Surface and Deep Histories Anuradha Chatterjee, 2014-06-26 Surface in architecture has had a deeper and a more pervasive presence in the practice and theory of the discipline than is commonly supposed Orientations to the surface emerge collapse and reappear sustaining it as a legitimate theoretical and artefactual entity despite the twentieth century disciplinary definition of architecture as space structure and function Even though surface is defended for its pervasiveness Kurt Forster its function as a theoretical motif with generative power Andrew Benjamin and in constituting the operative principles of modern architecture as a visual phenomenon Mark Wigley it occupies the interstice or the space of the unconscious within architectural discourse from where it defends its legitimacy as architecturally valuable or functional as opposed to merely visually pleasurable Surface and Deep Histories positions surface within the scholarship of critical theory and design based approaches and invites academics and designers and art and architectural historians based in Australia to consider the uses figurations scales and typologies of surfaces The collection choreographs contributions that focus on a variety of topics such as montage and construction of colonial modernity and visual culture Molly Duggins wallpaper rational space and femininity Anna Daly the inter constituted nature of bodies clothes and cities Stella North the reconstruction of the urban surface through a true integration of information and topology M Hank Haeusler James Fergusson's theory of ornament Peter Kohane traditional and new verandahs in Australia Chris Brisbin contradictory effects of surface in Green architecture debates Flavia Marcello and Ian Woodcock and the thickness of thin curtain walls in contemporary Australian architecture Anuradha Chatterjee Surface and Deep Histories shows that surface is not thin spatially or conceptually It demonstrates that the practice of surface is simultaneously superficial and pervasive symbol and space meaningful and functional static and transitory and object and envelope

In the Studio Brian R. Jacobson, 2020-07-21 Studios are at once material environments and symbolic forms sites of artistic creation and physical labor and nodes in networks of resource circulation They are architectural places that generate virtual spaces worlds built to build worlds Yet despite being icons of corporate identity studios have faded into the background of critical discourse and into the margins of film and media history In response In the Studio demonstrates that when we foreground these worlds we gain new insights into moving image culture and the dynamics that quietly mark the worlds on our screens Spanning the twentieth century and moving globally this unique collection tells new stories about studio icons Pinewood Cinecitt Churubusco and CBS as well as about the experimental workplaces of filmmakers and artists from Aleksandr Medvedkin to Charles and Ray Eames and Hollis Frampton

Machines for Living

Victoria Rosner,2020-02-04 Changes in the routines of domestic life were among the most striking social phenomena of the period between the two World Wars when the home came into focus as a problem to be solved re imagined streamlined electrified and generally cleaned up Modernist writers understood themselves to be living in an epochal moment when the design and meaning of home life were reconceived Moving among literature architecture design science and technology Machines for Living shows how the modernization of the home led to profound changes in domestic life and relied on a set of emergent concepts including standardization scientific method functionalism efficiency science and others that form the basis of literary modernism and stand at the confluence of modernism and modernity Even as modernist writers criticized the expanding reach of modernization into the home they drew on its conceptual vocabulary to develop both the thematic and formal commitments of literary modernism Rosner s work develops a new methodology for interdisciplinary modernist studies and shows how the reinvention of domestic life is central to modernist literature

Fashion Aesthetics and Ethics Louise Wallenberg,Andrea Kollnitz,2023-05-04 How are aesthetics and ethics related to the practical realities of the global fashion industry Both have played an important role in academic fashion studies to this point but they are most often discussed in the context of abstract phenomena such as modernity and capitalism or identity issues such as sexuality class and gender The essays in this volume strive instead to show how the realities of the global fashion industry have important and pertinent aesthetic and ethical consequences This collection provides critical and philosophical analysis of the interplay of aesthetics and ethics within the global fashion industry Characterized by an increasingly fast spinning production the industry is highly exploitative in terms of environment and labor force underpaid textile workers retailers working under brutal competition from the mass merchandise discounters young designers seamstresses and curators often working for free and a vast body of aspiring models In addition fashion related aesthetic ideals are becoming more influential than ever in directing consumers in their social and personal identification processes and bodily practices with sometimes fatal consequences Covering a wide range of subjects such as fashion s highly problematic production and consumption practices the possibility of producing and consuming fashion ethically fashion s intimate connection with nature and technology Fashion Aesthetics and Ethics highlights the powerful aesthetical presence of fashion in relation to its ethical premises and often problematic outcomes Probiotic Cities Richard Beckett, 2023-10-20 Probiotic Cities covers a body of work that is at the forefront of emerging knowledge within architecture towards designing informed indoor and built environment microbiomes Sited within the broader field of Bio Design the book presents highly experimental design research at the intersection of architecture engineering and microbiology The book describes work which explores novel strategies towards directly re introducing beneficial microbes into buildings and cities Through discussion of both the work and the processes and methodologies used it provides a framework to enable designers and practitioners to begin to engage with contemporary human microbe relationships towards the design of healthy and resilient cities The book defines a new microbial paradigm for architecture that engages with broader emerging ecological or more than human philosophies for design within the age of the Anthropocene The House Dress Elda Danese, 2008 The story of the house dress from private garment to means of seduction showing the work of designers such as Emilio Pucci and Diane von Furstenberg White Walls, Designer Dresses Mark Wigley, 1995 This work attempts to provide a new understanding of the historical avant garde by analyzing the clothing of modern architecture The author examines the relationships between architectural surfaces and clothing fashions and colour Pneumatic E.Space Veronica De La Rosa, 2008 Century of the Child Juliet Kinchin, Aidan O'Connor, 2012 The book examines individual and collective visions for the material world of children from utopian dreams for the citizens of the future to the dark realities of political conflict and exploitation Surveying more than 100 years of toys clothing playgrounds schools children s hospitals nurseries furniture posters animation and books this richly illustrated catalogue illuminates how progressive design has enhanced the physical intellectual and emotional development of children and conversely how models of children s play have informed experimental aesthetics and imaginative design thinking Utiliser la couleur dans un projet d'architecture Juan Serra Lluch, 2020-10-07

Le dialogue entre la couleur et l'architecture est déterminé par le concepteur qui définit ainsi les fonctions de la couleur dans un projet : mettre en valeur un espace, limiter des zones, accentuer le dialogue d'un bâtiment avec le paysage urbain, modifier la perception des volumes, des dimensions, etc. Ce livre fournit les bases théoriques et les outils pratiques nécessaires à une utilisation raisonnée de la couleur en architecture : de la perception de la couleur, son intégration lors de la conception d'un projet. Ainsi, il aborde l'harmonie et les critères d'association des couleurs, introduisant une véritable grammaire de la couleur. Il explique ensuite qu'une couleur intégrée à un bâtiment peut être un élément fonctionnel de construction ou esthétique. Enfin, il indique comment optimiser la gestion des couleurs dans un projet afin que leur rendu réel et dans l'espace soit proche voire similaire de la première esquisse au projet final. De nombreux bâtiments emblématiques comme le Centre Georges Pompidou de Paris ou le marché Santa Catarina de Barcelone sont pris en exemple, et des activités effectuées parfois à l'aide de logiciels de graphisme permettent d'appliquer les notions acquises des situations concrètes.
