Early Islam Kecia Ali, 2010-10-30 A remarkable research accomplishment Ali leads us through three strands of early Islamic jurisprudence with careful attention to the nuances and details of the arguments Practicing Sectarianism Lara Deeb, Tsolin Nalbantian, Nadya Sbaiti, 2022-11-22 Practicing Sectarianism explores the imaginative and contradictory ways that people live sectarianism The book's essays use the concept as an animating principle within a variety of sites across Lebanon and its diasporas and over a range of historical periods With contributions from historians and anthropologists this volume reveals the many ways sectarianism is used to exhibit, imagine or contest power What forms of affective pull does it have on people and communities What epistemological work does it do as a concept How does it function as a marker of social difference Examining social interaction each essay analyzes how people experience sectarianism sometimes pushing back sometimes evading it sometimes deploying it strategically to a variety of effects and consequences The collection advances an understanding of sectarianism simultaneously constructed and experienced a slippery and changeable concept with material effects And even as the book's focus is Lebanon its analysis fractures the association of sectarianism with the nation state and suggests possibilities that can travel to other sites Practicing Sectarianism taken as a whole argues that sectarianism can only be fully understood and dismantled if we first take it seriously as a practice Historical Archives and the Historians' Commission to Investigate the Armenian Events of 1915 Yücel Güçlü, 2015-08-07 Historical Archives and the Historians Commission to Investigate the Armenian Events of 1915 demonstrates the vital importance of Ottoman and other relevant archives in Turkey for the study of the Armenian question Historians assisted by newly discovered or recently published materials must continually reassess events of the past in order to achieve a rounder view The Armenian events of 1915 are certainly no exception This study encourages further engagement between the policy making and the scholarly communities by indicating the continued importance of past records and documents for today's pressing debates In order to give a fuller picture this survey also looks at some major relevant archival sources outside Turkey including the state of archives of the First Republic of Armenia and those of the Dashnak Party Yücel Güçlü's inquiry sheds light on some of the British records relating to the First World War and its immediate aftermath locked at the National Archives in Kew London and he examines the special relevance of repositories in Moscow and St Petersburg in understanding the Turkish-Armenian conflict Güçlü assesses Turkey's proposal to establish an international historians commission to investigate the Armenian events of 1915 and reviews in depth the meanings and implications of the protocols of cooperation signed between Turkey and Armenia on 10 October 2009 By turning a modern eye on historical events this study gives great and necessary attention to discovering the precise chronology, meaning and development of the continuing negotiations between Turkey and Armenia The Ottoman Empire, 1300-1650 Colin Imber, 2019-01-05 This highly praised and authoritative account surveys the history of the Ottoman Empire from its obscure origins in the 14th century through its rise to world power status in the 16th century to the troubled times of the 17th century Going beyond a simple narrative of Ottoman achievements and key events Colin Imber

Recasting Islamic Law Rachel M. Scott, 2021-03-15 By examining the intersection of Islamic law state law religion and culture in the Egyptian nation building process Recasting Islamic Law highlights how the sharia when attached to constitutional commitments is reshaped into modern Islamic state law Rachel M Scott analyzes the complex effects of constitutional commitments to the sharia in the wake of the Egyptian Revolution of 2011 She argues that the sharia is not dismantled by the modern state when it is applied as modern Islamic state law but rather recast in its service In showing the particular forms that the sharia takes when it is applied as modern Islamic state law Scott pushes back against assumptions that introductions of the sharia into modern state law result in either the revival of medieval Islam or in its complete transformation Scott engages with premodern law and with the Ottoman legal legacy on topics concerning Egypt s Coptic community women s rights personal status law and the relationship between religious scholars and the Supreme Constitutional Court Recasting Islamic Law considers modern Islamic state law s discontinuities and its continuities with

Selim III, Social Control and Policing in Istanbul at the End of the Eighteenth Century Betül Başaran, 2014-07-10 In Selim III Social Order and Policing in Istanbul at the End of the Eighteenth Century Betül Başaran examines Sultan Selim III's social control and surveillance measures Drawing mainly from a set of inspection registers and censuses from the 1790s as well as court records she paints a colorful picture of the city's residents and artisans She argues that the period constitutes the beginnings of large scale population control and crisis management and urges us to think about the Ottoman Empire as a polity that was increasingly becoming a statistical state along with its contemporaries in Europe and to go beyond mechanistic models of borrowing that focus primarily on military reform and

European influence in our discussions of Ottoman reform and modernity Islamic Law, Gender and Social Change in Post-Abolition Zanzibar Elke E. Stockreiter, 2015-03-02 After the abolition of slavery in 1897 Islamic courts in Zanzibar East Africa became central institutions where former slaves negotiated socioeconomic participation By using difficult to read Islamic court records in Arabic Elke E Stockreiter reassesses the workings of these courts as well as gender and social relations in Zanzibar Town during British colonial rule 1890 1963 She shows how Muslim judges maintained their autonomy within the sphere of family law and describes how they helped advance the rights of women ex slaves and other marginalised groups As was common in other parts of the Muslim world women usually had to buy their divorce Thus Muslim judges played important roles as litigants negotiated moving up the social hierarchy with ethnicisation increasingly influencing all actors Drawing on these previously unexplored sources this study investigates how Muslim judges both mediated and generated discourses of inclusion and exclusion based on social status rather than gender Producing Desire Dror Ze'evi, 2006-10-16 This highly original book brings into focus the sexual discourses manifest in a wealth of little studied source material medical texts legal documents religious literature dream interpretation manuals shadow theater and travelogues in a nuanced wide ranging and powerfully analytic exploration of Ottoman sexual thought and practices from the heyday of the Ottoman Empire in the sixteenth century to the beginning of the twentieth Following on the work of Foucault Gagnon Laqueur and others the premise of the book is that people shape their ideas of what is permissible define boundaries of right and wrong and imagine their sexual worlds through the set of discourses available to them Dror Ze'evi finds that while some of these discourses were restrictive and others more permissive all treated sex in its many manifestations as a natural human pursuit And he further argues that all these discourses were transformed and finally silenced in the last century leaving very little to inform Middle Eastern societies in sexual matters With its innovative approach toward the history of sexuality in the Middle East Producing Desire sheds new light on the history of the Ottoman Empire on the history of sexuality and gender and on the Islamic Middle East today
