Pediatric Trauma Pediatric Trauma:

Pediatric Trauma Care II AHC Media, LLC, 2014-03-17 Pediatric trauma continues to have a significant impact on the health and well being of children in the United States Trauma continues to be the leading cause of death in children 1 to 18 years of age and accounted for more than 14 000 deaths among all children 0 to 18 years of age In 2008 there were more than 8 6 million nonfatal injuries among newborn to 18 year olds with an injury rate of greater than 1 in 10 There is little debate that a coordinated effort and pediatric specific advances in pediatric trauma systems prehospital care and hospital care and injury prevention can have a positive impact on pediatric trauma outcomes in the United States However there are still gaps in access to centers that deliver pediatric focused trauma care especially in rural areas Furthermore there are differing views between different centers regarding the optimal approach to the initial evaluation and management of the pediatric trauma patient This book is targeted to review critical aspects of the care of the pediatric trauma patient highlighting the most common and critical injuries encountered in the acute care setting

Pediatric Trauma Care Alfred P. Kennedy Jr, Romeo C. Ignacio, Robert Ricca, 2023-01-01 This book meets the need for a detailed resource that focuses on the unique challenges encountered in pediatric trauma and its clinical management. Short practically oriented chapters describe how to successfully treat a range of injuries across a variety of anatomical areas. Emphasis is placed on accounting for the injury mechanism providing recommendations on rapid assessment initial stabilization and management strategies. Pediatric Trauma Care: A Practical Guide comprehensively covers how to approach treating pediatric trauma patients suffering with a variety of injuries. Therefore it is an ideal resource for all medical professionals who encounter these patients in their day to day practice.

Diagnostic Imaging in Pediatric Trauma J.L. Gwinn, P. Stanley, 2012-12-06 Trauma to various organ systems is a common medical problem in the pediatric age group. With the increase in vehicular traffic and active participation in contact sports as well as a change in the social atmosphere the incidence of injury to children is increasing. There is considerable morbidity associated with these injuries and accidents are the most common cause of death in this population group. The radiologist using the various diagnostic radiological modalities available becomes involved in practically all cases of trauma of any degree of seriousness. The radiological methods lend themselves not only to determining the specific diagnosis but also to assessing the extent of the injury. This is important in determining of the patient as in recent years a more conservative type of therapy is advocated in several types of injury. As has been said Children are not like adults hence injuries are of different types from those seen in adults. The ligaments and tendons of children are stronger than the bone structure thus sprains and strains are not as common as fractures. Certain organs are in a less protected position in a child and may readily be injured from relatively minor trauma. Injury due to violent action of others such as gunshot and stab wounds are not as common as in the adult population but they are increasing in the teenage group. Blunt trauma or that due to rapid deceleration is the usual type of trauma seen in childhood.
