More News From Lake Wobegon Love:

Cheering for Self James S. Vass Jr., James Vass Jr., 2003-05-13 This book is a study of UW men's basketball fans during the 2001-2002 season and explores their proclivity to cheering for self during basketball events. The term basketball event is used rather than basketball game to make clear that everything connected to and seen, heard or experienced before, during and after a basketball game is included. The actual game itself is only part of the basketball event. An undercurrent runs throughout this participant observation mini-ethnography dealing with access and the relative quality of that access to basketball events being affected by one's age, class, race and gender. The prominent role of advertising in shaping basketball events and helping to construct fans as consumers of products both commercial and institutional during the process of cheering for self is central to this idea. Cheering for self is the activity engaged in by individual fans after they find things to identify or connect with through personal investment. Fans cheer for self indirectly. Fans cheer for the team that they identify with. Through the process of cheering for self while attending the basketball event, people are taught how to become fans, to consume a UW product, the basketball event and to consume advertisers' products. People have a tendency to spend their entire life trying to impress others. Words on Cassette, 2002 R.R. Bowker Publishing, 2002 Sequels Janet G. Husband, Jonathan F. Take the cast of Bridesmaids, add a dash of pre-pubescent Eugene Levy and you have the humor stylings of Una LaMarche. Ann Imig, founder of Listen to Your Mother. As a girl, Una LaMarche was as smart as she was awkward. She was blessed with a precocious intellect, a love of all things pop culture and eyebrows bushier than Frida Kahlo's. Adversity made her stronger and funnier. In Unabrow, Una shares the cringe-inducing lessons she's learned from a life as a late bloomer, including the seven deadly sins of DIY bangs, how not to make your own jorts and how to handle pregnancy, plucking and the rites of passage during which your own body is your worst enemy. For readers who loved Let's Pretend This Never Happened and for fans of Mindy Kaling, Tina Fey and Amy Schumer, Unabrow is the book June Cleaver would have written if she spent more time drinking and less time vacuuming. Words on Cassette, 1999 Bowker Editorial Staff, Staff Bowker R.R., Bowker, 1999-02 Unleashing the Potential of the Smaller Church Shawn McMullen, 2006 Drawing from the experiences of ministers in smaller churches from coast to coast, leaders and members alike will find motivation and resources for vision casting and strategic planning in the ministry setting of the smaller church and community.
