warm, wet climate and perhaps conditions under which life could have emerged. Liquid methane rain falls on Saturn's moon Titan, creating rivers, lakes, and geologic landscapes with uncanny resemblances to Earth's. Vision and Voyages for Planetary Science in the Decade 2013-2022 surveys the current state of knowledge of the solar system and recommends a suite of planetary science flagship missions for the decade 2013-2022 that could provide a steady stream of important new discoveries about the solar system. Research priorities defined in the report were selected through a rigorous review that included input from five expert panels. NASA's highest priority large mission should be the Mars Astrobiology Explorer-Cacher (MAX-C), a mission to Mars that could help determine whether the planet ever supported life and could also help answer questions about its geologic and climatic history Other projects should include a mission to Jupiter s icy moon Europa and its subsurface ocean and the Uranus Orbiter and Probe mission to investigate that planet s interior structure atmosphere and composition For medium size missions Vision and Voyages for Planetary Science in the Decade 2013 2022 recommends that NASA select two new missions to be included in its New Frontiers program which explores the solar system with frequent mid size spacecraft missions If NASA cannot stay within budget for any of these proposed flagship projects it should focus on smaller less expensive missions first Vision and Voyages for Planetary Science in the Decade 2013 2022 suggests that the National Science Foundation expand its funding for existing laboratories and establish new facilities as needed It also recommends that the program enlist the participation of international partners This report is a vital resource for government agencies supporting space science the planetary science community and the public

Observing the Moon Peter T. Wlasuk, 2013-04-17 Why write another guide to observing the Moon That was the question I was pondering as I began this project having a fine collection of classic lunar guidebooks dating back to 1791 in my own library As a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society RAS member of the American Astronomical Society's Division for Planetary Sciences AAS DPS and member of the American Geophysical Union AGU I am fortunate to know many professional lunar scientists who keep me up to date with developments in lunar science contrary to public perception lunar science has definitely not stagnated since the last Apollo No 17 left the surface of the Moon in December 1972 I am also lucky to know many amateur lunar observers who like me enjoy actually looking at the Moon with telescopes and imaging it with a wide variety of devices ranging from regular 35 mm cameras to video recorders and CCD cameras My friends who study the Moon whether in their professions or just for fun gave me several reasons for doing another lunar guidebook First the last lunar observer's guide of any length was published over ten years ago and many reviewers noted that it was badly out of date even then Popular Science Monthly and World Advance, 1926 Priorities in Space Science Enabled by Nuclear Power and Propulsion National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board, Space Studies Board, Committee on Priorities for Space Science Enabled by Nuclear Power and Propulsion, 2006-03-20 In 2003 NASA began an R D effort to develop nuclear power and propulsion systems for solar system exploration This activity renamed Project Prometheus in 2004 was initiated because of the inherent limitations in photovoltaic and chemical propulsion systems in reaching many solar system objectives To help determine appropriate missions for a nuclear power and propulsion capability NASA asked the NRC for an independent assessment of potentially highly meritorious missions that may be enabled if space nuclear systems became operational This report provides a series of space science objectives and missions that could be so enabled in the period beyond 2015 in the areas of astronomy and astrophysics solar system exploration and solar and space physics It is based on but does not reprioritize the findings of previous NRC decadal surveys in those three areas Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1980 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress It is published daily when Congress is in session The Congressional Record began publication in 1873 Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789 1824 the Register of Debates in Congress 1824 1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833 1873 Systemic Cognition and Education Ibrahim A.
