Penelope A Novel Of New Amsterdam:

Penelope Jim McFarlane, 2012-03-01 Penelope an exciting tale of adventure plus mystery plus romance in colonial America was inspired by a true story In 1640s Amsterdam the richest city in Europe near penniless Penelope Kent dreams of voyaging to America to search for her merchant father who disappeared on a secretive get rich quick scheme To voyage requires a husband or guardian Matthew her betrothed dreams of finding a new home in America for his congregation of English Separatists like the Pilgrims did a generation ago But the elders of Matthew s congregation accuse Penelope of immoral behavior that threatens to expel Penelope from the congregation from Matthew s life and from her dream She can t wait to escape Amsterdam but never imagines the dangers that await her in the New World The New Worlds of Isabela Calderón Judith K. White, 2014-05 After surviving a shipwreck and finding her way to Golden Age Amsterdam beautiful and clever but naive Isabela Calder n returns to her 17th century Spanish village at age seventeen to fulfill the destiny her deceased father set in motion at her birth When she finds her beloved childhood home altered and life with her husband unbearable Isabela seeks solace from a healer cook a mysterious erudite tailor of unknown origin and her husband s long term mistress who hides a threatening secret Isolated and distraught when illness and the Inquisition destroy these precious friendships she again sets sail this time with her two children to the New World towns of San Agustín and New Amsterdam While serving as a language interpreter in a dingy jail cell she reconnects with the engaging and attentive Dutch artist Pieter Hals with whom she spent a memorable evening a decade earlier At the time she was suddenly wrenched away from the Amsterdam orphans in her care Pieter had begun painting her portrait Now when the possibility of a renewed and joyful relationship looms while the unfinished youthful portrait beckons from its attic perch across the sea in Amsterdam obstacles and self doubt continue to block Isabela s path to self fulfillment and happiness Life Writing and the End of Empire Emma Parker, 2024-03-21 The dismantlement of the British Empire had a profound impact on many celebrated white Anglophone writers of the twentieth century particularly those who were raised in former British colonial territories and returned to the metropole after the Second World War Formal decolonisation meant that these authors were unable to go home to their colonial childhoods a historical juncture with profound consequences for how they wrote and recorded their own lives Moving beyond previous discussions of imperial and colonial nostalgia Life Writing and the End of Empire is the first critical study of white memoirists and autobiographers who rewrote their memories of empire across numerous life narratives By focussing on these processual homecomings Emma Parker s study asks what it means to be at home in memories of empire whether in the settler farms of Southern Rhodesia or amidst the neon lights of Shanghai s International Settlement These discussions trace the legacies of empire to the habitations and detritus of everyday life from mansions and modest railway huts to empty swimming pools heirlooms and photograph albums Exploring works by Penelope Lively J G Ballard Doris Lessing and Janet Frame this study establishes new connections between authors usually discussed for their fiction and who have been hitherto unrecognised as post imperial life writers Offering close sustained analysis of autobiographies memoirs travel narratives and autofictions and identifying new subgenres such as speculative life writing this book advances rich new readings of autobiographical narrative By tracing the continuing importance of colonialism to white subjectivity the role of imperial memory in Britain and the ways that these unsettling forces move beneath the surface of modern and contemporary literature this study offers new conceptual insights to the fields of life writing and postcolonial studies Canadian Bookseller and Library Journal ,1898 The Female Narrator in the British Novel L.

Sternlieb,2015-12-25 The Female Narrator in the British Novel studies first person narratives and demonstrates that how a woman tells her story is crucial to our understanding of its content for a novel s mode of narration frequently undermines its ostensible plot Analyzing relationships between the sexes in terms of battles for narrative authority Sternlieb argues for a rethinking of the history of the marriage plot List of Books for Girls and Women and Their Clubs Mrs. Augusta Harriet (Garrigue) Leypoldt,George Iles,1895 The Literary World ,1901 The Book Buyer ,1903 A review and record of current literature The Christian Advocate ,1902 The New York Times Book Review ,1994-10 Presents extended reviews of noteworthy books short reviews essays and articles on topics and trends in publishing literature culture and the arts Includes lists of best sellers hardcover and paperback Literary World ,1900 Current Literature ,1901

Neo-Georgian Fiction Jakub Lipski,Joanna Maciulewicz,2021-06-07 This book contributes to the development of contemporary historical fiction studies by analysing neo Georgian fiction which unlike neo Victorian fiction has so far received little critical attention The essays included in this collection study the ways in which the selected twentieth and twenty first century novels recreate the Georgian period in order to view its ideologies through the lens of such modern critical theories as performativity post colonialism feminism or visual theories They also demonstrate the rich repertoire of subgenres of neo Georgian fiction ranging from biographical fiction epistolary novels to magical realism The included studies of the diverse novelistic conventions used to re contextualise the Georgian reality reflect the way we see its relevance and relation to the present and trace the indebtedness of the new forms of the contemporary novel to the traditional novelistic genres The Nation ,1897 Who's who in Music and Drama Dixie Hines,Harry Prescott Hanaford,1914 An encyclopedia of biography of notable men and women in music and the drama The Dial Francis Fisher Browne,1902

Irish University Review ,2007 A journal of Irish studies The Publishers Weekly ,1902 The United States Catalog ,1900 Modernist Exoskeleton Rachel Murray,2020-03-02 Argues for the importance of insects to modernism s formal innovationsUses the idea of the insect as a key to modernist writers engagement with questions of politics psychology life and literary formProvides in depth analysis of lesser known modernist narratives such as H D s Asphodel and Lewis s Snooty Baronet as well as new readings of canonical texts including D H Lawrence s Lady Chatterley s Lover and Samuel Beckett s TrilogyExplores the influence of popular scientific writing on modernist aestheticsReveals the attentiveness of modernist writers to nonhuman life thus forging new lines of connection between modernism and literary animal studies. Focusing on the writing of Wyndham Lewis, D. H. Lawrence, H. D., and Samuel Beckett, this book uncovers a shared fascination with the aesthetic possibilities of the insect body: its adaptive powers, distinct stages of growth, and swarming formations. Through a series of close readings, it proposes that the figure of the exoskeleton, which functions both as a protective outer layer and as a site of encounter, can enhance our understanding of modernism's engagement with nonhuman life as well as its questioning of the boundaries of the human.
